SONE CANALS—STEAM TRANSPORT SERVICE.

TENDERS are invited from persons wishing to work the Steam Transport Service at present maintained on the Sone Canals. Three steamers belonging to Government, the Umpire, the Buxar, and the Dinas, are available for hire. The person whose tender is accepted will be required to maintain a bi-weekly service on the Arrah and Buxar Canals, and a weekly service on the Patna Canal. Compounded tollage, amounting to Rs. 500 per month, will be charged. Remission of tollage only will be granted in the event of the canals being closed. A spare steamer, the Koel, can generally be made available in the event of any of the steamers mentioned above breaking down. Tenders should state the sum which is offered for the hire of the three steamers mentioned above separately, or together.

A bond, similar in its general conditions to that at present in use (printed copies of which may be procured from the Assistant Engineer, Dehree on the Sone), must be signed by the person whose tender is accepted. The bond will be modified in accordance with this notice, and it will be expressly stipulated that repairs found necessary to the steamers at the expiration of the agreement shall be carried out in the Government workshops at the expense of the person whose tender is accepted Security, not exceeding rupees one thousand, may be required by the Chief Engineer. The agreement to be for three years, commencing from the 1st July 1886, but Government is to have the power of terminating it at any time on giving three months' notice, or at 15 days' notice, under the circumstances mentioned in clause 9 of the present agreement, and the person whose tender is accepted of doing so at any time after the 1st July 1887 on giving three months' notice.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Offers for the purchase of the steamers are invited. If an offer to purchase is accepted, the foregoing rate of tollage only will be payable up to the 1st of July 1889.

Tenders should be addressed to the Assistant Engineer, Dehree Workshops, Dehree on the Sone, and be despatched so as to reach that officer by the 1st of April at the latest. Any information regarding the steamers may be obtained from the Assistant Engineer, who will give the necessary facilities for their inspection to persons desirous of examining them.

4. Of the works enumerated in paragraph 1, the following are specially noted:—

Public Buildings.—Under this head a sum of Rs. 42,817 was contributed. Of this amount, the Maharanee Surnomoyee of Cossim Bazar, M.I O.C.I., gave Rs. 3,255 for a two-storied house and ghât at Thedintalla in the Moorshedabad district, Mr. H. Dear gave Rs. 35,000 for a hospital at Monghyr, Baboo Gobind Nath Shaha Chowdree of Parhsadanga gave Rs. 2,800 for a girls' school at Pubna, and Sham Guzi Bhuya gave Rs. 1,012 for a masonry mosque in the village of Sharabati in the Tipperah district.

Roads.—The total of Rs. 8,968 under this head is made up mostly of small amounts. The largest contribution (Rs. 4,889) was given by His Highness the Maharajah of Cooch Behar for a road from Sonahar to Mulkadaha in Chukla Boda.

Bridges.—Rupees 5,259 were contributed for these works, of which Baboo Madhab Chundra Shaha gave Rs. 3,000 for a masonry bridge over the Dhopa bheel in thana Thakurgaon.

Embankments or Bunds.—Of Rs. 4,467 contributed, Rs. 1,000 were given by the Court of Wards' estate Punasi for a new bund at Niludi in the Sonthal Pergunnahs.

Tanks.—Under this head the large sum of Rs. 3,22,221 was contributed. The following contributions are specially mentioned:—The Maharanee Surnomoyee of Cossim Bazar, Rs. 5,125; Rajah Issur Prosad Gorga, zemindar of Moisadal, Rs. 2,200; Hazi Alemuddin Abas, Rs. 5,000; Tara Soonder Debya and others, Rs. 5,000; Shama Podo Bannerjee and others, Rs. 5,000; Baboo Naba Kumar Mookerjee, Rs. 3,800; Baboo Bhikoo Dass, Rs. 3,000; Baboo Lakhi Kant Shaha, Rs. 2,500; Baboo Protap Chunder Banerjee, Rs. 11,000; Baboo Sant Pershad Narain, Rs. 4,000; Mussamut Soonder Kooer, Rs. 3,000; Baboo Asalik Dass, Rs. 5,200; His Highness the Maharajah Kissen Protab Shaha of Hutwa, Rs. 5,000; Baboo Chunderman Misser, Rs. 3,000; Baboo Jadu Nundan, Rs. 5,000; and Baboo Rash Behary Lall Singh, Rs. 2,570.

Wells.—Rupees 29,604 were spent in constructing wells. Rupees 2,350 were contributed in the district of Patna for eight wells; Rs. 5,201 in the district of Shahabad for 18 wells; Rs. 2,200 in the district of Mozufferpore for three wells; Rs. 1,300 in the district of Durbhunga for four wells; Rs. 1,450 in the district of Sarun for 11 wells, and Rs. 10,853 in the district of Monghyr for 39 wells. The other wells for which contributions were given during the year are distributed among the districts of Mymensingh, Gya, Chumparun, Bhagulpore, Purneah, Sonthal Pergunnahs, Hazaribagh, Lohardugga, and Singbhoom.

Canals.—Only one canal, three miles in length, from Kuthwa to Bunhara, in the Monghyr district, was constructed during the year. The work cost Rs. 8,000, which sum was given by His Highness the Maharajah of Durbhunga.

RESOLUTION.—There has been considerable delay in the publication of the returns for the year under review, caused partly by the very large increase in the number and amount of voluntary contributions made by native gentlemen for works of public utility, and partly by the necessity of having to send back some of the lists to Divisional Commissioners for an accurate revision of the description of works and the names of the donors. The Lieutenant-Governor notices the increase referred to with great satisfaction, and has much pleasure in acknowledging the public spirit and liberality of the numerous donors who have provided the funds required for the execution of works designed for the public benefit.

Letters of acknowledgment will be forwarded by Government to those who have constructed important works. The gentlemen who have contributed Rs. 500 and under will, as usual, receive an acknowledgment from the Commissioner or the Magistrate of the Division.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the statement be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, and to all Commissioners of Divisions; to the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore, and to all Superintending Engineers of Public Works Circles in Bengal for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution and of the statement be forwarded to the Revenue and Judicial Departments of this Government for information.

Ordered also that this Resolution and the statement be published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

S. T. TREVOR, Col., R.E.,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

CHANGE IN THE CURRICULUM OF THE ROYAL AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CIRENCESTER.

THE following letters are published for general information.

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 25th February 1886.

No. 109 (Revenue), dated India Office, London, the 24th December 1885.

From—Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India,
To—The Government of India.

THE letter of Your Excellency in Council, No. 11 of the 4th July 1885 (Revenue and Agriculture), on the subject of omitting or rendering optional certain subjects comprised in the agricultural course at Cirencester College, has been referred to the Principal for his consideration.

2. I now forward a copy of Mr. McClellan's reply,* by which it appears that he has endeavoured, and I hope successfully, to meet the wishes of your Government in this matter, by omitting from the list of obligatory subjects for all students alike, Agricultural Law, Building Materials and Construction, and General Estate Management; and by making Drawing an optional subject with Indian Government scholars and civilians, extra courses in Veterinary Science being substituted for it.

* 14th October 1885.

No. 1, dated Cirencester, the 14th October 1885.

From—JOHN B. MCCLELLAN, ESQ., M.A., Principal, Cirencester Agricultural College,
To—The Under-Secretary of State for India.

IN accordance with your request, the despatch on the subject of omitting or rendering optional certain subjects comprised in the agricultural course at Cirencester College, dated 4th July 1885, has received my careful consideration.

Since the communication of mine of 19th November 1884, to which the despatch is a reply, after a further examination of the cases of the civilians and Native students, and of the necessity of maintaining the same diploma standard for all students of the College, I decided upon the entire omission from the obligatory curriculum, for all students, of three out of the four subjects under discussion, viz., not only (a) Agricultural Law, and (b) Building Materials and Construction, but now also (c) General Estate Management.

You will observe, therefore, that all these, in conformity with the opinions of the Local and Central Governments, are no longer compulsory. They will continue to be taught as heretofore to any students who desire them, but they no longer form part of the course for the diploma, and accordingly no subjects are substituted for them.

As to the fourth subject, viz. Drawing, I do not consider it advisable to omit it in the case of all students, and the Bengal Government (18th May 1885 to the Government of India) desires its compulsory retention. But in order still further to meet the wishes of the Indian Government, I have made it an optional subject in the case of civilians and the Native Indian (Government) scholars, with the necessary alternative, however, of the substitution of extra courses, thus maintaining an equality of standard throughout with the rest of the students, without too violent a dislocation of the college system. The option can be that of the student, or, if preferred, that of any Government, as may be intimated to the Principal, but the extra courses selected are, for the reason given below, and as the Bengal Government expressly recommends, in Veterinary Science.

As to two other subjects mentioned by the Government of Bengal, viz. Mensuration and Book-keeping, I am of opinion that the Central Government and others are right in recognising the importance of not suggesting any interference with them, and the objections of the Bengal Government in respect of the latter will, I think, be obviated by calling attention to the fact that, although Book-keeping continues to be taught throughout the whole two-years' course (not three, as stated in Mr. MacDonnell's letter of 18th May), thus advantageously keeping up its practice to the end, still the time devoted to its teaching is in no way excessive or inimical to the other studies, being only one hour per week.

In regard to the impression that I have somewhat confused the distinct cases of the Covenanted Civil Service students and of the Native Indians, I had no intention of doing more than carry out what appeared to me the wish of the Government of India on the subject of Veterinary Science, as expressed particularly in the case of Mr. Symonds and again in the case of Mr. Mackenzie. Even in the despatch under consideration, it is expressly stated that, "in view of the very great importance to India of a diffusion of veterinary knowledge, we would strongly recommend that extra instruction in veterinary science should be substituted in the case of Indian Civil Servants and Scholars" for the subjects then proposed to be optional.

I enclose copies of official notices of the above modifications, and shall be obliged if you will submit this letter, or the substance of it, to the consideration of the Secretary of State for India in Council, expressing my thanks for the great assistance rendered to me by the communication of the views of the various Governments, together with my hope that our further efforts to adapt the curriculum of the College to the special requirements of students from India may obtain approval, and promote, in a yet higher degree than heretofore, the interests of the students and of the Presidencies.

ROYAL AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Agricultural Law, Building, and General Estate Management.

FROM and after spring term, 1885, the subjects of Agricultural Law, Building Materials and Construction, and General Estate Management, will be optional to all students.

Prizes, however, will be given in all the classes for these subjects as heretofore; but after the present session they will not be eligible for special subjects for the final examination for the diploma.

JOHN B. MCCLELLAN, M.A.,
Principal.

6th January 1885.

INDIAN GOVERNMENT SCHOLARS AND CIVILIANS.

Extra Veterinary and Drawing.

FROM and after the present session, it will be optional to the Indian Government scholars and civilians, either to continue to take up Drawing, or to take up in its stead an extra veterinary course each session.

The extra veterinary lectures and classes will be given by the Professor of Veterinary every Tuesday at 4-15 P.M., and the examination will be at the sessionals.

JOHN B. MCCLELLAN, M.A.,
Principal.

9th February 1885.

Circular No. 7A—35-1, dated Calcutta, the 30th January 1886.

From—C. S. BAYLEY, ESQ., Under-Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Dept.

COPY, with copy of the despatch to the Secretary of State, No. 11A., dated 4th July last, forwarded to the Local Governments and Administrations noted on the margin for information, in continuation of my circular No. 6A—12-3, dated the 26th January 1885, and subsequent correspondence.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 96 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

† Mean for five days. * Mean for six days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the period for the past ten years. The variations ar negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcas[t] by 10. The number denoting cloud amount represents the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head "District" observations of rainfall," the normal means are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the su[bdivi]sional stations for the period in question during the past 12 years. The means of the "district" are the numerical averages of the rainfall return received [from] the district (..) from the total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A [rainy] day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fel[l].

CALCUTTA, the 2nd March 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 26TH OF FEBRUARY 1886.

THE week has been characterised by the transition conditions which mark the close of the north-east or winter monsoon, and the gradual setting in of the summer monsoon. The principal features in the week have therefore been the steady rise of temperature with the corresponding fall of pressure, the replacement of northerly by southerly winds, and the consequent increase of humidity. At the close of the week the summer monsoon conditions appeared to have pretty firmly established themselves, steady south-westerly winds were blowing over the province, temperature was comparatively high, and pressure comparatively low, while humidity was decidedly above the normal.

At this season of the year, however, pressure generally falls very rapidly; but during the week under review, the fall has scarcely taken place so rapidly as usual. During the previous week pressure was 0·018″ above the normal, while the average pressure of the present week has been 0·024″ in excess of the normal. The distribution of the excess pressure has been fairly equal, though at Gya a slightly defective pressure is reported.

Temperature has on the whole, during the week, been rather below the normal, and this has been particularly the case in South Behar, where the mean temperature for the week has been between 2° and 3° below the normal. In East and South-West Bengal, in North Behar and in Chutia Nagpur the defect has been between 1° and 2°. The actual rise of temperature during the week has not been very large, and the increase has been most marked in the south-western districts. Thus the increase in the mean temperature of Orissa for the week has been 2·3°, while in South-West Bengal the increase has been 1·4°. Some very high maximum temperatures were, however, reported on the last two days of the week, and on the 26th Cuttack registered 99·4° and Midnapore 95·3°, while on the 25th Balasore recorded 94·5°

Rainfall has been practically absent over the province for the whole week, and, except for a slight shower at Darjeeling, all the province has been rainless.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 26th February 1886:—

METEOROLOGICAL DIVISIONS.	TEMPERATURE.						RAINFALL.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The month under review is the first since April last that records an increase in the traffic. The total quantity lifted in November last is 24,380·58 tons against 21,546·35 tons carried during the corresponding period of 1884, the net increase being 2,834·23 tons or 13·15 per cent. This satisfactory result is due to increased despatches under all heads except ale, gunny-bags, railway material and seed, in which staples only there has been a falling off of 7·49, 345·56, 561·08 and 66·24 tons respectively. The net increase, it may be mentioned, would have been greater but for the difficulty alluded to in October's report, viz the silting of the Ganges and the consequent abandonment of the short Sara-Damukdea route for the long lead via Kushtea.

Increases.

Food-grains ... ... 3,003·72 tons.
The continued increase in the paddy traffic has contributed to this satisfactory result.

Ginger . ... 70·35 tons.
Due to good crop and fair demand for export.

Jute ... ... 54·17 tons.
During the month the market for loose jute has been steady both in demand and price, but closed with a lower tendency.

Miscellaneous ... ... 151·78 tons.
A large traffic in timber has principally contributed to this increase.

Piece-goods ... ... 53·94 tons.
The falling off under this head in September and October last will account for the present increase.

Salt ... ... 132·77 tons.
The increase is a trade fluctuation and will probably be met by a falling off later on.

Sugar ... . 33·66 tons.
There has been no change in the sugar market in the month under notice, and the present increase is but a trade fluctuation.

Tea ... ... 273·07 tons.
There has been a good demand during the month for all sorts of tea, those from the Darjeeling and Assam districts being most in favor.

Tobacco ... ... 41·14 tons.
Increase due to a good demand and fair price.

Decreases.

Ale ... ... 7·49 tons.
This traffic is chiefly regulated by the number of troops at Darjeeling.

Gunny-bags ... ... 345·56 tons.
Decreased demand for this staple for foreign exportation.

Railway material ... ... 561·08 tons.
In November 1884 an unusually large quantity of sleepers were carried for the Engineering Department, and this accounts for the present falling off.

Seed ... . 66·24 tons.
Decrease due to Calcutta market being unfavorable to despatches.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

From the statement given above, it will be seen that the gross weight lifted in all staples during the month under review stands at 26,543·74 tons against 22,847·85 tons carried during the corresponding period of 1884, the result being an improvement by 3,695·89 tons, or 16·17 per cent. The principal increases are in food-grains, ginger, jute, tea and in miscellaneous goods the decrease being chiefly in gunny-bags, railway material, salt and tobacco. The increase in food-grains is particularly encouraging, an unusually large traffic having been carried in this staple since August last.

Increases.

Food-grains ... ... 6,031·03 tons.

This is the heaviest traffic that has been recorded in this commodity since the opening of the line, it consisted of 7,640 92 tons of downwards and 385·04 of upwards.

Ginger .. .. 93·54 tons.

The traffic in this staple is 825 97 per cent. better, owing to a good demand for export.

Jute ... ... 78·85 tons.

The Calcutta market for this commodity has not been so favorable as in the previous month, and the despatches have fallen short of last month's transit. The result is, however, ·8 per cent. better compared with the corresponding period of 1884.

Miscellaneous .. . . 325·54 tons.

Under this head is included numerous articles of traffic, and it is not possible to trace the fluctuation with accuracy.

Piece-goods .. .. 11·65 tons.

This is a mere trade fluctuation.

Sugar ... ... 23·22 tons.

The increase is expected in the face of the falling off in July, August, September and October last.

Tea ... . 133·31 tons.

Increase due to a good demand and fair prices.

Decreases.

Ale ... ... 6·24 tons.

A falling off in public and commissariat despatches has contributed to this decrease.

Gunny-bags .. .. 443·78 tons.

There has not been much doing in this article during the month under review.

Railway materials ... ... 1,985·51 tons.

Decrease due to suspension of work for the Assam-Behar Railway, and a smaller quantity of coal being carried for the Locomotive Department.

Salt ... ... 267 48 tons.

The decrease is a trade fluctuation and will probably be made up later on.

Seeds ... ... 73·44 tons.

Decrease due to a falling off in the demand.

Tobacco ... ... 224·80 tons.

The continued increase in this traffic since April last will account for the present falling off. The long ferry of 22 miles to Kushtia still injuriously affects the traffic of the line, and until the ferry is moved to Damukdea, and the tonnage of the ferry is largely increased, the large accumulations at stations will continue.

* The apparent heavy decrease in the coaching earnings for this week is due chiefly to the fact that 26 extra troop trains ran during the corresponding week of 1885 account of the Egyptian expedition, which augmented the receipts for that period to a considerable extent.

Rules under Act II of 1886, an act for imposing a tax on income derived from sources other than agriculture.

In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by clause 17 of the rules prescribed by the Governor-General in Council under Act II of 1886, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following rules, to have effect in the territories administered by him, in addition to the rules contained in annexure Z, which have been promulgated by the Governor-General in Council:—

1. Subject to the restrictions hereafter mentioned, the powers and functions conferred and imposed by the Act and these rules shall be severally exercised by the Board of Revenue, the Commissioners of Divisions, the Commissioner of Income Tax, who will act under the instructions of the Board, the Collectors of districts, and Collectors and Deputy Collectors appointed for the purposes of the Act.

2. In the assessment and collection of the tax the Collector of the district will be subject to the control of the Commissioner of the Division and the Board of Revenue.

3. The Collector will retain in his own hands the general supervision of the operations under the Act; but, except in Calcutta, the immediate control and direction of the work will be entrusted to a Deputy Collector specially appointed by Government, who will be termed the Income Tax Deputy Collector, and will exercise the powers of a Collector under the Act.

4. The Board of Revenue will appoint one or more assessors in each district, who, except in Calcutta, will carry on the general work of assessment under the immediate orders of the Income-tax Deputy Collector.

5. The Commissioner of Income-tax, subject to the Board's control, will be entrusted with the administrative working of the Act.

6. No assessment amounting to rupees two hundred and fifty or upwards shall be made by the Income-tax Deputy Collector, but by the Collector of the district

7. The power of hearing and passing orders on petitions of objection, under section 26 of the Act, shall not be exercised by Income-tax Deputy Collectors, except in cases where the amount of assessment to which the petition relates is less than rupees two hundred and fifty.

8. The forms to be used under the Act shall be those contained in the schedule annexed to these rules. Consistently with these rules, the Commissioner of Income Tax may alter these forms, or prescribe other forms as may from time to time be required. Forms of returns will be supplied by the Collector free of charge to persons requiring them.

9. Every return made under the Act by a local authority, company, public body or association, or private employer, shall be subscribed by the person making it with a declaration that it is correctly prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

10. In the case of a company, public body or association, mentioned in sections 9 and 10 of the Act, the Collector may cause a general notice in form E to be published, inviting the principal officer of such company, public body or association, when submitting the return of salaries, annuities, pensions and gratuities which he is required by section 10 to furnish to the Collector on or before the fifteenth day of April each year, to state whether he is willing to collect the tax due from the persons included in the return, and to forward the amount to the Collector on condition of being allowed a remission of a portion of the amount payable on the terms specified in rule 13 below. The person making the return may subscribe on the return his assent to this arrangement. The return will be in form IB.

11. After the receipt by him of the return mentioned in section 10, the Collector may issue a special notice in form F to the person making the return, inviting him to state whether he is willing to collect the tax due from the persons included in the return, and to forward the amount to the Collector on condition of his being allowed a remission of a portion of the amount payable on the terms specified in rule 13, below. The person making the return may subscribe on the return his assent to this arrangement. The return will be in form IB.

12. The Collector may further cause a general notice in form G to be published, inviting every private employer to deliver, or cause to be delivered to the Collector within a time to be specified, a return in form IB of the salaries as pensions, annuities and gratuities payable or paid to persons in his employ or pay, and so state, when submitting the return, whether he is willing to collect the tax due from the persons included in the return, and to forward the amount to the Collector, on condition of his being allowed a remission of a portion of the amount payable on the terms specified in rule 13 below. The person making the return may subscribe on the return his assent to this arrangement.

13. In the cases in which the agreement referred to in the three last preceding rules is entered into between him and the person making the return, the Collector is hereby empowered to grant a remission of 5 per cent., if the yearly amount of tax payable by the person included in the return is paid in a lump sum on or before the 15th July, or a remission of 3 per cent. if the amount is paid in four equal instalments on or before the 15th of May, August, November and February respectively; or a remission of one per cent. if the amount is paid in monthly instalments on or before the 7th of each month. Whenever this agreement is entered into, the Collector shall grant an authority in form H to the person making the return to collect the tax payable by the persons included in the return.

14. In the event of any alteration in the course of the year either in the number of persons employed, or in the rate of salary, pension or annuity mentioned in a return, the person making the return, or his successor in office, shall, if required, send notice of such alteration to the Collector, but such requisition shall not be made in the case of a private employer.

15. The list mentioned in section 16, sub-section 3, shall be filed in the office of the Collector of the district, and in Calcutta, in the office of the Collector, 4, Bankshall Street. The list may be filed in parts as each part is prepared, but there should be a separate notification in form K for each part, and each part should be signed by the Collector and bear the date specified in the notification which relates to it. The list to be filed shall be prepared in English, and the Register of assessees in such form as may be prescribed by the Board of Revenue shall be deemed to be the list, if the Collector thinks fit to adopt it as such instead of filing a separate list.

16. Each part shall be closed on the date specified on the notification which relates to it, and no fresh names shall be added to the part after that date.

17. The list to be published and the notification prefixed thereto shall be in the language of the district to which they refer, but the Collector, if he thinks fit, may also publish them in English.

18. The publication of the list, or part or parts thereof, and of the notification mentioned in section 16, sub-section (5), shall be made in villages by affixing them at the nearest post-office, or in some conspicuous part of the village, and in towns either by affixing them at the municipal office, or by means of a notice in a local newspaper, informing the public that the list is open for inspection at the office of the Collector, whichever mode of publication the Collector may think fit to adopt. The publication in Calcutta, its suburbs, and Howrah shall be made by means of a notice to be affixed at the police-stations, informing the public that the list is open for inspection at the office of the Collector, and by a similar notice in the Calcutta and Exchange Gazettes.

19. In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 18 of Act II of 1886, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased—

(a) to give a general authority to Collectors to include in a list under section 16 any person who is liable to be served with a notice under section 17 instead of or in addition to serving him with such a notice, and to serve a notice under section 17 in form L on any person liable to be included in a list under section 16 instead of or in addition to including him in such a list in cases in which they may consider it advisable to do so;

(b) to give a general authority to Collectors to publish, in any manner which may be most suitable, a general notice in form M; and

(c) to authorise the Collector in Calcutta to cause a special notice in form N to be served on any person chargeable under Part IV of the Act, inviting him to deliver or cause to be delivered to the Collector, or at the Collector's office, within a time to be specified in the notice, which shall not be less than seven days, a return in form IIB of his yearly income. A form of the return will accompany the notice.

20. During the first year of the operation of the Act—

(a) A person, who has been assessed under Part I of the second schedule of the Act, shall not be again assessed in respect of his income chargeable under Part IV, where the amount of such income is less than Rs. 500 per annum.

(b) A person, whose income under Parts I and IV is less than five hundred rupees per annum respectively, shall not be liable under Part IV by reason of his aggregate income under these two parts being in excess of five hundred rupees per annum.

21. The tax chargeable under Part IV may be paid in two equal instalments where the amount is rupees fifty or upwards, and the instalments shall be payable on the sixtieth day from the date specified in the notification under section 16, or in the notice under section 17 of the Act, as the case may be, and on the 1st of October respectively. Where no instalments are allowed, the tax shall be payable on the first of these dates.

22. An application to compound the tax should be made before the 1st July in each year, and may be admitted on the average income of not less than three years as the Collector may direct. The term of the composition shall not exceed three years. The agreement to compound shall be in form O, and shall be executed in duplicate, each copy being signed by the Collector and the person compounding. One copy shall be delivered to the person compounding, and the other copy shall remain with the Collector.

23. Subject to the following conditions, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to delegate the powers vested in him under section 47, sub-section 5, to the Board of Revenue. When any company, firm, or person has several places of business in more than one district, the assessment of such company, firm, or person need only be made in the district in which the principal place of business is situate. When any company, firm, or person liable to assessment is known to carry on business in any other district, the Collector must communicate with the Collector of that other district in order to the formation of an estimate of the annual profits of such company, firm, or person, and the determination of the principal place of business. In the event of any dispute arising regarding the district in which the principal place of business is situated, the Collectors will, if their districts are situated in the same division, refer the question for the decision of the Commissioner, otherwise they will apply direct to the Board for orders. As a general rule the ordinary place of residence of the person assessed, and in the case of a company or firm the ordinary place of residence of the head acting manager or partner, shall be held to be the principal place of business of such company, firm, or person. Residence in the suburbs or neighbourhood of Calcutta shall, when the business is carried on in Calcutta, be taken to be residence in Calcutta.

INSTRUCTIONS.

1. IN the case of a firm, the ordinary designation of the firm should be entered in column 1.

2. If the person or firm making the return has several places of residence or business, they should be all mentioned in column 2, the principal place of residence or business being specified.

3. Columns 3 and 4 are intended to show all sources and amounts of income not included in Part I, Part II and Part III of the schedule of the Act, and therefore the following sources of income should not be entered in the return:—

(a) Salary, annuity, pension or gratuity;
(b) Profits of Companies;
(c) Interest on securities;

but where the person making the return at the time of making it has not already been assessed in respect of an amount of salary, annuity, pension or gratuity payable to him, he should include such amount in columns 3 and 4.

4. The income to be specified should be the income which has accrued during the year ending on the day on which the accounts were last made up. If they were not made up between the 31st March 1885 and the 31st March 1886, then the income during the year ending with 31st March 1886 should be stated.

5. In column 5 should be entered the year or portion of the year during which the income or profit has accrued.

6. In the case of a firm or a Hindu undivided family, the shares need not be separately mentioned, but where a member of such firm or family is in receipt of an income independent of the firm or family, such income should be entered separately in column 7.

7. Section 5 of the Act which contains a list of the sources of income exempt from assessment is here reproduced for the guidance of the person making the return.

Exceptions. 5. (i) Nothing in section 4 shall render liable to the tax—

(a) any rent or revenue derived from land which is used for agricultural purposes and is either assessed to land revenue or subject to a local rate assessed and collected by officials of the Government, as such; or

(b) any income derived from—

(i) agriculture, or
(ii) the performance by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind of any process ordinarily employed by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind to render the produce raised or received by him fit to be taken to market, or
(iii) the sale by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind of the produce raised or received by him, when he does not keep a shop or stall for the sale of such produce; or

(c) any building owned and occupied by the receiver of the rent or revenue of any such land as is referred to in clause (a), or by the cultivator, or the receiver of rent-in-kind, of any land with respect to which or the produce whereof any operation mentioned in clause (b) is carried on:

Provided that the building is on or in the immediate vicinity of the land, and is a building which the receiver of the rent or revenue, or the cultivator or the receiver of the rent-in-kind, by reason of his connection with the land, requires as a dwelling-house, or as a store-house, factory or other out-building; or

(d) any profits of a shipping company incorporated or registered out of British India and having its principal place of business out of India and its ships ordinarily engaged in sea-going traffic out of Indian waters; or

(e) any income derived from property solely employed for religious or public charitable purposes; or

(f) any income which a person enjoys as a member of a company or of a firm or of a Hindu undivided family when the company or the firm or the family is liable to the tax; or,

(g) subject to any conditions and restrictions which may be prescribed in this behalf, such portion, not exceeding one-sixth of the income in respect whereof a person would, but for this exception, be chargeable under this Act, as is deducted from the salary of the person under the authority or with the permission of the Government for the purpose of securing a deferred annuity to him or a provision to his wife or children after his death or is paid by the person to an insurance company in respect of an insurance or deferred annuity on his own life or on the life of his wife; or

(h) any interest on stock-notes; or

(i) the salary of any officer, warrant officer, non-commissioned officer or private of Her Majesty's Forces or of Her Majesty's Indian Forces who is not in an employment which, according to the ordinary practice, is held in indifferently by military persons and civilians, and whose salary does not exceed five hundred rupees per mensem; or

(j) any person whose income from all sources is less than five hundred rupees per annum.

(2) An officer or servant is not exempt from taxation under this Act by reason only of the income of his employer being exempt therefrom under this section.

Annexure Z.

ASSESSED TAXES.

No. 593.

The 5th February 1886.

IN exercise of the powers conferred upon him by Act II of 1886, and of all other power enabling him in this behalf, the Honourable the President in Council is pleased to make the following rules under the said Act:—

1. The time within which amounts deducted from salary, annuity, pension, or gratuity paid by a local authority under section 8, sub-section (1) of the Act must be paid to the credit of the Government of India is fixed at one week from the date of payment of the salary, pension, annuity, or gratuity. The payment to the credit of the Government shall be made by remitting the amount to the Collector with a statement giving the following particulars for each person from whom the tax has been realised:—

(1) Name.
(2) Period for which the salary has been paid.
(3) Amount of salary paid.
(4) Amount of tax.

2. The return required by section 10 of the Act shall be in Form A hereto appended.

3. Any sums, such as payments to regimental mess or band funds or the like, compulsorily stopped from salary by the orders, or with the approval, of Government, shall be deducted from the salary previous to assessment.

A portion of salary withheld in persuance of an order of a Court is not a sum compulsorily stopped from salary within the meaning of this rule.

4. A deduction made from the amount of salary, pension, or annuity liable to assessment on account of a payment made to a life insurance company must be supported by the receipt of the insurance company for the payment and a copy thereof. When the deduction is claimed by a servant of the Government, or of a local authority, the officer paying the salary, pension, or annuity will compare the original receipt with the copy, return the original, and attach the copy to the salary, pension or annuity bill if the payee is a Government servant, and to the statement forwarded with the amount of the tax realised under Rule 1, if the payee is a servant of a local authority.

Where the Collector is satisfied that the original receipt of the insurance company cannot be produced without an amount of delay, expense, or inconvenience which, under the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable, he may accept such other proof of payment of the premium as he may deem sufficient.

5. The amounts exempted from assessment by section 5, sub-section (1), clause (g) of the Act and by rule 4 above shall not be deducted from income for the purpose of determining whether the income is liable to the tax, or of determining the rate at which the tax shall be levied.

6. The amount to be assessed under section 24, sub-section (1) of the Act on account of a building occupied by the owner thereof shall not in any case exceed 10 per cent. of the aggregate income of the owner derived from all sources. It will not, however, be understood from this that a maximum of 10 per cent. of the aggregate income of the owner is to be considered equivalent to the letting-value of his house. The letting-value will, in all cases, be ascertained on the best data available, in view of the circumstances of the locality in which the house is situated.

7. Salaries, annuities, and pensions paid in April 1886, though on account of March 1886, are liable to the tax.

8. After the close of the year of assessment each Accountant-General or other auditing officer shall submit Return No. I in the form hereto appended to such officer as the Local Government may direct.

9. The certificates referred to in the second column of Part III of Schedule II of the Act shall be in Form B or in Form C hereto appended.

10. Any claim under section 5, sub-section (1), clause (c) of the Act to exemption from the levy of the tax on the interest of securities employed solely for religious or public charitable purposes within the meaning of that clause must be supported by a certificate from the Collector, which shall be in Form D hereto appended.

11. In the case of securities, the interest on which is payable by the Government of India, the amount deducted on account of the tax under section 13, sub-section (1) of the Act shall be paid to the credit of the Government on the same day as the payment of the interest is made.

12. In the case of securities, the interest on which is not payable by the Government of India, the amount so deducted shall be paid to the credit of the Government within one week from the date on which interest is paid. The person deducting the amount should pay it to the credit of the Government by remitting the amount to the Collector with a statement showing the following particulars:—

(1) Name of owner.
(2) Description of security.
(3) Number of ,,
(4) Date of ,,
(5) Amount of ,,
(6) Period for which interest is drawn.
(7) Amount of interest.
(8) Amount of tax.

13. Interest on securities belonging to Service Funds shall not be assessed.

14. After the close of the year of assessment each Accountant-General and Comptroller shall submit Return No. II in the form hereto appended to such officer as the Local Government may direct.

15. In calculating the amount of tax payable, the amount due on a fraction of a rupee shall be neglected. Thus the tax to be realised on a monthly salary of Rs. 166-10-6 is Rs. 4-5-2 only.

16. All public servants are forbidden to make public or disclose, except for the purpose of the working of Act II of 1886, any information contained in documents delivered or produced with respect to assessments under Part IV of the said Act, and any public servant committing a breach of this rule shall be deemed to have committed an offence under section 166 of the Indian Penal Code.

17. Power to make further rules is hereby delegated to the several Local Governments.

18. Each Local Government will prescribe form of registers to be maintained by Collectors and others for the purpose of showing the demand and collections of the tax, the various classes of incomes assessed, and the working of the several provisions of the Act.

19. After the close of the year of assessment each Local Government will submit to the Government of India in the Financial Department a report on the working of the Act.

20. The following returns in the forms hereto appended will be submitted with that report —

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th March 1886.—The following hydrographic information regarding the Fals Point Harbour is published for general information.

R. H. WILSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The information contained in this notice is to be carefully considered, to be noted in the Sailing Directions, and compared with the charts when the ship is navigating the locality to which it refers.

HYDROGRAPHIC NOTICE.

(Superseding all previous Hydrographic Notices.)

BAY OF BENGAL.—COAST OF ORISSA.

The following information, resulting from a recent survey of False Point Harbour has been furnished by the Deputy Conservator to the Calcutta Port Trust, in the Benga Government steamer Undaunted in January 1886.

[All Bearings are Magnetic. Variation 2° 40″ E. in 1886.]

FALSE POINT HARBOUR is formed by the Island of Dowdeswell (called Nurrea Banga Nassa), which is merely a sand cay with short jungle and coarse grass extending in a North and N. W. direction; the extreme Northerly point of dry land is now 6·6 miles N. N. E. of the Light-house, and consists of a few broken pieces of land formed into islands with very low jungle upon them.

REDDIE HEAD has been entirely washed away during the cyclone of September 1885, but the sand spit which formerly existed has gone further seaward.

HOOKEY TOLLAH, the small location on the inner side of Dowdeswell Island where the Port Officer and Custom House Officers resided, has been entirely washed away, and there is now only the Refuge-house and a few cocoanut-trees left standing.

THE REFUGE-HOUSE is painted white, and can be easily distinguished from seaward.

THE OUTER COAST-LINE extends two miles East from the Light-house, and consists of low islands covered with jungle. The shape of these Islands are continually changing on account of the alteration in the mouth of the Mahanádi river; but they trend gradually round until they meet Dowdeswell Island.

The water is steep-to, except off the mouth of the Mahanádi river, where the bar extends about one mile seaward, and in Easterly gales a very heavy surf gets up right along this beach.

THE INNER COAST-LINE of the bay—extending from False Point Light-house to Bakood Creek, embracing what was formerly known as Plowden Island, past the entrance to Jumboo river and towards Temple Point—is formed of high, dense jungle fringed deeply with mangroves and extensive mud flats.

From Temple Point to the South Baroni river the land is low and covered with coarse grass and scrub, interspersed here and there with thick jungle and mangrove swamps; the foreshore is fringed deeply with sand which forms the high-water line.

JUMBOO LOCATION was built in 1876, and consists of a Telegraph office, Public Works Department bungalow, and a Custom's warehouse; it is situated on the left bank of the Soonta creek, and shows well up from the anchorage. The Port Officer and the Customs authorities, since Hookey Tollah has been washed away, reside there.

FALSE POINT LIGHT-HOUSE, situated in latitude 20° 19′ 20″ N., longitude 86° 44′ 27″ E., on a sand hill surrounded with jungle, is a laterite masonry tower of reddish colour with a large ten-pointed white star in the centre facing South-East; it exhibits at 126 feet above the level of high-water an occulting white dioptric light of the first order, obscured four seconds once in every half minute, and illuminating an arc of 200°, viz, from S. S. W. through West and North to N. E. ½ N. The light is visible in clear weather from a distance of 19 miles.

The light was first exhibited in the year 1838, but the present first class dioptric light was exhibited in 1880, and converted into an occulting light in 1884.

CAUTION.—During the months from December till March fog banks and mist occasionally rise on the land and materially interfere with the brilliancy of the light, and in some instances causes it to show a deep red colour, or disappear as if suddenly extinguished. Vessels cannot, therefore, during these months be too cautious when closing the land in the vicinity of the light, and should keep the lead going frequently.

A very good guide, when closing the land and the light not seen, is to carefully examine the nature of the bottom, and immediately the navigator finds sand mixed with mud the vessel's head should be put off shore and wait for daylight.

THE STORM-WAVE of the 22nd September 1885 rose at the Light-house 14.6 feet above the mean sea level, or 19.7 feet above low-water; a stone has been let into the ground to mark the spot.

BEACONS AND CONSPICUOUS MARKS.—The principal beacon on the North part of Dowdeswell Island is an iron tripod, surmounted with a black ball, 40 feet in height, situated 6·6 miles N. N. E. from False Point Light house, but seaward of this the sand at low-water extends in a N. W. ¼ W. direction for about 800 yards, and will probably still keep extending. A small iron beacon, surmounted with a cross, is placed N. 45° W., 565 yards from the tripod, and with the two in line makes a good anchorage mark for deep vessels.

Three quarters of a mile within Temple Point, or the West shore of the bay, is a remarkable tree, the highest in its vicinity, and known as Temple-tree, with a pole and black basket projecting from its top, which bears from Dowdeswell Island tripod W. ½ S, distant about 4 miles.

The only mark of importance on the Southern shore is Prince Arthur's beacon, situated on the sand hills off Prince Arthur's Point, Dowdeswell Island, it consists of a pole and cage, painted white, and bears from Dowdeswell tripod S ½ E, distant 2,7 miles.

BUOYS.—Fairway buoy, black and white chequered, with staff and white cage lies in 4½ fathoms at lowest low-water spring tides with Temple tree bearing W. S. W. and Dowdeswell tripod S. ½ W, distant 1¼ miles.

OUTER WESTERN BUOY, a black conical buoy with staff and black cage, lies in 18 feet, N W. ¼ N., 7 cables from the tripod, and indicates the Western side of the Fairway channel

SPIT BUOY, red can buoy, surmounted with a spire and red cage, lies off Reddie Point in 21 feet N N. W ⅜ W from Dowdeswell tripod and indicates the extreme North spit of sand, and also marks the Eastern side of the Fairway channel

A small red nun buoy, about one cable to the W. S W. of the spit buoy, marks the extreme shoal water off the apex of the sand at Reddie Head.

FOUR buoys denote the boundary of the Inner anchorage, on the Western limit two black buoys, and on the Eastern limit two red buoys, each buoy lies in about 12 feet at lowest low-water.

ANCHORAGE.—The Outer anchorage, for vessels making a short stay, is Tripod beacon and Cross beacon in line bearing S. E, in 4 fathoms and about midway between the Outer Western buoy and the small red nun buoy off the spit of Reddie Head.

For the Inner anchorage vessels can take up any position between the buoys marking the channel.

TIDES —It is high-water, full and change, at the Inner anchorage off Hookey Tollah at IX hours 15 minutes; ordinary springs rise 7 feet and neaps 4 feet The range of tide, however, is much affected by the fresh water out of the numerous creeks, and also by the prevailing winds; the best or highest tides occur during the N E monsoon, and the least or lowest tides in the month of May. The tidal streams within the harbour set fairly through the several channels, and at springs average a velocity of 2 knots an hour. After heavy rains, when the freshets come down the Bakood and Jumboo rivers, the ebb stream, which runs out round Reddie Head and past the red spire buoy, is very swift, sometimes attaining a rate of 4 or 5 knots an hour

At half a mile outside and Eastward of Reddie Point the flood stream sets to North, at the Fairway buoy to N. W., whilst midway between the buoy and Reddie Point, it sets to W. S. W. Great attention, therefore, is necessary in entering the port on a flood tide, as explained in the directions which are given further on.

In the offing the flood sets to N. E., the ebb to S W, at the rate of about one knot per hour; but the velocity is much influenced by the prevailing wind, so that the flood stream (augmented by the ocean current) in the S. W. monsoon attains sometimes a speed of 4 knots.

SUPPLIES, TRADE, &c.—Good water can be procured at the Canal Lock about one mile up the Jumboo river by using the vessels' boats. Firewood is plentiful and cheap.

Provisions are scarce and expensive; sheep, vegetables, &c., can be obtained from Katak, and from villages within a radius of 20 miles; but it is better to obtain all provisions and live-stock from Calcutta by means of the weekly British India steamers.

False Point is the most important harbour of Katak and the Orissa district; the exports are chiefly rice, horns, hides and oil-seeds, the value of which for the year 1884-85 amounted to Rs. 26,31,456.

The value of imports, the principal of which were cotton twist, piece-goods, metal opium, liquor, and gunnys, was for the same period Rs. 3,29,087.

Small comfortable steamers belonging to Messrs. Bulloch & Co. meet all the British India vessels, and convey passengers and cargo to Katak through the canal at very moderate rates.

DIRECTIONS —Vessels from the Southward, bound to False Point Outer anchorage in the S. W. monsoon, on approaching the Light-house, should not shoal into less than 10 fathoms. When the Light-house bears N. W., distant 4½ miles, in soundings of 10 fathoms olive mud bottom, alter course to N. N. E., for about 7 miles, or until the tripod on Dowdeswell Island bears N. W. ½ W. Thence a N. W. by N. course for about 3½ miles will place a vessel in about 7 fathoms mud, one mile off shore, with Dowdeswell tripod bearing Southward of West. Haul in gradually until Temple-tree, the Jumboo location buildings and flagstaff, on the West shore of the bay, are well open to the Northward of Dowdeswell Island and anchor as convenient.

If proceeding to the Inner anchorage, pass westward of the red spire buoy, off Reddie Point (taking care to guard against an eddy, extending from the pitch of the point to the 3-fathom line), and steer up the harbour, being guided by the buoys, to the required anchorage. It should be observed that with a strong flood-stream (which will reveal itself by drifting a vessel rapidly to the Northward) it will be found best to steer in on a Southerly course, bringing the vessel's head through the S. E. quadrant to East and N. E., so as to breast the tide before anchoring. Instances have occurred of steamers steering in towards Reddie Point, and attempting to turn to starboard, or through S. W. and N. W. on the flood-tide; thus they were rapidly swept across (see tides) the channel to the Westward, and grounded in the shoal water extending from Temple Point.

From abreast Hookey Tollah, boat channels, winding through mud banks and partially buoyed, lead to the Bakood and Jumboo creeks. There is also a channel available for boats, through mud flats and mangrove, leading to False Point Light-house, the banks on either side being marked with stakes.

BOUNDARIES OF THE PORT.—On the North.—A line drawn from Temple-tree through, and beyond the Fairway buoy to meet the Eastern limit.

On the South.—A line drawn from Prince Arthur beacon on the South side of Dowdeswell Island to Black Point beacon (entrance to Jumboo river).

On the East.—A line drawn from Prince Arthur beacon (on the South side of Dowdeswell Island) through and beyond the tripod beacon on Dowdeswell Island to meet the North limit.

On the West.—The right bank of the Jumboo river as far Northward as the Canal Lock. and thence in a line to Temple-tree, including the river and creek banks, to within 50 yards above high-water mark.

OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY CONSERVATOR;
CALCUTTA PORT TRUST,

EATON W. PETLEY, R.N.,
Deputy Conservator to the Port of Calcutta.

NOTIFICATION.

The 9th March 1886.—The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to order that the following Rule be substituted for Rule 1 of the Rules for the Sunderbuns Protected Forests, published in the notification of the 5th May 1885 at page 428, Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 13th idem, and that the revised rates shall have effect from the 1st April 1886 :—

Rule I.—No trees, timber, or any other forest produce shall be cut, sawn, gathered, or removed from within the boundaries of the Sunderbuns Protected Forests without prepayment in full of the charges due thereon at the rates following :—

(1). Sundri, pussur, and amoor timber in pieces measuring 8 feet and upwards in length, or 3 feet 9 inches and upwards in girth at the thick end, for every maund one anna.

(2). Sundri firewood, for every maund one-half anna.

(3). Any other forest produce, except honey and wax, for every maund one-quarter anna.

(4). The right to collect honey and wax, for each man per month one rupee eight annas.

These, or such other charges as may from time to time be fixed under this rule, will also be levied on timber and other forest produce which may be exported from lands leased under the rules for the lease of waste lands in the Sunderbuns.

The Lieutenant-Governor is also pleased to publish the following revised list of revenue stations under Rule III of the Rules of the 5th May 1885, in supersession of the list attached to that notification:—

IRRIGATION.

The 9th March 1886.

No. 87.—Declaration.—Whereas it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal that land is required to be taken by Government at the public expenses for a public purpose, viz., for the Third Section of the Taldonda Canal, it is hereby declared that for the above purpose a piece of land 8 miles 3 furlongs and 80 feet long, and averaging in width 231 feet, measuring 250 acres and 31 poles, more or less, of standard measurement, commencing from mouzah Nekurikood, pergunnah Anabartak, and passing through mouzahs Nekurikood, killah Koojung, Mallahsahi, pergunnahs Tiran, Ramadeipur, killah Koojung, Ramchunderpur, Shandhapur, Tentulia, Jagganathprosad, Gilanasi, Jeysingpur, Balabhadraprosad, Kotiasahi, Chuckerdhorpur, Kapamoondha, Sitalpur, Antapur, Bhootmoondy, Fulbelari, and terminating in mouzah Nayabelari, killah Koojung, at the Paradip Nullah, in the district of Cuttack, is required within the aforesaid villages.

This declaration is made, under the provisions of section 6 of Act X of 1870, to all whom it may concern.

No. 90 Notification.—In the exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 78, 79, 80, 81, and 99 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to pass the following rules for carrying out the provisions of the said Act, with respect to the Sarun Canals, in supersession of those at present in force.

A draft of the rules was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the dates noted in the margin, as Notification No. 119, dated the 24th March 1885.

The 25th March, the 1st, 8th, 15th, 22nd, and 29th April; and the 6th and 13th May 1885.

1. In Notification No. 179, dated 18th August 1879, under the provisions of Part II of Act III of 1876, Government has reserved to itself the rights of property in the water in the following canals and river beds forming part of the Sarun irrigation scheme :—

1. Roopun Chap Sota.
2. The head cut.
3. The Daha river and the water channels in continuation of or in connection with it.
4. The Gandaki river and the water channels in continuation of or in connection with it.
5. The Dhanai river and the water channels in continuation of or in connection with it.
7. Gangri river and the water channels in continuation of or in connection with it.

These canals and rivers will hereinafter be referred to as the Sarun Canals.

2. No person shall take water from the Sarun Canals for irrigation or manufacturing purposes without the written permission of a duly authorised person.

Licenses will be required—

(a) For the construction of temporary dams in the canal beds.

(b) For the irrigation of lands by flow or lift.

(c) For the construction of village channels and distributaries leading from the canals for the irrigation of lands.

(d) For water used for the purpose of any manufacture by any person other than a Canal Manager.

(e) For the erection of fishing weirs or the use of fishing nets—(1) in the head cut; (2) in the new cuts from the Roopun Chap Sota to the Daha, Gandaki, Dhanai, and Gangri river beds; (3) in any other new cuts which may be made hereafter.

3. Government reserves at present its right to levy tolls for irrigation, and to charge for filling tanks, watering cattle, or for water for other domestic purposes.

4. The revenue administration of the Sarun irrigation scheme is vested in the Collector, who is ex-officio head of the Canal Revenue Department. The Executive Engineer of the Gunduck Division as canal officer is charged with the maintenance and management of the canals, but all orders passed by him under the Act or these rules are appealable to the Collector, under whose general directions he will act. All orders relating to the canal revenue will usually be issued by the Collector (through the Executive Engineer or not, as the case may be), and all correspondence intended for the Collector in this department should be addressed to the Collector direct, or through the Executive Engineer, Mozufferpore, or the Assistant Engineer, Gopalgunge.

5. For administrative purposes, the Sarun district is divided into the sub-districts enumerated in the following rule, and shown in a map deposited in the Collector's office. The boundaries of the sub-districts and their number may be hereafter modified.

6. The following guarantors are, till further orders, appointed Canal Managers, and will, within the undermentioned sub-districts, act as the agents of Government in managing the affairs of the canals.

Manager of the	Arua concern for the time being.
Ditto	Bansapali	ditto.
Ditto	Bahrowli	ditto.
Ditto	Burhoga	ditto.
Ditto	Harpur	ditto.
Ditto	Hatwa estates	ditto.
Ditto	Jogapur concern	ditto.
Ditto	Nowada	ditto.
Ditto	Rajapatti	ditto.
Ditto	Ramkola	ditto.
Ditto	Sadowa	ditto.
Ditto	Sitalpur	ditto.

7. The more particular duties of a canal manager will be—

1st—To receive applications and grant permits, printed in the prescribed form for the use of water under sections 74, 75, and 77 of the Irrigation Act.

2nd—Subject to the instructions of the canal officers to distribute, under the provisions of section 76, the water-supply allotted to his sub-district.

3rd—To recover and credit to Government the water-rates.

4th—To superintend and maintain such establishment as may be found necessary for the assessment and collection of water-rates within his sub-district.

8. Canal Managers have no power under Parts III, IV, and V of the Act; and all claims to remission under section 76 of Part VI should be referred to the canal officer or his assistant for disposal. Complaints regarding unauthorised use of canal water under sections 79, 80, and 81 are also to be referred to the canal officer or Collector for decision. All proceedings connected with the recovery of water-rates by distraint or other compulsory process will be undertaken by the Collector.

9. Any Manager desiring the construction of a temporary dam across the Roopan Chap Sota, or across the bed of the Daha, Gandaki, Dhanai, or Gangri rivers must prefer a written application to the canal officer, specifying the object of the work and the length of time for which it is required. It will be at the discretion of the canal officer to reject the application or to grant it on such conditions as he may think fit, one of the conditions being the power reserved to the canal officer of cutting the bund, if it should ever appear to him in the public interests necessary to do so.

Provided, however, that no such dam shall be constructed without due provision being made, by means of a proper escape channel, for the supply to the guarantor or guarantors, on the same river below such dam, of the share of water to which he or they may be entitled under the decision of the canal officer.

10. Any person other than a Manager who may desire to construct a temporary dam across the bed of any of the rivers mentioned in the last rule must prefer his application to the Canal Manager in charge of the sub-district in which the site of the proposed dam lies. The latter will then forward the application with his remarks to the canal officer for orders.

11. Any person, whether he be a Canal Manager or not, who constructs a dam across any of the river beds referred to in rule 9, without having first obtained the written permission of the canal officer, or who, after the construction of an authorized dam, does or abets the doing of any act to impede the free flow of water through the escape channel provided for such dam, will be liable to prosecution under section 93, Act III (B.C.) of 1876, Chapter XVII of the Indian Penal Code, or otherwise as may seem proper to the Collector.

12. With reference to rule 7, paragraph 2 above, it will be competent to the Canal Manager, subject to the control of the canal officer, and on his own responsibility,* to allow the construction of such temporary dams in any of the village channels (subsidiary to the main river beds mentioned in rule 9) within his sub-district, as he may consider necessary for the proper distribution of the water-supply allotted thereto.

* With reference to the possible damage to crops, &c.

13. If one or more of the riparian proprietors desire to have a permanent dam or regulator constructed in any channel or river bed, he or they shall present an application to that effect to the Collector, who will consult the Canal Manager and the canal officer as to the desirability of constructing such dam or regulator. Should its construction be deemed desirable, the Collector will cause plans and estimates to be prepared, and he shall also call upon the applicants to deposit the cost (including cost of establishment), or to give a guarantee securing its payment when required, and providing that, if the cost of the work should, through unforeseen causes, exceed the original estimate, the balance will be made good by the applicant. The agreement will also provide for the dam or regulator being kept in proper repair, as well as for its being taken over by Government at a fair valuation, should this ever be considered expedient. The construction of such dam or regulator will be carried out by the canal officer, who shall also have power to stop all supplies of water if it is not subsequently maintained in proper repair.

14. Each application for a permanent dam or regulator will be considered on its own merits, and will only be granted on such conditions as the Collector, in consultation with the Superintending Engineer, shall consider fit.

15. A register will be kept of the owners of each permanent dam or regulator, and any person may at any time apply to the canal officer to be made a joint owner. It shall be the duty of the canal officer to report fully on the matter to the Collector, giving his own opinion as to whether the application should be allowed or rejected, provided that before reporting in favour of allowing an applicant to become a joint owner, the canal officer shall issue a notice upon the registered owner or owners, and take into consideration any objections which they may prefer. The Collector, on receipt of the proceedings may, after holding a further enquiry, if he thinks it to be necessary, pass an order (a)—rejecting the application, or (b) directing that the applicant shall be registered as a joint owner on payment of a specified sum to the registered owner or owners.

16. Persons desiring to irrigate their fields with canal water by flow or lift must apply in person or by agent to the Canal Manager, whereupon the latter shall issue a permit in the prescribed form (Appendix B). The right to irrigate without extra charge extends up to the 31st of March following, the date on which the permit was issued; provided, however, that under the operation of this rule one and the same crop be not assessed more that once. The rate charged shall not exceed Re. 1 per acre (or 12 annas per bigha), irrespective of the crops grown, except in special cases to be determined by Government.

17. Any person, other than a Canal Manager, desirous of taking water for the manufacture of indigo must apply for a permit to the Canal Manager, stating the estimated outturn, and undertaking that he will, on the 1st of October, declare the quantity he has manufactured. The charge will be at the rate of Rs. 2 per maund of indigo manufactured.

18. No person may allow water to run to waste, and no person, other than a Canal Manager, may use water for irrigation or for any other purpose without having first obtained a permit as required by the preceding two rules. Any person infringing this rule will, with the consent in writing of the Collector (but not otherwise), be charged double the ordinary rates for the water used without authority or wasted, and will, in addition, be liable, on prosecution by the Collector or canal officer, to the penalty provided by section 93 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, or by any other law under which his offence may come. The charge in such cases will, as a rule, be laid by the Canal Manager by the submission to the canal officer or Collector of an "Unauthorized Irrigation Certificate." See (Appendix C.)

19. The privileges of guarantors are as follows :—

(1) A prior claim to a supply of water for irrigation and manufacture during the continuance of their guarantee.

(2) The right to use water for manufacturing purposes free of charge.

20. Any person may apply to the Collector to become a guarantor. If the Collector accept the application, which, at his discretion, he may or may not do, he shall proceed, in communication with the canal officer, to determine whether the new guarantee shall be utilized towards extending the canals, providing distributaries or embankments, or towards reducing the responsibility of any of the original guarantors. If the original guarantor (within whose sub-district the applicant's property or interest is situated) claims a reduction in his guarantee, and can at the same time show that the application of the new guarantor towards an extension of the canal would operate to reduce his collections below the amount of his guarantee, his claims to have his guarantee reduced shall be considered: otherwise the new guarantee may be applied towards extending the canals, and an area corresponding to the applicant's property or interests be marked off to him, within which he shall exercise the rights and privileges now exercised in their sub-districts by the guarantors mentioned in paragraph 6 of these rules.

If the applicant's interest or property be not situated within any sub-district, as specified in paragraph 6, then the Collector shall apply the guarantee towards extending the benefits of the canal system.

21. The irrigation year will commence on the 1st April; and as soon as possible after the irrigation of any land has been completed or the manufacture of indigo (by a person other than the Canal Manager) has been concluded, the Canal Manager shall present the persons who used the water with bills for water-rate (in a form approved by Government), based upon the actual area irrigated or the outturn of indigo manufactured. If these bills are not paid—(a) in the case of indigo manufacture within one month after presentation, (b) in the case of rubbi crops by the 1st March, (c) in the case of other crops within one month after the crop irrigated has been cut, the Canal Manager shall, without delay, submit a list of such unpaid bills to the Collector, who will put in force the powers vested in him for the recovery of the amount due in accordance with sections 83, 84, and 85 of the Indian Irrigation Act. Such list must be supported by the counterfoils of the bills prepared by the Manager, as well as by his personal certificate, that he has satisfied himself of the justness of the claims; and in the case of unauthorized irrigation, by the "Unauthorized Irrigation Certificates" (Appendix C) required by rule 18.

22. The sums thus recovered by the Collector will be placed in his (the Collector's) accounts to the credit of the Canal Manager as a set-off against the amount due from him under his guarantee for the year during which such recoveries are made. The Canal Manager will be entitled to a commission of 20 per cent. on all recoveries (over and above the amount of his guarantee), made either by himself or by the Collector on lists submitted on or before the 31st March. Sums due on this account will not be shown by the Manager in his accounts, but will be paid to him by cheque after the adjustment by the Collector of the year's accounts. No percentage allowance will be granted to the Manager in respect of recoveries made by the Collector on lists submitted later than the 31st March, although the amount of such recoveries will, as stated above, be credited to him as an asset against the amount of his guarantee.

23. For water used by a Manager for the irrigation of his own lands, he will be charged at the ordinary rate of Re. 1 per acre (or 12 annas per bigha), and for sums due on this account he will not be entitled to any commission allowance.

24. It will be the duty of Canal Managers—

1st—To see that all permits for the use of water be issued in the prescribed form, and a copy be kept in counterfoil in books supplied for the purpose.

2nd—That copies of bills presented for payment be kept in the counterfoils supplied, for record.

3rd—That a cash-book of all receipts of water-rates be kept in form supplied for the purpose.

4th—That for all cash received receipts be granted in the form supplied by the canal officer, which will be kept in counterfoil.

5th—That all cash received be paid monthly into the sub-divisional or district treasury, and that the treasury receipts be filed with the cash-book as vouchers.

6th—To submit such returns as may be required from time to time by the Collector.

7th—To afford every facility to the canal officer and Collector in their periodical inspection of the Canal Managers' office and accounts.

25. The amount yearly guaranteed by each Manager is payable in two equal instalments, viz. on the 30th of June and the 31st December of each year, and any arrear due on either of these dates will be deemed to be a demand under Act VII (B.C.) of 1880, and shall be recoverable by the processes prescribed by the above Act.

26. A yearly adjustment up to the 31st March will be made of each Manager's account as soon as possible after the close of the official year (31st March). For this purpose each Manager will, by the 15th April, submit to the Collector in duplicate a statement in form Appendix D, with the entries of the first ten columns duly filled in. The Collector will supply the figures for the remaining columns, and return one copy to the Manager with a cheque for the sum payable on account of commission as shown in column 14, should no arrears from him be due. The Collector will also require the immediate deposit by the Manager of any arrears which may be shown to be due. Such arrears, if not paid within one month after due notice to the Manager, will be recoverable under the Certificate Procedure Act (VII B.C. of 1880).

HIGH COURT NOTICES.

THE following Minute, recorded by Mr. Justice Prinsep, after inspecting certain Civil Courts in the interior, is published for general information.

HIGH COURT ;
APPELLATE SIDE, FORT WILLIAM,
The 8*th March* 1886.

By order of the High Court,
C. A. WILKINS,
Registrar.

In his Despatch transmitting the Letters Patent constituting this High Court, the Secretary of State for India wrote :

"Clause 30 * * * * is a very important provision . . Circumstances may frequently arise when the deputation of a Judge or Judges of the High Court would be a measure of the highest expediency. For such cases the clause under consideration will enable the Government to provide by deputing one or more Judges from the High Court who would avail themselves of the opportunity thus afforded them of making seaching enquiry into the manner in which the Local Courts were performing their duties." (Sir C Wood's Despatch No. 24 of 14*th May* 1862.)

* of the Letters Patent, 1862.

The Judges of the High Court in 1865 accordingly determined that an inspection of the Lower Courts should be made, and Sir B Peacock, the Chief Justice, selected Mr. Justice Loch and Mr. Justice Elphinstone Jackson for this duty. It would have been impossible to have attempted an inspection of all the Civil Courts in Bengal. The task would have been most laborious and prolonged, and it would have resulted in no benefit at all proportionate to the time expended. It was, therefore, settled that the object in view would best be attained by inspecting the Civil Courts of all grades at the head-quarters of each district with occasional visits to other Courts conveniently situated on the line of country traversed. Mr. Justice Loch and Mr. Justice Elphinstone Jackson proceeded in different directions, and visited nearly every district in this Presidency, being engaged on this work for several months. To ensure a regular inspection of the Subordinate Civil Courts, the High Court has invariably required District Judges at short intervals to inspect the Civil Courts subordinate to them and to report the result of such inspections.

Since then no attempt has been made at any inspection of the Civil Courts by a Judge of the High Court, except in 1875, when the Courts at the head-quarters of four of the eastern districts were inspected by Mr. Justice Louis Jackson Personally I have always strongly advocated such periodical inspection, and I think that a perusal of the reports of previous inspections will show the necessity for this duty being regularly undertaken at intervals. This opinion has, however, not been generally held by the High Court of recent years. Some months ago the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal strongly represented the necessity for an inspection in consequence of what he himself had recently seen during one of his tours. It was accordingly settled that the work should be undertaken, and I was requested to perform the duty, the time allotted being somewhat limited owing to the state of the judicial work of the High Court.

It was not to be expected that any one Judge should be able in a few weeks to make a complete and thorough inspection of all the Civil Courts at the head-quarters of every district in Bengal. The work is very laborious and troublesome, and although the means of communication have greatly improved since 1865, there are still many difficulties in the way of rapid and convenient travelling which I need not here describe. It is also for many reasons very undesirable that such an inspection should be conducted by only one Judge. The experience so acquired cannot be communicated on paper ; it is obvious that greater benefit to the High Court will be derived, if such experience be more diffused among the Judges ; the inspecting Judges by communication amongst themselves will frequently be led to direct their attention to matters which must occasionally escape the notice of one of them ; the recommendations made as the result of an inspection must carry more weight if coming from several Judges ; and the duty will be more easily performed if delegated to more than one Judge. I hope, therefore, that, on the next occasion for inspecting the Courts, the work will be divided amongst two or more Judges, and that full time will be given for a thorough and complete inspection.

I have been able to visit only a few of the districts of this Presidency, and in my desire to make my inspection as much general as possible during the time allotted to me, I have endeavoured to select districts from various quarters representing the characteristics of the different litigation in our Courts, and by this means in some measure to ascertain how work is done in the Subordinate Courts in Behar, Orissa, in Suburban Districts, in Eastern Bengal, and in Chittagong. I am conscious that my work has been done somewhat hurriedly and not as thoroughly as I desired, but I had to choose between inspecting only a very few districts completely, and thus acquiring a very limited experience of a small number of Courts, and endeavouring to extend my enquiries so as to make a more general report, which may serve to show how necessary a thorough and complete inspection is. I hope that I may thus succeed in ensuring the performance of this task at an early date, and that such an inspection will extend to the entire Presidency, including the Courts that I have recently visited, so as to complete what I have been obliged to leave undone.

Most of the districts visited by me were selected by the Government of Bengal, but in order to make my inspection more general I added to this list. I visited the following districts in the order stated—

Cuttack.	Mozufferpore.
Nuddea.	Beerbhoom.
Chittagong.	Burrisaul.
Shahabad.	Jessore (including Khoolna).

En route I also visited Patna, Hajeepore, Ferozepore, and Bagirhat; but the short time that I was able to stop at these places prevents my regarding those visits as more than casual inspections. In the two places lastmentioned. I also sat with the Munsifs, but not sufficiently long to enable me to form a very definite idea of their proceedings Practically I was unable to do more than inspect the Courts at the head-quarters of the districts first-mentioned.

On an average I allowed myself one day to each Civil Court, sitting in turn with each Judicial officer and inspecting all the offices. In this latter duty I was much assisted by Baboo Krishto Prosono Bose, Serishtadar of the Judge's Court at Hooghly, a very able and experienced officer, whose services have been invaluable to me, and whose recent death is much to be lamented. After hearing each Judge try a case, or a portion of a case, it was my practice to examine the order-sheet showing the proceedings previously taken in it. Any irregularities in those proceedings were then pointed out I next examined the diary so as to learn the general course of business in the Court, and for that purpose I used to send for the records of several cases heard on previous days. The outline of my tour was never settled more than a day or so in advance. If the Courts had been so inclined, they could have no opportunity of anticipating my visits, so as to arrange their work beforehand; but even if any such preparation had been made, such as was found and described by Mr Justice Loch in 1866, it would have had little or no effect on an inspection as conducted by me. As I proceeded from district to district, I recorded notes which have been communicated to the Judges of the High Court, as well as to the officers concerned. I propose now to summarise the general result and to make such suggestions as seem to me to be likely to lead to an improvement in the administration of justice.

As regards the manner in which business is conducted and trials held in the Mofussil Courts of first instance, I have found much to commend, but I have also found everywhere a very irregular and objectionable practice before any contested case comes to trial which I will presently describe.

In Bengal, where the evidence is given and recorded in Bengali, the judicial officers, with one exception, recorded the evidence with their own hands. The depositions were afterwards read over to the witnesses generally by these officers. I observed, however, that occasionally, to save time, the depositions were read by a mohurir while the trial proceeded. This is not altogether regular, as the law (section 1·3) requires that the evidence of each witness when completed shall be read over in the presence of the Judge and of the witness, and also in the presence of the parties or their pleaders.

In Behar the evidence is recorded in the Kaithee character which none of the judicial officers can write. Consequently, the services of a mohurir are called in, and the work is not conducted with the same expedition as in Bengal. Notes of the evidence are recorded by the judicial officers, generally in English.

The provisions of the Code regarding the admission of documentary evidence are observed, and I had no reason to find fault with the conduct of trials which took place before me. Less attention is paid to the execution of decrees, because the amount of judicial work that every officer is called upon to perform leaves him little or no time for anything else. Matters connected with the execution of decrees are therefore too often left to the office establishment, and as this establishment is too weak and is underpaid, the assistance of unpaid and irresponsible apprentices is called in. That this system has worked so well is marvellous No one, however who has had any practical experience of it cannot but deprecate the causes which have necessitated a recourse to it, and therefore I trust that steps will soon be taken to remove the possibility of such abuses. I shall again refer to this subject when noticing the office establishments of the Subordinate Civil Courts.

With the proceedings during the trial of a case no very serious fault can be found, although improvement in many respects must be effected before a comparison can be challenged with Courts having superior advantages. The work is intelligently, carefully, and regularly done; further elaboration in details must follow in course of time; and as all the Courts are notoriously overworked, I was not inclined to attach very great importance to what I regarded as comparatively small matters of detail. Such criticisms seemed to me to be more likely to discourage officers whose zeal and devotion to the service cannot be too highly commended, than, in the present state of the work, to bring about any very necessary improvement.

But although, after the commencement of a trial, the proceedings are open to little objection, the system, which is everywhere in force before a contested case actually comes on for trial, cannot be too strongly condemned.

A case is rarely tried on the day originally fixed, unless it be a short case or one tried ex parte On the day fixed for its disposal, after settlement of issues, it is nearly always found that it cannot be heard because the judicial officer is engaged either on his board of short causes or is obliged to try some older case which has already been subject to the process of postponement that I am about to describe. The case is called up late in the day. If the witnesses are in attendance,—and this is rare,—they are discharged without examination, and another day is fixed, probably one month later, because arrangements have already been made for the work of the particular Court for that period, and it is not possible, without great inconvenience, to disturb those arrangements. But it not unfrequently happens that the board has been settled for a much longer period than one month, and, with the desire at least to have the appearance of endeavouring to try the case on an early date, and so to escape all risk of censure, the case is stuffed into an already over-crowded board, so that, if it is tried on that date, it displaces cases which have some claim to precedence from standing before it on the list of business, although they may not be of such old institution. Confusion consequently ensues, and it becomes almost impossible to restore a regular course of business; indeed, it is obvious that unless the work is well under control, or is not sufficient to occupy the entire time of the particular Judge, or an additional officer is sent to his assistance, order will not be restored. Unfortunately our Courts of first instance, except in rare instances, have more work than they can properly perform. Where they can get through their work, it is in many respects, especially in matters of execution, done hurriedly and in a very perfunctory manner. The system, therefore, which I have described has degenerated into something more irregular, advantage has been taken of the tenderness of the Code in providing parties with the means of enforcing the attendance of unwilling witnesses, and the parties obtain a series of postponements, until the Court is really prepared to commence the trial, without the expense and inconvenience of having their witnesses in attendance on each day fixed for trial by having recourse to sham processes. It becomes recognised that the case will not be tried on the day fixed, so neither party has his evidence ready. But unless some excuse for asking for a postponement is forthcoming, the case may be called on and dismissed on default. The defendant, too, has to be prepared for the possible contingency of the case being heard on the evidence of the plaintiff, when he may suffer if he cannot furnish some excuse for the absence of his own witnesses. The pleaders of both sides generally settle such matters amongst themselves, although occasionally it may be necessary, as I have endeavoured to show, for each side to be prepared to act independently to provide against the risk of an adverse summary order.

The law provides a possible means of escape, and the laxness with which that law has been administered affords additional facilities. A representation is made by one of the parties that some witness has failed to attend on service of summons, and a postponement is asked for in order that he may be arrested. No enquiry is made whether the other evidence is forthcoming, or, if not forthcoming, why there has been this neglect. Rarely does it happen that both parties ask for a coercive process, and from this it may fairly be inferred that the pleaders for both parties have settled amongst themselves what course should be taken; I cannot recollect ever to have found that an objection was made to a postponement thus applied for. Again, a warrant for the arrest of a witness is hardly ever executed, from which it would seem that no attempt is made to arrest him. The case comes on again in due course with the same result, only the application made is varied. A proclamation is asked for and issued requiring the attendance of the witness on a specified day to which the trial is adjourned. Again is the case called on for hearing, and it not unfrequently happens that another application for postponement on the same ground is made, and the Court is asked to attach the property of the witness. A general order of attachment goes out, and the case is again postponed. Even then I have found further adjournments apparently for the same cause. In one district I found that a new kind of proclamation had been invented—a kind of desperate notice that the Court was this time in earnest, and that whatever happened the case would be tried. Sometimes also, after all these coercive processes had been exhausted, I have found an order passed that ten days' time is allowed to the parties to produce their evidence. In one case I found that on the day fixed for trial no evidence was forthcoming on either side, but the plaintiff's pleader obtained a warrant for the arrest of one of his witnesses, although some others amongst them had also been served, and were absent, and at each stage of the case the same witness was pursued by the entire series of processes until eventually the case was tried, no notice being taken of the contumacy of this witness who was eventually examined and discharged. Then the trial begins, the witnesses on whom repeated processes have failed to make any impression, attend of their own accord, the evidence is recorded, and judgment delivered; but no notice is ever taken of the contempt of Court committed. The witnesses are discharged without being even asked to explain the cause of their previous absence.

There is unfortunately nothing new in the practice that I have described. It was condemned by Mr. Justice Loch and Mr. Justice Elphinstone Jackson in 1865, and it has been repeatedly denounced ever since whenever it has come under the notice of the High Court. But although I have found this system in full force everywhere, I am glad to be able to add that I have not found in any case that, when the trial has once commenced, its course has been interrupted by the discharge of witnesses in attendance and an order for their return for examination after an interval. The provisions of section 156 of the Code in this respect are, I believe, carefully observed.

The system has taken such firm root that it has become extremely difficult to eradicate it. Subordinate Judges who hear the majority of appeals have been brought up in it, and are therefore inclined to regard any strictness of procedure on the part of a Munsif in trying cases on the days fixed and in dealing with them summarily on default of evidence as an unnecessary innovation resulting in hardship to the parties and a probable failure of justice. A Munsif may announce his determination to try cases out on the days fixed for trial on whatever evidence may be forthcoming, but the pleaders and parties will not readily accept this order, and the result will be that cases will be decided on deficient evidence, or decreed ex parte, or dismissed on default. The Munsif will become extremely unpopular. He will earn the unenviable reputation of being summary and unjust. Complaints will be made everywhere—in the Native Press, anonymously to all his superiors in turn, until they reach the High Court and even the Government. His labours to restore order will not be recognised, for his orders will, on appeal, be set aside by the Subordinate Judge, the cases being returned for re-trial; he will become disheartened; and he will probably suffer in promotion for the unfavourable reputation he has earned, without proper enquiry into its cause.

Any reform must, in my opinion, commence at the top. As Courts of first instance, Subordinate Judges have less excuse for postponing a case than Munsifs. The cases coming before them are fewer in number, and therefore their work shou'd be more under control. It should be impressed upon them that original suits, in which the persons concerned are more numerous, should always be heard before appeals, and that if the postponement of any case is necessary, an appeal should always make way for an original suit. In their desire to show good returns of work in mere figures, it has become the habit of Subordinate Judges to postpone original suits, especially a long and tedious one, at the end of a quarter, in order to decide a number of appeals, and so present a good array of figures in their returns of work. This must be watched and stringently repressed. The Courts of Appeal through an examination of the order sheet, have the means of learning the course of a trial ready at hand and can therefore easily take notice of any unnecessary postponements on frivolous grounds. If therefore the absolute necessity for a change of practice and regularity be enforced on the superior Courts of first instance, the Subordinate Judges, these officers will in turn realise the necessity of insisting on the same system in the Courts of the Munsifs. But here we are met with a very great difficulty. The Subordinate Judges generally can keep their files of original suits under control, for as Courts of first instance they are not overworked. It is only when in addition to such work they are required to try appeals that more work is thrown upon them than they can properly perform. Original suits, too, are instituted in the Courts of the Subordinate Judges without any remarkable increase at any particular period of the year. In both these respects the work in a Munsif's Court differs most materially. It is the exception, and a rare exception, to find that any Munsif can keep his work thoroughly under control. As a rule, every Munsif is called upon to do much more than he can properly undertake. They all feel that the work must be done, or their individual reputations will suffer. Incessant and most laborious application to his work may enable a Munsif to exhibit a clear file, but it rarely ensures at the same time a satisfactory result as regards the quality of his work. In April—that is, about the end of the Bengali year—there is always a rush of suits, principally rent-suits. Instead of coming in by tens they are instituted by hundreds, so as to obstruct and disarrange the work of the Courts. Many of these cases never come to trial, but are settled out of Court. Obviously no information can be obtained of this probable result in any case, so they have all to be set down for trial in the usual manner. The Munsifs, however, put on the daily board a larger number than usual, trusting to the probability of many being decided on default, or on compromise, or decreed ex-parte; but it constantly happens that some of the cases on any particular day are contested, and consequently postponements commence, and this with an overcrowded file means confusion. Additional officers must be appointed to meet this pressure and to ensure the regularity of the work in our Courts. I have in a separate memorandum shown the absolute necessity for adding to the number of our existing Courts by showing the gradual and enormous increase of work coming before those Courts, the heavy arrear accumulating on their files, and that the increase in the number of the Courts is not at all proportionate to the increase of work. If the number of cases that the majority of our Judges decide be taken into consideration, it will be seen that good work cannot reasonably be expected from them, and we too often find that the struggle to perform an almost impossible task had led to the most serious consequences to the health of our Judges. To ensure a better administration of justice more Judges must be appointed, and greater facilities must be given for the appointment of any additional officer to meet a sudden emergency. The fluctuations of work in the Munsifs' Courts no doubt present a great difficulty in enforcing any regular system, still more attention should be paid to the fixing of cases for particular days. A little experience and care in ascertaining the nature of a case when instituted, either from the plaint itself or from enquiry from the pleaders engaged, will enable a Munsif to avoid overcrowding his board. In the course of my inspection I found certainly one instance of such a careful practice which led to most excellent results. I have little doubt that, if not discouraged by the Courts of Appeal, Munsifs will enforce trials on the days fixed and refuse postponements on frivolous grounds, and that pleaders and parties will learn that they must be prepared with their evidence when their case is called on There should also be a rule that a case once postponed for want of leisure shall never again be postponed, but that, except for very special reasons to be recorded, it will be heard on the second day fixed, care being taken that that day is tolerably clear from other work and not already occupied with numerous cases fixed for it. By such means I think that some improvement will be effected. The only substantial remedy is to appoint more Judges and to provide them with better accommodation and office establishments, stronger in numbers, and properly paid.

I have next found that, in consequence of their being overburdened with judicial work, the subordinate Judicial officers are unable to attend properly to matters connected with the execution of decrees or to any miscellaneous work. This work is, therefore, either with Amla, who are underpaid, or with apprentices, who are supposed to live on their prospects of future employment, and are engaged simply because the ordinary office establishments are altogether inadequate to discharge the duties expected from them. Our Judicial officers have justly earned the highest reputation for devotion to the service and integrity, but under the system under which they are obliged to work, the Civil Courts cannot be supposed to be above suspicion of corruption, and so long as sufficient and properly-paid establishments are not allowed, it is hopeless to expect that this stigma will be removed. I can imagine no fitter nursery for every malpractice than a service of some years as an unpaid apprentice, followed by appointment on the regular establishment on an inadequate salary. It has long been admitted by Government that the highest of the ministerial officers, Serishtadars, especially in District Courts, are underpaid; the Court-fees realised in the Civil Courts have, year after year, realized a large surplus income to Government after meeting all expenses connected with those Courts; the fees realised by affidavits in Mofussil Courts which have been earned by the additional work thrown on Serishtadars have in recent years yielded a very considerable sum, and yet the repeated and urgent representations of the High Court for an increase of pay to these officers have time after time met with no response from Government, except an admission of the necessity and the justice of the claim made on behalf of these officers, coupled with an almost indefinite postponement of any concession to them. Recently we have received a letter from Government deferring a consideration of the matter until the conclusion of an enquiry likely to last more than one year into the establishments of executive officers by a specially appointed Commission. It it is not easy to understand why there should be any postponement of recognised claims with money forthcoming to satisfy them, or why any preference should be shown to the establishments of executive officers.

The next matter to which I would draw attention is the insufficient and inappropriate accommodation generally given to Civil Courts. It cannot but be admitted that of late years there has been some improvement effected, but the first thing that must strike the most casual visitor at any civil station, either the head-quarters of a district or at a sub-division of a district, is the great inferiority of the accommodation given to Civil Judges as compared with every other department of Government. My observations are defective in so much as they are founded on visits to only some of the districts of Bengal, but still the places visited were selected at random, and there is no reason to believe that I was particularly unfortunate in the places inspected. The Munsifs' Courts are nearly always in most unsuitable structures. In many places the Munsifs sit in hovels unfit for human habitation—dark, badly ventilated, and filthy. At some places mat bungalows have been erected on a standard pattern. No doubt these are an improvement on the places in which the Courts used to be held, but still these cannot be regarded as suitable court-houses. The accommodation is generally insufficient, and the retention of valuable papers in a thatched mat-house is attended with the greatest risk. Let any one contrast even these improved court-houses with the Court of a Sub-divisional Magistrate or even the local post office or telegraph station, and the inferiority is most striking; but how much more so in the case of the huts or sheds in which many Munsifs' Courts are still located. The worst instances were found by me at Arrah, Hajeepore, Burrisaul, and Jessore. At Arrah there has been correspondence going on for some four years regarding the erection of the Civil Courts, which in course of time has developed the preparation of plans and estimates as well as the selection of a suitable site. Matters advanced up to the collection of material on that site, but because some other department required this material the bricks have been carted off elsewhere, and everything remains still on paper promises, the fulfilment of which depends on the existence of surplus funds, although these were available to use material specially collected for this purpose.

In Hajeepore, the Munsif's Court was held in a dirty, dark kutcha bungalow, a remarkable contrast to the Sub-divisional Magistrates' Courts, and the official residence, both of which have been recently added to and improved at some expense,—the Munsif's Court, although much worse than the then existing Criminal Courts, being, at the same time, neglected.

In Burrisaul I found four Munsifs huddled together in a dirty dilapidated house, one of these Munsifs sitting in an exposed side verandah indifferently protected by a slanting mat from sun and rain. The unsuitableness of this accommodation was noticed by the Lieutenant-Governor about two years ago, and orders were issued for the preparation of proper Courts, but there matters remain.

At Jessore a magnificent range of offices with all the newest improvements had just been finished for the Revenue and Magisterial officers, and thus had placed some rooms in the old court-house at the disposal of the District Judge: but I still found one of the Munsifs holding his Court in a hut affording a striking contrast to the spacious accommodation and æsthetic brick buildings of even the neighbouring Post Office and Registration Office.

The Patna offices are also exceedingly bad and unsuitable.

But at sub-divisions the contrast between the accommodation given to Judicial and Executive officials is especially remarkable in their private arrangements. I have already referred to Hajeepore, but the same unequality can be seen everywhere. The contrast is not only in the court-houses, but in arrangements made for private accommodation. The Deputy Magistrate lives in comfort in a building belonging to Government; the Munsif must be content with the best lodging that he can procure; and when his Court is often placed in a small village, the only lodging procurable is so unsuitable that he is forced to send his wife and family to his own home. Is it surprising that, with such disadvantages the Executive should be regarded as the favoured service and that Judicial officers should feel that their interests and comforts are neglected? In education, in intelligence, in devotion to the public service, in public estimation, I venture to state that the officers of the Subordinate Judicial Service are not surpassed by those of any other department under Government. As a separate department Civil Justice yields a large income to Government. Why, then, should the claims of this branch of the public service always be deferred to those of other departments? It is notorious that a Collector, a District Magistrate, or even a District Superintendent of Police finds little difficulty in obtaining funds for any improvement to his offices or even to that of a subordinate. I have myself seen the most elaborate iron racks in the office of a District Officer at a cost of about Rs. 27,000. But the obstacles placed in the way of District Judges in course of time deter their asking for the most trifling extra expenditure, and even admitted claims are so constantly postponed that they are apt to be lost sight of. I do not pretend to have penetrated the system of the distribution of public funds among the different departments, but I am inclined to think from the indifferent state of the court-houses and the difficulty experienced in obtaining an increase of the salaries of Serishtadars and from similar matters that the interests of this important department are not properly advocated in the first instance, and are not properly maintained when, for some reason or other, a retrenchment is necessary in one of several departments I am conscious of my inability to ascertain the real cause of this persistent parsimony in the department of Civil Justice, but whatever be its cause, I trust that in the future its claims may be more recognised and more jealously watched until they are actually satisfied.

I now propose to consider points of procedure on which I would suggest some alterations so as to facilitate the work of our Courts.

There is a very great loss of time in recording evidence in the vernacular and reading it over to a witness at the close of his examination. This is most noticeable in Behar, where the Court language is Kaithee. It will, I think, be admitted that, as a rule, evidence is most carefully recorded in the Civil Courts. Where the Judge is able to do so he himself record the evidence in his own handwriting, and where he cannot do so he records a full memo. nearly always in English, as the Amla records the deposition itself in the vernacular. The reading in Kaithee is very tedious, for it is notorious that a man finds difficulty in reading his own handwriting in that character. Now in criminal cases, for many years past, the records has been written in English by all European officers and by Native Magistrates specially empowered to do so. I can see no valid reason why this system should not be introduced into our Civil Courts. Where a Judge is able to write the deposition himself as made to him, this might continue, but where he cannot do so, I would suggest that he be empowered to write it in English. In the Bengal districts the law which requires evidence to be recorded in the Court language has the effect of making it impossible for the District Judge, and for him alone, to record the evidence of a witness himself, although he is the Chief Judge of the district. I have never been able to understand this restriction, specially as it has the effect of deterring a District Judge from trying original suits, for he finds—and I speak from personal experience—that his time can be better occupied on other work than in supervising the work of an unintelligent deposition-writer, so as to make the record correspond with his own memo. of the evidence.

Section 141 of the Code seems unnecessarily to impose too much work on Judicial officers. It requires that before a document shall be filed as part of the record of a suit under trial, it shall have been endorsed by the Judge with his own hand, with a statement that it was proved or admitted by the person against whom it is used. This is particularly onerous in rent-suits where a mass of rent receipts may have been tendered in evidence—indeed, from the size and description of the paper used for such documents, no such endorsement is possible. The Judges, however, as a rule, themselves number these papers, besides signing and dating them—a proceeding which interrupts the trial and occupies some time when this duty can be performed equally well by some ministerial officer. The use of some stamp would accelerate the despatch of business. Section 82 requires that evidence recorded even by the Judge himself shall be read over to the witness "in the presence of the Judge and of the witness, and also in the presence of the parties or their pleaders." It seems to me that it is sufficient that this should be read over to the witness himself by a ministerial officer. The procedure prescribed tends very considerably to prolong the course of a trial, and the corrections made are exceedingly rare, probably not more than once in the trial of very many cases. The procedure suggested by me is adopted on the Original Side of the High Court and affords a sufficient safeguard against any mistake.

The system of giving copies works excellently under intelligent and careful supervision where the Serishtadar feels the importance of this department of the office and himself superintends it. Where he neglects this duty, confusion reigns; delays in furnishing copies are so great that parties do not find it worthwhile to enquire about them, and abuses of every kind naturally prevail. The rules introduced are good so far as they go, but they are not sufficiently precise so as to prescribe the duty of every one concerned in this work. Until this is done, every opportunity will be taken to evade the object of these rules and to place difficulties in the punctual despatch of business. (Since writing this I have learnt that such rules are under preparation.)

Complaints were made to me everywhere regarding the charge for copies. The matter has been under consideration by the High Court more than once. I am inclined to think that the average number of words in each line might be increased, and the comparing charges, which are as high as the copying charges, might be considerably reduced, having regard to the amount of smaller labour involved in comparing. I think also that the searching fees might be reduced. Where a full description of the record is given so as to enable the Record Officer easily to produce it, the fee should not be on the same scale as where a very insufficient or incorrect description is given. There is certainly no tendency either on the part of the Courts or their subordinate establishments to relax the rule regarding the levy of fees. The inclination is decidedly against affording any facilities to suitors. This was brought to my notice constantly in the matter of process-fees.

The process-fees fixed by Rules passed under the Court-Fees Act seem in many respects to be unnecessarily high. These fees were, like the copying-fees, fixed tentatively. The intention was to fix them at the lowest rates possible, consistent with providing for the expense caused, and in order to attain this it was necessary to give a margin to ensure against any loss to Government. No reliable data were available to guide those who fixed the rates. The result has been a very considerable profit to Government after providing for all charges. The fees for attachments of property are too heavy when applied to attachment of several properties. A separate fee should not be levied invariably for each property attached. In one case it was pointed out to me there were 150 properties to be attached; none of these were at any distance from the others, but yet 150 fees—that is, Rs. 150—were required before attachment was issued; and fees similarly calculated, but double, as the rate is Rs. 2, were levied for issue of proclamations of sale. These fees were more than sufficient to pay for the establishment employed by twenty or thirty fold. Some provisions should be made for the payment of fees at a lower rate if more than four or five properties are to be attached or sold situate within a reasonable and specified distance from one another. The rates for the services of an officer to be left in possession of the attached property are also too high—6 annas per diem is at the rate of more than Rs. 11 per month, but only some of the peons receive monthly salaries so high as Rs. 10, and as a considerable time must necessarily expire between the dates of attachment and sale, the expense incurred on this account must be immoderate, especially in the case of crops.

I can understand why the fee for attachment of the person or arrest, as it is termed, in execution of decree has been fixed at a high rate, but the rate, Rs. 10, is prohibitory, which cannot have been intended. I would lower this fee by one-half.

To require a fee for an order for sale of attached property and again another fee for service of proclamation of sale seems unnecessarily severe.

The rule regarding the payment of poundage on the gross amount realised by an execution sale and then to charge it as costs as against the judgment-debtor is, in my opinion, open to objection. I can understand that a percentage should be levied on the amount realised towards satisfaction of a decree, but it is difficult to understand on what principle a debtor should be obliged to pay a percentage on anything over and above that sum. Commission is charged by an auctioneer at voluntary sales on the sum realised; but why should the difficulties of a debtor be enhanced by such a commission being charged on a forced sale? It is notorious that a lower price is realised at such sales, but yet the proprietor has to suffer additional loss by paying commission on the full sum realised though it may exceed the amount of the debt.

In connection with this matter of poundage on sales, I would refer to the practice in allowing a decree-holder to bid at an execution-sale. The law enables a person to purchase property put up for sale in execution of his decree only with the permission of the Court previously obtained. This I have found to be very rarely refused,—in fact it is never refused except when there is more than one decree to be satisfied. The reasons for withholding permission to bid in such cases is the difficulty of requiring the decree-holder to make payment in cash instead of setting off the amount of the decree in satisfaction of the price bid. Sometimes permission is granted conditional on cash payment being made so that a rateable distribution may be made amongst all the decree-holders. The law (section 294 of the Code) has apparently overlooked this contingency, as it leaves it optional with decree-holder purchasing with the permission of the Court to set off the amount of his decree against the purchase money. If the permission to purchase has been granted unconditionally, and the purchasing decree-holder should elect to set off the purchase-money against his decree, other decree-holders entitled to a rateable distribution are unable to obtain any satisfaction of their demands. It may well be considered whether, if a decree-holder applies for permission to puchase and becomes the purchaser, the charge on account of poundage should not fall only upon him, and whether the judgment-debtor should not be relieved from it in that contingency.

The rate fixed for notices and proclamations in suits for debt or damage to personal property, or for rent involving a lesser sum than Rs. 50, I observe is higher than the rate fixed for a summons on a defendant, whereas in other suits the rates are equal. The effect of this is to add materially to the costs of execution in such petty cases, whereas I apprehend the contrary object is desired.

I have endeavoured to show in what respects the fees are too heavy in execution proceedings, but these have been unfortunately increased, and without any corresponding benefit, by rules framed by the High Court under section 287 of the Code. The object of these rules was to have some enquiry made into the title of the judgment-debtor to the attached property, so as to notify that title with some accuracy in the proclamation of sale, and by affording some security to bidders as to its probable value, to realise a better price for the benefit of both decree-holder and judgment-debtor. With this object it was directed that notice should be given to the parties to attend and settle the sale-proclamation. The decree-holder being present, verbal intimation sufficed, but it has become the practice to serve a regular notice on the judgment-debtor, who was almost invariably absent and unrepresented. This has necessitated the payment of a fee which varies from Rs. 2 in the superior to Re. 1 in the lower Courts. In the course of my inspection I have always asked whether judgment-debtors ever attend on service of this notice, and I have always been told that they never do attend unless it be to object to the regularity of some of the previous proceedings in execution. The cost of the notice, however, adds materially to the costs of these proceedings. (It may perhaps be said, and with some force, that the conduct of debtors shows that they are not entitled to any consideration in this respect. But we should rather consider the full operation of these rules and how far they have succeeded in any respect except in adding to the cost and delays in bringing about the sale.) The next step is the affidavit of the decree-holder that he has made search in the Registration Office for incumbrances on the particular property and the result of such enquiry. The same information comes from every Court regarding this proceeding. As a rule, no enquiry is made or indeed can be made. If any endeavour is made in this direction, the Registration Officers point to some twenty registers, in some of which information, such as is required, may possibly be found. Few persons are competent, and still fewer have any leisure or inclination, to undertake such a task. So an affidavit sufficient to satisfy the Court is made that after search no incumbrance has been discovered, and to this affidavit there is attached, as a sort of voucher, that some search has been made, the receipt given by the Registration Officer for searching-fees paid. As a matter of fact, in nearly every case no real search has ever been made. If any incumbrance is notified, it is because it is a matter of local notoriety, or the incumbrancer has learnt of the attachment, and comes forward to protect himself. The affidavit and search, however, involve additional expenditure, and add further to the costs without any corresponding advantage to any one except the Government which takes the fees. So after some delay and the incurring of these additional costs, the sale-proclamation is settled almost always precisely in the terms in which the property was described by the decree-holder when he asked for an order of sale. The rules were primarily to relieve judgment-debtors by endeavouring to secure a better price for properties sold. I have failed to obtain any reliable information that this result has been attained. And, after all, it may well be asked whether judgment-debtors, who have studiously abstained from assisting the Courts thus benevolently endeavouring to relieve them, or who have even, as frequently happens, striven to obscure or repudiate their own title by setting up directly or indirectly that of a relative or dependent, are entitled to such consideration. To punish them by adding to the costs incurred in bringing the property to sale seems a strange departure from the original intention, while the delays which necessarily result are a serious inconvenience and vexation to decree-holders. It must naturally be a matter for mere speculation, since statistics could not be obtained on which any reliable conclusion could be formed, but I do not believe that any litigation has been avoided by such attempts to obtain better titles for auction-purchasers under these rules. Some improvement might be attained if a certificate were required from a Registration Officer regarding the result of enquiry into the title of an attached property, but I doubt extremely whether these officers would accept such a responsibility, and even if they did it would be impossible for any Court to control them so as to insist on a return being made within a reasonable time. The result would probably be a further delay in the holding of sales, and in the realisation of judgment-debts. I think therefore that a very radical alteration should be made in the rules.

The efficiency of the process-serving establishment naturally depends upon the capacity and supervision of the nazir. This has varied very considerably in the districts that I have visited. Sometimes I have found a regular system and a careful supervision that was most creditable. Complaints were rare, and when made they were carefully attended to. In order districts I found that matters were ill-regulated; in the desire to show a large surplus revenue, too many processes were made over at one time to the same peon with the certain consequence that either service was not properly made, or that returns were not made to the Courts on or before the days fixed for trial. In such districts, too, I heard complaints of delay in service of notices of appeal to respondents, such as to prevent their having an opportunity of objecting to a portion of the decree. I also occasionally found, with much regret, that in these districts complaints of the misconduct of peons received little attention; that there were delays in hearing them so as to discourage those who had suffered and had been compelled to make them; and that sometimes the punishments awarded were altogether inadequate to the character of the misconduct. These are matters that cannot be dealt with except by the Courts immediately concerned. I lost no opportunity of impressing the great importance of attention and strict discipline everywhere. I regretted also to find that some peons were still retained in nearly every district visited by me who were unable to read and write. These peons, I was always told, were old officers. Many years have, however, passed since the salaries of peons were raised, and the necessity for some education amongst the men employed was strictly enjoined. I cannot understand how a man who cannot read and write can possibly distinguish between a bundle of some twenty processes made over for service, or at all events, how he can possibly hope to distinguish amongst them so as to make proper returns of their service. No doubt some hardship must follow, but it is high time now that some term should be fixed within which the services of such men should be dispensed with in the interests of the public service.

I observed that in every station many peons, sometimes nearly one quarter of the total number, were not employed on serving processes but on other work, although their salaries were charged to the process-serving fund. Their duties were to keep order in Court, to wait on the various branches in the office, to assist the Record Office, or to guard the Court premises. The process fund is a special fund designed for a special purpose. Monies derived from process-fees cannot fairly be applied in maintaining establishments the duties of which are entirely of a different character. The fees realised might as properly be applied to the maintenance of police. The fact is that certain chuprassees are absolutely necessary in all these offices. These chuprassees some years ago used to be specially entertained for the Courts. For purposes of economy they were abolished, but without proper consideration of the probable result. They have now been retained in another form, but the expenditure falls on suitors rather than on Government. I wish prominently to call attention to this, because, although there is a large surplus shown to the credit of the process-serving establishment, a much larger surplus should be shown if the salaries of these men be excluded. The results therefore are such as justify a reduction in the fees charged such as I have recommended, or even to a still greater extent

I have occasionally had complaints made to me regarding the manner in which Amins do their work. It was fairly said that the power in the hands of such men with some professional knowledge is almost absolute, and is very often improperly exercised with little possibility of supervision. A slight alteration in an angle may cost one of the parties the loss of a considerable piece of land, and though the injustice of this result may be patent, it requires professional knowledge which may not be available to detect and expose the source of the error. The remedy is to employ a superior class of men, and this necessarily involves the payment of higher salaries. The difficulty in altering the system arises from the attempt to adjust all receipts and expenditure on this account, not only in the general result, but district by district. This is, I think, attempting more than should be expected. Unfortunately, too, the spread of professional knowledge for such work has been slow, and there are seldom available for employment competent persons unconnected with the Courts whose services can be utilised to check the proceedings of Court Amins. The income derived from other sources connected with the administration of civil justice is so considerable that I think a small deficiency in one department, which cannot be made self supporting, consistent with a proper administration, may be conceded. I would therefore recommend the gradual employment of a superior and higher class of Amins in some districts, where cases of some importance requiring their services are of comparatively frequent occurrence. The more insignificant cases might be left to an Amin of a lower grade, and the more competent and reliable officer might occasionally be employed to check the work of these officers. Some such reform is absolutely necessary, for the inferior and unreliable work of the Amins is a blot on our administration, and the necessity which too frequently occurs for a second, and even a third, measurement and survey leads to much confusion, and adds considerably te the expenses of a suit.

I have carefully examined the Record Officers of the District Courts that I inspected, and I also examined the Record Office at Patna, though I was unable to stop to inspect the Courts at that station In each instance, I have noted separately the result of my examination. Except in Chittagong, where a new Record Office should be built, and at Suri (Beerbhoom) where the opening of communication with an adjoining room and a slight re-arrangement of the office accommodation is necessary, the Record Offices inspected—that is, at Arrah, Mozufferpore, Bankipore, Krishnagur, Jessore, Backergunge and Cuttack—are sufficiently commodious for the requirements of several years to come. In some instances better racks should be given, and in others some new racks, reaching to the ceiling, should be constructed. I have pointed out these defects to the District Judges concerned, and recommended that they should apply for what is needed. The work in the Record Offices is generally much in arrear. At Chittagong, as I have already reported, the Record Office is in a state of uttar confusion; at Jessore, though there is some attempt at arrangement, there are no catalogues of the records preserved, and there are considerable arrears in the current work. Elsewhere there are arrears varying in magnitude for which extra temporary establishments have been obtained, or are necessary. The state of the record-rooms generally requires more personal attention from District Judges. The existence of such arrears everywhere is principally due to the gradual increase cf litigation for many years past, which has thrown much additional work on the record establishments. These establishments have, however, remained stationary, and have not been strengthened so as to deal with this additional work. The work thrown upon Record-keepers and the responsibilities of that office have largely increased under the practice introduced by the Government and the High Court of examining court-fee labels on the records and re-punching them: also of granting certificates of monies realised in execution of decrees. The duty of supplying any new statistics that may be required is also thrown upon the Record Office. All this has contributed to the accumulation of arrears, and not only are additional temporay establishments necessary, but the office allowed must permanently be strengthened. I have endeavoured, in communication with the District Judges whom I have met, to make some recommendations on both these points. It will be a matter of no difficulty to determine what is required elsewhere, having regard to the existing state of the record-rooms and the number of records annually received. In connection with this subject I would mention that I have occasionally found apprentices and even process-serving peons employed in Record Offices. I have not attempted to order them to be excluded, because I felt that until a proper establishment was sanctioned, serious inconvenience would result from depriving the Record Officers of such assistance. At the same time, I think that this system of employing irresponsible and unpaid men in such an office cannot be too strongly condemned, and I trust that orders may soon be passed which will enable the District Judges to dispense with the services of such men.

It is probably unnecessary to say much on what is known as the system of Rent-Suit Munsif, by which is meant the practice under which, where there are two or more Munsifs at the same station, it is usual to vest one with powers of a Small Cause Judge to try suits of value not exceeding Rs 50, and to direct that he do also try all rent-suits, while the more difficult suits, connected with title to land, are tried by the other Munsif. The primary object is to accelerate the decision of petty cases and suits under the Rent Law, and it was calculated that ordinarily this would effect a fair division of the work. I am inclined to think that in both these objects this system has failed, and that in other respects it is undesirable. A system is in force under which all petty suits and rent-suits, as well as uncontested suits of all kinds, are always first taken up by Civil Courts, the preference alone being given to a part-heard case of the previous day. If, therefore, these petty suits and rent-suits be tried by two or more Munsifs instead of by only one, they are more likely to be tried by a greater number of officers instead of constituting the sole work of one officer. By these means also the labours of all officers will be equalised, whereas under the special system one officer becomes a machine to decide the easiest class of cases, while the other officer is called upon constantly to exercise all his powers in the decision of difficult and involved cases. Nor is the division of the work at all equal. Towards the end of March and during April, the end of the Bengali year, there is an extraordinary flood of suits under the Rent Law. The Special Munsif and his establishment have the greatest difficulty in dealing with these suits in their preliminary stages; eventually the pressure is more than one officer can bear, and so it nearly always happens that a large number of these suits are transferred to the other Munsif. Later in the year, the Special Munsif frequently finds himself with little work, whereas the transfer of rent-suits has deranged the file of the other Munsif, and thus a transfer of the other kind of suits becomes necessary, and all attempts to ensure any regularity in either Court fails. I should have thought that, with the practice of invariably giving precedence to petty cases, rent-suits, and uncontested cases which is everywhere prevalent, it would require little argument to show that a division of local jurisdiction among the Munsifs, instead of a division of their actual work, would be an arrangement infinitely preferable. However, the new Rent Law will introduce a change in the manner of trying the less important cases under it, and therefore it is hardly necessary to pay much attention to a system which must be re considered.

I have already adverted to the insufficiency of the ministerial establishments allowed to the Subordinate Civil Courts and the inadequacy in the rates of pay. During my tour I have had brought to my notice several instances in which it was clear that particular Amla should be transferred to another locality, either because they were employed where they had many local connections, or for some other similar reason. For many years it has been the rule to transfer Judicial officers after service in any particular place, and the benefits of such a system have been admitted. But it is even more necessary occasionally to transfer ministerial officers, for it not unfrequently happens that a Munsif finds it almost impossible to counteract the influence of his Amla. Ministerial establishments have, since 1871, been placed directly under Government, and therefore in representing this matter I trust that District Judges may be directed occasionally to transfer subordinate Amla. I am aware that such transfer must be attended with much hardship. The pay of an Amla is not more than sufficient to maintain him near his own home, and he can ill-afford the expense of a transfer. Still the interests of the public service, in my opinion, demand occasional removals, and this will, I trust, be borne in mind in any re-adjustment of salaries. It is especially desirable that the higher ministerial officers should not be employed in districts in which their homes are, and though from the higher character of such officers occasional transfers are not so necessary as in the case of the ordinary Amla, I am inclined to think that such transfers are often attended with the best results.

I trust that I have shown the necessity for a more complete and early inspection of our Civil Courts, and I strongly recommend that such inspections shall in future be at shorter intervals than heretofore. I feel sure that much benefit must result from such inspections, especially amongst the less experienced of our officers. The faults of many of our Judges are, I believe, due to their never having learnt how to do their work, and to their having generally, through a mistaken idea of their own responsibilities and duties, followed a wrong system. They thus occupy themselves in enquiring into details so as to lose sight of the real points at issue, and needlessly waste their time, while failing to grasp the merits of a case. It is almost hopeless to expect that any Judge, who after several years has become inured to such a system, can be induced to adopt another, but the younger officer will always be found most anxious to receive any instruction. I have thus observed Judges hearing Civil Appeals, reading the entire record for themselves instead of adopting the usual course of requiring the pleaders to point to the evidence on which they rely in support of their arguments. Some I have seen with the entire record transliterated for easy reference, and others I have found following a practice introduced by a predecessor which they have hesitated to alter, although it did not commend itself to them. There are minor points of practice to which I might also refer, on all of which, even during a very short visit I was able to afford instruction.

The object of my deputation was not to inspect the Criminal Courts, and the time at my disposal would not have admitted of my doing so, but I desire to state my opinion that an inspection by a Judge or Judges of the High Court is necessary, especially to ascertain the manner in which business is transacted by Benches of Magistrates. It has also been brought to my notice that the Sessions Judges, who, as Courts of Appeal, alone see the original work done by Magistrates of the first class, and as Sessions Courts try cases committed by them, have no opportunity of expressing any opinion, and as a matter of fact are never sked their opinions regarding such officers. It is only in somewhat recent years that this has been discontinued. Promotion is accordingly given on opinions expressed by District Magistrates and Commissioners, and therefore only on executive capacity exhibited. This is as great a mistake as to promote such officers solely for judicial capacity, and cannot but act prejudicially to the proper performance of their judicial work. On the other hand, the opinions of Sessions Judges are asked regarding Magistrates of the second class before they receive higher powers, when obviously the Judges can have had little opportunity of forming any opinion of the work of these officers, since they can see only cases committed by Magistrates of the second class, and necessarily few, and those very unimportant cases, are so committed, the bulk of this class of work falling to the more experienced Magistrates of the first class.

IT is ordered, under the provisions of section 6 of the Evidence by Commission Act 1859 (22 Vic., C. 20), and section 5 of the Evidence by Commission Act, 1885 (48 and 49, Vic., C. 74), that the following rules be passed for regulating the procedure under the said Acts:—

1. The provisions of the Civil Procedure Code relating to the summoning, attendance and examination of witnesses shall apply in the case of persons required to give evidence or produce documents under the said Evidence by Commission Acts.

2. The provisions of the Civil Procedure Code, and so far as they are applicable, the rules and tables of fees and circular orders of the Calcutta High Court now in force, or which may hereafter from time to time be in force, relating to the costs of, or incidental to, the examination of witnesses, including the remuneration of the examiner, shall apply to cases where persons are required, under the said Evidence by Commission Acts, to give evidence, or produce documents, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Calcutta High Court, or beyond such limits and within its general jurisdiction.

NOTIFICATION.

The 27th February 1886.

THE following Rules have been passed by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal under section 104 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, and are now published for general information.

By order,

R. BELCHAMBERS, Registrar.

IT is ordered, under the provisions of section 104 of the Transfer of Property Act, IV of 1882, that Rule 555 in Belchambers' Rules and Orders be amended by substituting the words "the period allowed for payment by section 86, 88 or 92 of the Transfer of Property Act, IV of 1882," for the words "the date of the decree," and that the following rule be passed as a rule of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, with effect from the first day of March 1886:—

Every certificate or report of the Registrar or other referee, stating what is due to the mortgagee in a mortgage suit, shall, on being confirmed by effluxion of time or otherwise, be submitted in open Court to a Judge exercising Original Civil Jurisdiction, in order that it may be countersigned by him, and the period for payment under section 86, 88 or 92 of the Transfer of Property Act shall run from the date of such countersignature, which shall be deemed to be a declaration of the amount under the provisions of those sections.

NOTIFICATION.

THE following draft Rules, which the High Court propose to make under the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, VIII of 1885, are published for general information, as required by section 190 of the said Act.

These draft Rules will be taken into further consideration on or after the 24th day of March 1886.

By order of the High Court,
O. A. WILKINS, Registrar.

HIGH COURT, CALCUTTA, the 22nd February 1886.

Rules under Section 100.

1. Every manager, appointed under Chapter IX of the Bengal Tenancy Act, shall in all matters act in accordance with such orders as may, from time to time, be issued by the District Judge.

2. The manager shall pay the Government revenue, rent, and other demands of the like nature, as also all just liabilities upon the estate, in due and proper time.

3. No manager shall have power to sell or mortgage any property, nor shall he grant or renew a lease for any period exceeding three years without the express sanction of the District Judge. Provided that this rule shall not render valid any lease for a shorter time than three years, if such lease is disapproved of by the District Judge, or if the District Judge directs that his sanction is to be obtained as regards all leases granted by the manager.

4. The manager shall apply for the sanction of the District Judge to any act which may involve extraordinary expense.

Rules under Chapter XII.

5. All applications to distrain shall be presented and heard in open Court. The examination mentioned in section 123, sub-section (2). shall be on oath or affirmation.

6. All such applications and all notices of distraint under section 141 shall be entered in a register to be called the "Distraint Register," which shall be kept in the form annexed. A copy of every such application, to be furnished by the applicant, shall be given to the officer appointed to make the distraint, and a copy of the notice under section 141, to be similarly furnished by the applicant, shall be given to the officer placed in charge of the distrained property.

Form of Distraint Register prescribed by Rule 6.

SERIAL NO. OF		Date of application to distrain, or of notice of distraint under section 141.	Name and address of the applicant under section 121 or of the person giving notice under section 141.	Name and address of the defaulter.	Amount of arrear claimed and period in respect of which it is claimed.	Purport of the order passed and date on which it is passed.	Name of the Officer deputed to distrain, or to take charge of property distrained.	Date of distraint.	Date of sale proclamation.	Date of sale.	AMOUNT REALIZED BY SALE.				AMOUNT (IF ANY) DEPOSITED UNDER SECTION 136.		REMARKS.

7. The officer deputed to make a distraint under section 124, or to take charge of produce distrained under section 141, must in all cases be able to read and write the language of the district.

8. The written demand under section 125 shall be framed in accordance with the entries contained in the application or notice referred to in Rule 2.

9. The notification of distraint directed in section 124, Act VIII, 1885, shall be published—

By fixing up in a conspicuous part of the holding, or other place, in which the produce is, a notice that such produce has been distrained, and by proclaiming at the same time the contents of the notice by beat of drum.

10. The notice shall specify the name of the person at whose instance the distraint is made, the name of the defaulter, the name of the person in whose charge the produce has been placed, and the amount of the arrear due, and it shall direct any person intending to reap, gather, or store the crop or produce, if unreaped or ungathered, or intending to do any other act necessary for its preservation, to give due notice of his intention to the person who has been placed in charge.

11. The notice shall be fixed up in the presence of not less than two persons, in addition to the agent of the distrainer, who points out the crop or produce.

12. In the event of it being necessary for the distraining officer, or the officer placed in charge of distrained property, to reap, gather, or store any crops or produce, or to do any other acts for the due preservation of the same, as provided by section 126, the person at whose instance the distraint was made shall advance the funds necessary to this end.

13. The officer holding a sale under section 131 shall record a description of the property offered for sale, the names of all persons bidding for the same, and the amount bid by each; and if the sale is postponed, he shall record an order to this effect, and shall then and there notify the place where and the time when the sale will be held.

14. When the sale is concluded and the sale proceeds are realized, the officer who held the sale shall, after paying the costs of the distraint and sale, as directed in section 134, forthwith pay the balance into Court.

15. The officer holding the sale shall take separate receipts for all sums paid by him as costs of the distraint and sale under section 134, sub-section (1), and if the person giving the receipt is unable to write, the receipt shall be attested by some person able to do so.

16. When a distraint is withdrawn under section 136, the notification of distraint, published under section 124, shall be taken down.

17. All officers deputed to distrain property under this chapter shall, if there is a post-office in the vicinity, report to the Court by letter immediately the distraint is made, or if there is no such post-office shall, immediately on his return, report in writing the nature and extent of the crop or produce distrained, the day on which the distraint was made, the name of the person (if any) placed in charge of the crop, and the day fixed for the sale, or if the sale has taken place the day on which it took place. He shall also immediately on his return file an account of all money received and disbursed by him, together with the receipts for the same and the record of the buildings at the sale, if a sale has taken place.

18. Every person, distraining produce by virtue of the authority conferred on him under section 141 of Act VIII, 1885, shall give notice of such distraint to the Civil Court having jurisdiction to entertain an application for the distraint of such produce, in a tabular form which shall contain the following particulars:—

(a) The name and address of the person at whose instance the distraint was made and a description of his interest in the property, whether as proprietor, tenure-holder, or raiyat.

(b) The name of the defaulter, and of the place in which he resides, or was known to be last residing.

(c) The amount of the arrear with interest, if any, and the period in respect of which it is claimed.

(d) The holding in respect of which the arrear is claimed, the boundaries thereof, or such other particulars as may suffice for its identification.

(e) The description and approximate value of the produce distrained, and if the same has been reaped or gathered, the place in which it is stored.

(f) The name of the person by whom the distraint was actually made, and the name and address of the person in whose charge the produce has been placed.

(g) The date on which the distraint was made.

(h) If the crop or produce is standing or ungathered, the time at which it is likely to be cut or gathered.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 77.

The 4th March 1886.

The following annual accounts and reports of the Road Cess Committees of the Districts of 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Jessore, Khoolna, and Moorshedabad, for the cess year 1884-85, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, are published for general information.

D. B. HORN,

Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 88R, dated Alipore, the 8th December 1885.

From—A. W. PAUL, Esq., Chairman, Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit herewith the annual accounts and reports of the District Committee for the past cess year 1884-85, which have been duly approved at a special meeting of the said Committee held for the purpose on the 30th November 1885.

2. There were five meetings of the District Committee held during the year, and a quorum was present at each of them. Copies of the proceedings of the six Branch Committees in the district were duly received by the District Committee, and anything requiring sanction or notice in those proceedings was promptly taken up and disposed of by the District Committee.

* * * * * * *

3. Only three meetings were held by the Bussirhat and two by the Dum-Dum Branch Committees. This was apparently owing to there having been no necessity for more. The attention of the Chairmen of those Committees, however, has been drawn to section 119 of the Cess Act, and they have been asked to see that in future the provision in the law, which enjoins that there should at least be four meetings during the year, is strictly observed.

4. The main business of Branch Committees in this district is to distribute funds to the several village roads within their respective jurisdiction according to the requirements of each, and to supervise their construction or repairs, as the case may be, through such members of the Committees as take special interest in localities through which the roads pass. The Chairmen of all such Branch Committees are satisfied that this procedure worked well, and remark that almost all the members of Branch Committees take a lively interest in all matters connected with the road cess. In addition to this, three of the Branch Committees deputed each one of their members under section 161 of the Act to be an additional member of the District Committee, and I may remark that the local experience of those additional members has been of much help to the District Committee.

5. Small advances have to be made at the commencement of the work connected with the repairs or construction of village roads, but, as a rule, the Chairman of each Branch Committee personally, or through his subordinate officers, tests the quality and quantity of each work before making final payment for it. I have received no complaint of any irregularity in the execution of any such work.

6. As in the past few years the District Committee were not able, during the year under report, to place any considerable amounts at the disposal of Branch Committees for the improvement of village roads. A sum of Rs. 14,500 only was allotted for the purpose, and it was distributed amongst the Branch Committees with reference to the requirements of each as follows:—

Bussirhat	2,000	0	0
Diamond Harbour	2,700	0	0
Barrackpore	1,200	0	0
Total	14,500	0	0

7. I am glad to state that the little that was given to each Branch Committee was most usefully and economically spent, and that with this small aid from the District Fund, supplemented at times by private donations and contributions, the Committees were able to maintain their roads in some sort of condition during fair weather. During the recent heavy rains most of the village roads were more or less damaged.

8. A liberal donation of Rs. 400 was obtained by the Branch Committee of Barrackpore from Maharajah Nurrendra Krishna Bahadoor, for the improvement of the Natagore khal which borders on his estate called Natagore. In addition to the above, Rs. 125 worth of work was done at the khal by the villagers of Natagore. The re-excavation of this khal ha proved a special boon to the people this year, and the Cantonment Magistrate reports that a great many houses, and in fact several villages in the neighbourhood, have escaped the effects of the late heavy rains.

9. The pucca roads under the charge of the Committee, that is, those which are on the list approved by Government, are all reported by the District Engineer to be in fair drivable condition, except some portions of the Takee road which have been cut up owing to very heavy traffic on the road. Attempts will, however, be made in the present year to put the road in a better state. Provision has been made in the current year's budget for the thorough repairs of the portions of this road which have been cut up. As this Bussirhat and Takee road has now become of the greatest importance as a feeder to the Central Bengal Railway from the east, and as this same railway has enormously reduced the expense to Government of maintaining the Jessore road, it would be a great boon if Government would take over the Takee road, and maintain from the savings from the former expenditure on the Jessore road. I have myself, in company of the District Engineer, specially inspected several of the more important roads, and am satisfied that the small sums allotted have been judiciously spent.

10. There are about 138 miles of pucca roads under the charge of the Committee, and the amount spent for their repairs during the year under report was Rs. 58,874, or an average of Rs. 425 per mile. The funds at the disposal of the Committee are insufficient for the maintenance even of the existing roads in proper order. The cost of keeping up the roads in the district owing to its peculiar position is heavier than in any other district. The traffic on the roads is exceptionally great, as the neighbouring districts, which contribute nothing towards our expenses, send large numbers of carts along our roads into Calcutta and its suburbs. The demand for increased road communication has also within the last few years considerably increased, owing chiefly to the extension of railways in the district, although those railways have only in a very slight degree relieved our important and expensive roads from local cart traffic. The Committee therefore have been obliged to refuse several applications from the different parts of the country for the construction of roads and village paths, except in a few instances where the people offered to contribute towards the expenses of a work. The North Dum-Dum Municipality having offered to contribute Rs. 2,000 towards the cost of metalling the kutcha portion of the Nimta road, which has been estimated by the District Engineer at Rs. 6,786, provision has been made for the work in the current year's budget. No original work was executed during the year under report, except that a pipe culvert was constructed on the Culpee road at a cost of Rs. 157.

11. It is at the same time satisfactory to note that none of the pucca roads under the charge of the Committee in the district have deteriorated. The same cannot be said of the kutcha roads. The District Engineer reports that on account of the heavy and unusual rains of the past season most of the kutcha roads have been damaged to a great extent and will require heavy repairs. This remark also applies to the village roads.

12. The Committee paid due attention to the Government circular directing that endeavours should be made as much as possible to the planting of fruit-trees on sides of district roads. At present there are over 3,300 young trees flourishing along the sides of the roads in charge of the Committee, some of which have begun to bear fruit. The Committee engaged the services of malees to plant the trees, and no-coor-coolies to water them during the dry season, and provided bamboo enclosures, &c., for the protection of such trees as were still within the grasp of animals. At the same time I personally do not consider such planting of trees either necessary or desirable in a damp climate like that of the 24-Pergunnahs, where shade to travellers is not so essential to their comfort as in Behar, and where the constant drip from their branches seriously damages the road itself.

13. At the end of the year the treasury cash balance of the Committee became very low owing to certain extra payments made by them during the year, so that some of the contractor's bills have not yet been paid. This has formed the subject of separate correspondence.

14. The several establishments under the Committee are reported to have worked well during the year.

RAJENDRA NATH MITTER,
Vice-Chairman, Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs.

Explanatory Memorandum to accompany the Road Cess Annual Account of the district of 24-Pergunnahs for the cess year 1884-85 under paragraph 14 of the instructions from Government for the preparation of the annual account, conveyed in its Circular No. 8A., dated the 14th February 1879, of the Public Works Department.

As per budget head.	Increase or decrease.	EXPLANATION.
		Receipts.
Land cess ...	Decrease ...	The decrease of Rs. 4,540 was owing to a falling off in the collections, some of the zemindars having withheld payment of the September kist.
Fines and fees.	Ditto ...	Rupees 478. The fees advanced for the realization of the arrears of cess under the certificate procedure have not all been fully recouped, as some of the certificates are still undisposed of.
Interest ...	Ditto ...	Rupees 388. This amount will be realized along with the arrear cess as soon as the pending certificates have been disposed of.
Miscellaneous.	Ditto ...	The decrease of Rs. 3,975 owing partly on account of non receipt of the full contributions expected from the several municipalities and to non-payment of full rent of the fishery in the Sorissa khall within the year.
Grant from Government.	Increase ...	The increase of Rs. 253 under this head is due to a larger amount received from the 10 per cent. contribution from Government estates during the year.
		Expenditure.
Refunds ...	Increase ...	Rupees 1,464. This is due to an unexpected refund of road cess to Maharajah Nurrendra Krishna Bahadoor on account of collections made from him for some years owing to mistakes in the assessment of the cess.
Establishment on provincial rates.	Decrease ...	Rupees 2,633. The full amount provided under this head was not spent, as the cost for only 11 months was charged within the year, and the extra establishment for the full year provided for in the budget was entertained in the middle of the year.
Establishment on administration.	Ditto ...	The decrease of Rs. 211 also was due to the cost for 11 months having been charged during the year.
Stationery and printing.	Ditto ...	Rupees 346. All the articles of stationery and printing were not required. Hence the decrease in the budgetted amount.
Original works	Ditto ...	The saving of Rs. 1,042 or decrease of expenditure under this head was owing to there having been no necessity for any relief works.
Repairs ...	Ditto ...	The decrease of Rs. 4,970 was due to the full estimated amounts not having been paid to the contractors owing to lower rates for works offered by them under tender system.
Tools and plant	Ditto ...	Rupees 38. The full amount provided in the budget was not spent in repairs of tools.
Miscellaneous.	Ditto ...	Rupees 299. This was due to a smaller amount of court fees spent on account of process fees for the realization of the arrear cess than that for which provision was made under this head.

No. 182R.F., dated Krishnaghur, the 31st December 1885.

From—The Magistrate and Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Nuddea,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

WITH reference to your letter No. 33 R., dated the 19th instant, I have the honor to submit the Annual Accounts and the following Administration Report for the last cess year.

2. The financial condition of the Committee during the year was just the same as before. Their income, including the openig balance, was Rs. 76,944. The funds available for work were barely sufficient for the anual maintenance of existing roads. They could not therefore execute any important work, many of which are urgently wanted. Rupees 3,500 was allotted for the improvement and extenion of metalling of the Krishnaghur and Nuddea road, but this sum was mostly withdrawn subsequently to meet the demands of some urgent repair works. The completion of timber bridge on the Meherpore and Kanyedanga road, and the construction of a few small culverts on the Chapra and Nischindpore road, were the principal original works of the year under review. The outlay on these works was Rs. 489.

3. All the existing unmetalled roads, measuring aggregately 558 miles in length, were repaired during the year with an efficienc compatible with the funds which were forthcoming for their maintenance. But the repairs did not last long. Shortly after their completion almost of all of the roads were overtopped by the last destructive floods and severely damaged.

4. The year was exceptionally unfavorab for the metalled roads, which in this district measure 133¾ miles in length, mostly being feers of the Eastern Bengal Railway. An utter absence of rains in the first seven nths of the year was greatly detrimental to their metalling, and when the south-west monsc set in full strength, the rain was unusually heavy and almost incessant, and thus, instead of being beneficial, as it generally is when its fall is seasonable and moderate, it was injuus to the metalling, rendering it extremely soft by supersaturation. The wear and tear the metalling was therefore unusually great on most of the roads having heavy wl-traffic. Their repairs, however, were carried out with considerable energy and skill; tl were almost completed when the floods overwhelmed and damaged them again. T Krishnaghur and Santipore road alone escaped the damage running along a water-shed re, which was no where overtopped by the floods.

5. As in the previous years the works on vil roads in the sudder were executed through village agencies under the special control o sub-committee. In the sub-divisions the Branch Committees did the work through their mbers and reliable village people. The result on the whole was satisfactory. The total out on the work was Rs. 4,034-10, viz :—

,, Meherpore	593	10	3
,, Kushtea	998	5	6
,, Ranaghat	773	10	3
	4,034	10	0

The outlay was small in the Sudder, simply becaus 591 was transferred from this work in the beginning of the year for the relief work u aken on the Mira and Kaligunge road. The Branch Committees, with the except f Chuadanga, failed to spend their allotments in full owing to interruption caused by t ns and floods.

6. Few young trees were planted along the roads du he year: the existing young trees were carefully nursed and protected at an exp f Rs. 697-1-6. The floods destroyed only 145 trees, of which 105 were in the first t iles of the Boggulla road. The nurseries are full with grown-up plants. No fresh s gs were therefore sown in any of them.

7. There was some apprehension of distress in the n n part of the Kaligunge thana in the beginning of the year. The Committee therefo some earthwork on the relief road from Mira to Kaligunge to supply employment to y labourers of the place. The outlay on the work was Rs. 549-5-6.

8. The floods at the end of the year were exceptionally s and destructive. It is said to be the highest flood that has visited this part of the c since the great flood of the year 1823. It became alarming first in the Kustia su ion in the triangular area enclosed between the Ganges and the Gorie, both of which pped their banks and flooded the intervening country, causing considerable damage an o agricultural classes. All roads in the tract were damaged more or less, but the damag he highly-embanked road from Kumarkhally to Kanchadiar was very considerable. ed a strong resistance to the flood lying as it does transversely across its passage. than five miles of it were overtopped and severely scoured and breached. A large ti ridge having eigh openings, two of 6 feet spans, and the other 20 feet each, was destroyed on the 3rd mile in spite of the protective measures which were adopted early for its safety. The foundations were scoured out; the materials were mostly saved. The total loss on this road is calculated at Rs. 4,072.

9. In the remaining part of the sub-division as well as in the Chuadanga and in the part of Meherpore, east of the Bhyrub river, the floods were less destructive, but were extremely severe and disastrous in the south-western parts of Meherpore, in the whole of the Sudder, and in the north-eastern part of the Ranaghat sub-division. Here the three floods, viz., the Bhagirutty and Jellinghy spills and the cross-country floods from Lalitakuri side, combined and became formidable. The roads which suffered most severely in these parts were the following:—

Debogram	to Kaligunge	Road.
Krishnaghur	to Barhampore	„
Ditto	to Meherpore	„
Ditto	to Nuddea	„
Ditto	to Kissengunge	„
Ditto	to Boggulla	„
Kissengunge	to Barromasia	„
Ranaghat	to Santipore	„

The Debogram and Kaligunge road suffered from the Bhagirutty spills. About a mile and half of it were overtopped and swept away. The loss has been calculated at Rs. 1,286.

10. The Krishnaghur and Barhampore road, which runs nearly parallel to the general direction of the Bhagirutty, was affected partly by the Bhagirutty spills and partly by the combined floods. The damage of its earthwork was very great, and a large timber bridge in the 22nd mile was irreparably damaged. The other bridges and culverts escaped with partial damage. The loss, however, amounted to Rs. 1,934.

11. The Krishnaghur and Meherpore road offered a great resistance to the flood, but it was ultimately overtopped and broken through. A bridge which stood in the 6th mile was destroyed, and the earthwork of more than 20 miles of it was seriously damaged. The total loss has been estimated at Rs. 4,0[illegible]

12. The Krishnaghur and Kissengunge road offered the strongest resistance to the flood and sustained the greatest damage; it extends transversely across the line of passage with a bold and high embankment, about three-fourths of which were metalled. The flood passed over the formation surface of more than 10 miles of the road with a very considerable velocity doing very great damage to its earthwork, metalling and bridges and culverts. About two miles of the road were entirely destroyed, and a large bridge of two openings, each of 16 feet clear span, was carried away from the 8th mile of it before the floods could overtop it. The total loss on this road amounts to Rs. 13,696.

13. The Krishnaghur and Nuddea road was overtopped at many places and badly damaged. The loss in metalling and earthwork was Rs. 1,008. The bridges and culverts escaped with slight injury.

14. The first four miles of the Krishnaghur and Boggulla road were deeply flooded, and the 5th and 6th miles were badly affected but not overtopped. The bridges and culverts escaped without much damage, but the special repair rendered necessary for the metalling and earthwork will alone cost Rs. 4,725. The submersion of this road was of the greatest inconvenience to the general public.

15. The Ranaghat and Santipore road suffered equally with the last mentioned road. The first four miles from Ranaghat were very badly affected and breached, but none of the bridges sustained any serious damage. The loss in earthwork and metalling has been estimated at Rs. 4,[illegible]17.

16. The next road is the feeder from Kissengunge to Barromasia. It was affected by the floods which escaped through the openings and breaches of the Eastern Bengal Railway line. The rush of the flood current was therefore not very great anywhere on this road. The damage however was not small. Rs. 2,480 has been estimated to be the total loss in earthwork and metalling.

17. The total of loss caused by the last flood, including that on roads which has not been specially mentioned in this report, has been calculated at Rs. 54,229, which is larger than the fund which the Committee has annually at its disposal for road works. There is therefore hardly any possibility of meeting this heavy loss for some years to come unless aid is given to the fund.

18. In thanas Kaligunge, Nakasipara, and Chapra distress and want appeared on account of the inundation, and day-laborers, being without work, required relief at the close of the year under review. The Committee therefore advanced Rs. 3,000 to the local zemindars to start works on village roads to supply them relief by giving employment.

19. As usual the District Committee worked satisfactorily throughout the year. They met seven times, and all of their meetings were well attended.

20. There were four meetings of the Ranaghat, two of Kustia, one of Chuadanga, and two of the Meherpure Branch Committees, during the year. A quorum was present in each of these meetings, and the business was transacted as usual. The Chairmen of the Ranaghat, Chuadanga, and Kustia Branch Committees complained that their members failed to take their full share of work.

21. The benefit of the cess is now well appreciated by the people of this district. The only complaints now made are that the funds are insufficient for more extended operations. In Kustia and Meherpore some people complained of the insuffiency of the money annually spent in their sub-divisions. The fact is there are very few important metalled roads requiring large outlays in those sub-divisions.

22. The works provided for the current year are chiefly repairs of the existing lines of main and village communications and construction of village roads. Rs. 2,300 has also been re-allotted for the extension of metalling of the Krishnaghur and Nuddea road. The financial condition of the Committee not having been good, they were unable to provide money for the maintenance of all of their unmettalled existing roads. Their embarrassment has been rendered worse now by the recent destructive floods and the imperative necessity for relief works which arose in the beginning of this year, in consequence of the great devastations caused by it. The Committee had to withdraw from some of their urgent repair works a sum of Rs. 5,000 to meet the demand of the relief operation.

23. The establishment worked satisfactorily.

R. C. MOOKERJI,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 85 R., dated Jessore, the 23rd January 1886.

From—E. J. BARTON, Esq., Magistrate and Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Jessore,

To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit herewith the Road Fund annual report and accounts for the cess year 1884-85, together with the requisite explanatory notes required under Government circular No. 8A, dated the 4th February 1878.

2. The estimates of income and expenditure for the year under review were considered and passed by the District Committee at a meeting held on the 15th August 1884, and subsequently the supplementary budget on the 18th March 1885. The receipts were estimated at Rs. 99,901, and the expenditure at Rs. 91,222. The actual receipts were Rs. 1,04,214, and the expenditure Rs. 1,01,089 The details of expenditure were shown in Form No. 6, Part II, of the annual accounts. The local works were carried out as usual by the District Engineer and his staff. Village roads and minor works were conducted by the Branch Committees under the supervison of the Chairmen and members.

3. The District Committee met three times during the year, and at all the meetings there was quorum.

One meeting was held in the beginning of the year to elect Vice-Chairman, and pass estimates and Road Fund annual report and accounts for 1883-84.

Another meeting was held in March 1885, to pass supplementary budget estimate for 1884-85, and estimates for road works.

And the last meeting, at the close of the year, to pass budget estimates for 1885-86, and to fix the rate of cess for that year. To elect a Vice-Chairman and to sanction District Engineer's application for one month and five days' privilege leave.

4. The Committee resolved at a meeting held on the 13th July 1885 to levy the maximum rate of cess for the ensuing year to meet the estimate of expenditure.

5. With very few exceptions the non-official members took but little interest in the administration of the fund at their disposal.

6. The accounts now submitted were laid before a meeting held on the 23rd instant after being previously examined and passed by a Sub-Committee. The report of the Sub-Committee is herewith attached, vide statement marked B.

7. The following is a brief description of the principal works carried out during the year:—

(a). Surface repairs have been executed on 487 miles of roads, that is, on all the roads entered in the printed list.

(b). Metal has been renewed on eight of the principal roads, and there have been two miles of new construction.

(c). All the bridges and culverts have been maintained throughout the district, and 17 new culverts have been constructed.

(d). Inspection bungalows have been constructed at Monirampore, in the Sudder sub-division, and at Mulnahautee, in the Bongong sub-division, to facilitate the better supervision of work along these long lines of roads. All the existing bungalows throughout the district have been maintained in proper order.

(e). Arboriculture.—The fruit trees planted out on the road sides have been maintained.

8. Station roads.—The sum of Rs. 450 was expended in repairing the roads in the different sub-divisions and the works were carried out under the immediate superintendence of the sub-divisional officers.

9. Village roads.—A sum of Rs. 3,000 was expended on village roads in the different sub-divisions of this district in the maintenance and construction of roads and bridges. These works were also carried out under the immediate supervision of the sub-divisional officers and members of the Committees.

10. I now proceed to state briefly the road cess operations which have been projected for the ensuing year 1885-86, as required by Government circular No. 50, dated the 23rd July 1873. The expected income from cess leviable under the Act and from other sources is estimated at Rs. 88,856, of which sum it is proposed to expend Rs. 12,143 on original works, and Rs. 53,074 on maintanance and repairs, exclusive of repairs to staging bungalows.

11. The principal works for execution are the following:—

(a). 487 miles of main lines of roads which are exclusive of station and village roads will be repaired and kept in order.

(b). About 1½ miles of new metalling will be executed on the Rajahat and Keshubpore, and Kallygunge, and Jhenidah roads.

(c). Portions of metalling will be renewed on eight of the principal roads.

(d). The bridges and culverts will be repaired to the extent of Rs. 7,330 as provided in the budget estimate, and 13 new culverts will be constructed, as also three causeways.

(e). Arboriculture will be carried out as usual to the extent of the budget allotment.

13. As usual the sub-divisional officers have taken an interest in the roads of their sub-divisions. They have supervised the construction and repairs of village roads. The Indigo Planters and a few native members have likewise rendered assistance.

14. Flood of 1885.—In the Bongong sub-division the flood rose to about 8 inches over that of 1871, and submerged all the roads with the exception of portions of the Bongong-Chogda and Kotchandpore-Kissengunge metalled roads, causing much damage to them and to many of the bridges, although the latter were relieved by cuts made in the road embankment. In the northern parts of the district the flood submerged many of the roads and caused considerable damage, especially to the temporary bridges on the Jhenidah-Magura and Magura-Benodepore roads. It rose to about the same height as that of 1879, that is, from 2 to 2½ feet below the flood of 1871.

15. Road Cess Collection—Establishment.—The total demand of both Road and Public Works Cesses for the year 1884-85 was Rs. 1,57,458, to which should be added the sum of Rs. 28,203, the arrears outstanding from the last year. The total realizable gross demand for the year will therefore be Rs. 1,85,661. Out of this amount, Rs. 1,58,395 was collected during the year, i.e., 85·32 per cent. on the gross demand. Excluding the sum of Rs. 105 on account of remission, there is a balance of Rs. 27,114. From this amount again the sum of Rs. 1,164 should be deducted on account of advance payments made for this year. This will reduce the balance to Rs. 25,950. Out of this balance again the sum of Rs. 21,632 has been realized since the close of the quarter. Out of the arrear balance of Rs. 28,203, with which the year opened, Rs. 28,059, or 99·5 per cent., has been realized.

16. Engineering Establishment.—Mr. Burt, the District Engineer, has continued to give satisfaction in the discharge of his work. Amongst the Subordinate Engineering Establishment, Baboo Uma Churn Ghose, Overseer, is deserving of notice. The new Accountant, Baboo Kartickya Biswas, also has satisfactorily performed the onerous duties of his office.

The 14th [Ja]nuary 1886.

No. 55R., dated Khulna, the 13th January 1886.

From—The Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Khulna,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the annual accounts of the District Road Cess Committee, Khulna, for the cess year 1884-85, together with the following report.

2. The accounts were duly audited and passed by the Audit Sub-Committee on the 30th December 1885.

The delay in audit has caused this delay in the report, as the audited accounts could not be put before the Committee till their meeting of the 12th instant.

3. During the year there was one ordinary and seven special meetings of the District Committee, at all of which there was a quorum. The average attendance was 10, the average number of members being 22·5. * * * *

4. The full number of members was reduced by seven during 1883-84, leaving only 19 members at the beginning of the year, of whom one died, one was transferred, and three ceased to be members under section 115 of the Act. Twelve new members were appointed in the places vacant.

5. The District Committee worked satisfactorily, the members, both official and non-official, continuing to take intelligent interest in matters brought up before them. The attendance at meetings is good, considering the distances and inconvenience of travelling in this district.

6. The members of Branch Committees with a few exceptions were not regular in their attendance, and complaints have been made by the Chairmen of both the Branch Committees of Bagirhat and Satkhira of indifference towards the business of the Committee.

7. The monthly accounts have been regularly audited by a Standing Sub-Committee formed under section 174 of the Cess Act, and the accounts and books are reported to have been carefully and correctly kept.

8. The financial condition of the Committee was much the same as in the previous year. The total receipts of the year, including the balance of the previous year, had been estimated at Rs. 93,660, and the expenditure at Rs. 77,313. The actual receipts as per detailed account submitted were Rs. 93,462, and the expenditure Rs. 58,526, exclusive of the suspense account, leaving a balance of Rs. 33,705.

9. This rather large balance remained in the hand of the Committee from the following new projects not being taken in hand during the year:—

(a) Construction of bridges on the Rohimabad and Horikhali khals in the Bagirhat road, Rs. 8,300.
(b) Construction of a road from Benerpota to Saukdah, Rs. 4,000.
(c) Construction of a road from Satkhira to Magoora, Rs. 3,600.

10. Estimates for the construction of two iron bridges with masonry abutments on the Rohimabad and Horikhali khals were framed and submitted to the Superintending Engineer, but were returned for revision after testing the soil in the bed of the khals, and the Committee has since spent Rs. 735 in purchasing boring instruments and in testing the soil. A part of this allotment has been spent on the works,—vide revised budget, dated 26th September 1885.

11. The other two projects were schemes for direct road communication between Satkhira and Khulna. A temporary establishment was employed in the beginning of the year to survey this important scheme of communication, and survey work has been completed at an expense of Rs. 1,440. The works had then to be stopped for preparing an estimate of the whole of the proposed road between Khulna and Satkhira, as pointed out by the Executive Engineer, Jessore Division, at a meeting held on the 26th September 1885.

12. Two other projects for widening Bagirhat and Khulna road, and for a diversion road on the 7th mile of Jessore road near Mohcswarpasha, estimated at Rs. 1,441 and Rs. 773, respectively, were taken in hand, and some money was spent on both, but their completion had to be deferred owing to the lands not having yet been acquired.

13. An estimate and project for constructing a light iron bridge on Joogikhali khal, amounting to Rs. 1,500, was sanctioned, and the work taken in hand; but owing to an accident, as noticed in the proceedings of the Committee held on the 11th August last, the bridge materials sank with a boat in the river Bhyrub while being carried to the site of work, which, in consequence, has not yet been completed. The loss estimated by the Committee for the value of materials amounted to Rs. 522.

14. An estimate for Rs. 2,494 was sanctioned by the Committee in 1883-84 for metalling one mile of Bhomra road. The work made some progress, but could not be completed owing to the floods.

15. All the other works* mentioned in the list of original works in the account have been satisfactorily done.

16. The existing metalled and fair-weather roads and culverts and bridges over a total length of 102 miles were maintained throughout the year, and are now in passable order.

17. Fruit-trees have been planted in 1½ miles of the Jessore road, and in 1½ miles of Khulna and Bagirhat road; and the trees planted last year in the Satkhira and Kullaroa and Satkhira and Chanduria roads were maintained throughout the year. Two nurseries in Khulna and in Satkhira have been successfully made, and the plants are thriving.

18. A sum of Rs. 12,000, allotted for contribution for steam communication between Khulna and Satkhira, was re-appropriated (vide revised budget) on other works, as the project was considered less beneficial to the district than a direct communication by land.

19. The Satkhira portion of the district was touched by the flood during September and October. The water which passed through the Bongong sub-division into the Ichamutti river spread into the large chain of bheels (Dantbhanga and others) lying on the western limit of that sub-division, and passed over and through the road which connects Satkhira with Bassirhat. The platforms of the bridges were almost all carried away, but the roadway was not much damaged. The flood-water also passed over the road between Chanduria and Kullaroa, and in some places was from five to six feet above the roadway; but the damage done was not great, owing to the road being at a very low level.

20. During the year a subsidy of Rs. 100 per month was paid to the Flotilla Company plying between Khulna and Barisal. By a mistake in account, the subsidy was paid for 13 months. The Committee also received an application from the rival Company established by the Tagores for a similar subsidy, but it was considered that as both companies had made a good start, there was no need to continue any subsidy, and this has not been continued after the close of the year 1884-85.

21. The District Committee has nothing to do with the tow-paths which form an important means of communication in connection with the large boat traffic passing through the district, which are in the charge of the Public Works Department; but it may be stated that there is room for much improvement in them, and that by reason of want of funds or other causes they are not kept up throughout the district in an efficient state.

22. A sum of Rs. 14,500 was allotted for village roads in the district and placed at the control of the Branch Committees in sub-divisions and of the Vice-Chairman at head-quarters, and good progress has been made during the year in both the Sudder and Bagirhat sub-divisions; several village paths have been so improved as to become fit for being taken in as district roads. A large number of earthenware pipe culverts have been made in most of the village roads in the Sudder sub-division, but very little progress seems to have been made in the Satkhira sub-division. The fund available for this purpose, however, does not at all meet the requirements of the several applications, so that some of them numerously signed could not be attended to.

23. The different establishments under the Committee have worked satisfactorily.

KHULNA, A. C. MITTRA, AMBIKA CHURN SEN, W. CLAY,

The 30*th December* 1885. Accountant. Vice-Chairman. Chairman.

WE examined the annual accounts of the District Road Cess Committee, Khulna, on the 28th and 30th December 1885. The accounts showed a total receipt of Rs. 70,549-3-1 (seventy thousand five hundred and forty-nine rupees, three annas and one pie), excluding last year's balance (rupees thirty-two thousand three hundred and sixteen, annas fifteen and pies four only). The expenditure amounted to Rs. 69,159-13-6 (sixty-nine thousand one hundred and fifty-nine rupees, annas thirteen and pies six only), including suspense account of nine thousand nine hundred and fifteen rupees, annas six and pies six only. We observed that in the column of expenditure a sum of Rs. 1,631-12-9, under the head of Refund of Cess, was not provided for in the budget, and a further sum of Rs. 982-5-7 under the head of Percentage Cost of Establishment of Offices of Account and Control exceeded the budget amount (Rs. 935) by Rs. 47-5-7. We further observed that the budget provided for Rs. 1,200 on account of Ferry, whereas the actual expenditure under this head had been Rs. 1,300. The rest of the account was found correct, and we accordingly pass the same.

The 30*th December* 1885.

No. 114, dated Berhampore, the 31st December 1885.

From—H. FARRER, ESQ., Vice-Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee of Moorshedabad,

To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual report on the working of the Moorshedabad District Road Fund from 1st October 1884 to 30th September 1885; also the annual accounts connected with the same.

2. The members of the District Committee, with few exceptions, attended the meetings with regularity, and no difficulty was experienced in securing a quorum. * * *

3. There are three branch committees—at Jungipore, Kandee, and Choa. The two former took a considerable amount of interest in their duties, and were regular in submitting their accounts and returns. But in the latter respect such has not been the case with the Choa Branch Committee.

4. A sum of Rs. 10,000 was allotted for repairs to village roads in the year under report, and the work done with this is believed to have given satisfaction.

5. The maximum rate of cess was levied during the year. The Road Cess Act, as far as the collection of cess was concerned, worked well. The zemindars, generally speaking, paid the sums due from them on the revenue days. Only the instalments of cess due from some of the estates under the general Manager of the Court of Wards could not be realized regularly. The percentage of collection to demand was 95·61.

6. As regards the nature of the feelings of the people towards the levy of the road cess, it is believed that they generally realize the benefits which the application of the tax confers, however averse they may be to its imposition.

7. The establishment under the Road Cess Deputy Collector and the District Engineer appear to have worked well under their supervision.

8. All the main roads, except one, which is a mere track, and the drainage cuts, included in the printed list sanctioned by Government, were repaired and kept in good order; but the inundations of the Bhagirathi and Bhoyrub rivers in August and September damaged most of the roads to a considerable extent.

9. Original Works.—The only original work of any importance that was carried out during the year under report was the construction of a diversion of the Jungipore and Khamra road near Jungipore. The whole of the first mile of this road had been washed away by the river Bhagirathi, and a new line, about 3,700 feet in length, was constructed and opened to traffic.

10. Repairs, metalled roads.—There are about 26¾ miles of metalled roads maintained by the Road Cess Committee of this district. About six miles of these received a new coat of metal 3 inches thick, and the remainder was patched and repaired.

11. Kutcha roads.—The total mileage of kutcha roads brought under the operation of the Road Cess Act is some 575 miles: of these, 207¼ miles are embanked and bridged and were kept in good repair; 278 miles are embanked, but temporarily bridged, and were also repaired throughout; and the remainder are unraised tracks, which received the ordinary surface repairs.

12. Drainage cuts.—The two main drainage cuts (northern and southern drainage cuts) that drain the bheels and low lands between the station and the Gobra nullah were cleaned throughout and repaired.

13. Village roads.—Most of the village roads within the Sudder and the Lalbagh sub-divisions and under the Branch Road Cess Committees of Kandee, Jungipore, and Choa, as provided in the budget estimates, were constructed and repaired. Some of these roads are important and may be considered as main roads. They were repaired throughout and kept in fair order.

14. Tree-planting.—The fruit-bearing trees planted along sides of roads were regularly watered and protected.

15. At a meeting held on the 10th August 1885 the estimates for 1885-86 were passed. The total income, including the estimated balance, has been set down at Rs. 97,139, and the expenditure at Rs. 77,111. A sum of Rs. 1,933 was all the Committee were able to allot for original works, and for maintaining trees planted along the roads. A sum of Rs. 46,406 was allotted for repairs to main roads and drainage cuts, and Rs. 10,000 were allotted for village roads.

H. FARRER,
Vice-Chairman.

Report by the members of the District Road Cess Audit Sub-Committee of Moorshedabad on an examination of the Road Cess Accounts under Section 179 of the Road Cess Act.

WE, the undersigned members of the Audit Sub-Committee, beg leave to report that we have examined the annual accounts of the Vice-Chairman for the road cess year 1884-85, as required in section 179 of Road Cess Act, and found them to be correct.

H. FARRER, Vice-Chairman.
RADHIKA CHURN SEN.
RAM DASS SEN.

BERHAMPORE,
The 2nd December 1885.

No. 5P.R., dated Calcutta, the 27th January 1886.

From—A. SMITH, ESQ., Commissioner of the Presidency Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the annual accounts of income and expenditure, of the several district road funds in this division for the cess year ending 30th September 1885, together with copies of the administration reports received from the Chairmen of the District Road Cess Committees.

2. The total income of the several districts, including the balance of the preceding year, amounted to Rs. 4,98,580 in the year under review, and the total expenditure to Rs. 4,27,134. The income of the Committees being very small, they could not meet all the legimitate claims upon them, and much that it would have been well to do had to be left undone. Most of the income was swallowed up in the maintenance and repair of existing works. Out of a total expenditure of Rs. 4,27,134, a sum of Rs. 43,368 was spent on original works, being 9·8 per cent. of the total amount spent. With this small amount, the Committees could not be expected to execute important original works. A part of the money originally allotted for this purpose had to be transferred to the head of repairs owing to damages to certain important lines of communication caused by the recent destructive flood. As in the previous year, the Road Cess Committees of the 24-Pergunnahs and Moorshedabad spent a very small percentage of their total income on original works.

3. It will be seen from the accompanying reports that the late inundation affected all the districts of this division more or less, and the damage done to the roads was very considerable in some of the districts. The Committees worked very energetically and did what they could to put the roads in proper order, so far as the funds at their disposal allowed. Much, however, is still wanted. In the 24-Pergunnahs and Nuddea the complaint that funds are insufficient is specially strong, and it seems to me that before long the question of increasing the rate which now stands in all the districts at the legal maximum will have to be fixed.

	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
24-Pergunnahs	11,000	12,387	14,500
Nuddea	6,265	5,132	4,034
Jessore	4,882	4,300	3,150
Moorshadabad	10,000	10,000	10,000
Khulna	7,120	12,836	14,500

4. The statement in the margin shows the grants made by the District Road Cess Committees for the improvement of village roads during the year under report as compared with those of the two preceding years.

5. In all the districts due attention was paid to the planting and rearing of trees along the road sides.

LAND SALE NOTICES.

Collector's Office, Khoolna, the 5th February 1886. H. K. MOOKERJEE, for Collector.

Sale of Government Property.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land with the buildings thereon, situated in the district of Nuddea, no longer required by Government, will be put up to sale at noon on Monday, the 15th March 1886. The lands and buildings at Kishnaghur will be sold at Kishnaghur in the Office of the Collector of the district, and the lands and buildings at Ranaghat at the Sub-divisional Office in that place.

The properties will be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price named against each.

The properties will be sold subject to the following conditions:—

(1.) The purchasers will not be allowed to make any excavations on the land nearer than fifteen feet from the Railway fencing, nor plough the lands closer than three feet measured horizontally from such fencing.

(2.) One-fourth of the amount of purchase money to be paid down at once, and the balance before noon of the fifteenth day after the sale reckoning the day of sale as one.

(3.) If the balance of the purchase money be not paid as provided for above, the sale shall be cancelled, the amount paid in, being a fourth of the purchase money, shall be forfeited to Government, and the property again put up for sale, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

(4.) The property will be sold revenue free.

(5.) The purchasers will be put in possession on the receipt of the orders of the Revenue Board confirming the sale.

NOTICE UNDER RULE 17, SECTION II, PART I.

NOTICE is hereby given that the lease of the land specified in the schedule hereunto annexed, and of which the plan is open to inspection at the Office of the Commissioner of the Sundarbans, has been applied for by Mohendro Nath Mullick, and will be sold at 12 o'clock noon on the 1st June 1886, Tuesday, (19th Joisto 1293 B. E.) at the Sundarban Commissioner's Office at Alipur, unless meantime the sale is stopped or postponed in consequence of claims or objections under Act XXIII of 1863 (to provide for the adjudication of claims to waste lands), or owing to any other cause.

2. The lease of the land will be granted subject to the conditions which are specified below, as well as to the general terms annexed to the Rules for the sale of leases of waste lands, dated 12th November 1879.

Conditions.

That the lands shall be subject to all existing rights of all way and water and all other easements.

That the right of using all streams and channels in any way navigable shall be reserved to public, as also the use of a tow-path not less than 25 feet in width on each side of every such stream and channel.

That no charge shall be made for wood and timber standing on the land at the time it is leased, nor for any wood which may be cut and burnt to effect clearances, or which may be used on the lands. But for wood and timber exported for sale, a duty shall be levied at such rate, and in such manner, as may from time to time be prescribed by Government.

That the Government reserves to itself the right to all minerals in the land, together with such right of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting and carrying any such minerals. It also retains its proprietary right in the land, and only confers on the lessees an occupancy right which shall be hereditary and transferable :—

Notice.

SONE CANALS—STEAM TRANSPORT SERVICE.

TENDERS are invited from persons wishing to work the Steam Transport Service at present maintained on the Sone Canals. Three steamers belonging to Government, the Umpire, the Buxar, and the Indus, are available for hire. The person whose tender is accepted will be required to maintain a bi-weekly service on the Arrah and Buxar Canals, and a weekly service on the Patna Canal. Compounded tollage, amounting to Rs. 500 per month, will be charged. Remission of tollage only will be granted in the event of the canals being closed. A spare steamer, the Koel, can generally be made available in the event of any of the steamers mentioned above breaking down. Tenders should state the sum which is offered for the hire of the three steamers mentioned above separately, or together.

A bond, similar in its general conditions to that at present in use (printed copies of which may be procured from the Assistant Engineer, Dehree on the Sone), must be signed by the person whose tender is accepted. The bond will be modified in accordance with this notice, and it will be expressly stipulated that repairs found necessary to the steamers at the expiration of the agreement shall be carried out in the Government workshops at the expense of the person whose tender is accepted. Security, not exceeding rupees one thousand, may be required by the Chief Engineer. The agreement to be for three years, commencing from the 1st July 1886, but Government is to have the power of terminating it at any time on giving three months' notice, or at 15 days' notice, under the circumstances mentioned in clause 9 of the present agreement, and the person whose tender is accepted of doing so at any time after the 1st July 1887 on giving three months' notice.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Offers for the purchase of the steamers are invited. If an offer to purchase is accepted, the foregoing rate of tollage only will be payable up to the 1st of July 1889.

Tenders should be addressed to the Assistant Engineer, Dehree Workshops, Dehree on the Sone, and be despatched so as to reach that officer by the 1st of April at the latest. Any information regarding the steamers may be obtained from the Assistant Engineer, who will give the necessary facilities for their inspection to persons desirous of examining them.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops in the different districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 6th March 1886.

Division	No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
		Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN.	1	Burdwan, ...	......	Report not received.
	2	Bankoora, Mar. 6 '86	Nil	Weather—getting warmer. Sugarcane is being pressed. All winter crops are being gathered with a good outturn. Public health good.
	3	Beerbhoom, „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—warm for the season of year. Cold-weather crops are being gathered; outturn fair. Food-grains cheap. Health of district good.
	4	Midnapore, „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—warm. Outturn of rubbee crops generally good. Prospects of boro rice mostly fair. Public health normal. Cholera still lingers in places.
	5	Hooghly, „ 6 „	0·51	Weather—very hot. State and prospects of crops good. A sharp hail-storm on the evening of the 4th, which appears to have been limited to the town of Hooghly; no damage reported, though the hail-stones were unusually large. A few cases of cholera and small-pox reported.
		Howrah, „ 8 „	0·07	Weather—somewhat hot and close till rain fell, after which temperature fell considerably. State and prospects of crops favourable in all respects.
		Oolooberiah ...	0·10
		Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN.	6	24-Perghs Mar. 8 '86	Nil	Weather—seasonable; mornings foggy. Prospects satisfactory. Harvesting of cold-weather crops continues; yield estimated at 14 annas. Public health good. Cholera abating.
	7	Nuddea, „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—very hot, but for the last two days the heat has been much less. Rubbee crops have generally given a large outturn, and, prices being high, it is an uncommonly good agricultural season. Wheat and gram promise well. Complete absence of rain is delaying the tillage of lands for aus rice. Public health good. Cholera sporadic, but not severe anywhere.
	8	Khoolna, „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—days hot, nights cool; wind from the south. Boro rice doing well. No other crops on the ground. Public health good.
	9	Jessore, „ 6 „	0 19	Weather—getting hot. Harvesting of winter crops has not yet been completed. Price of rice stationary. Cholera prevalent in the Bongong, Sudder, and Jhenida sub-divisions.
	10	Moorshedabad, „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of cold-weather crops favourable. Reaping has commenced. Price of rice stationary. Public health good.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN.	11	Dinagepore Mar. 5 '86	Nil	Temperature rising rapidly; clouds hanging about. Cold-weather harvest closed. Land is being prepared for early rice. Rice selling at from 17 to 25 seers per rupee.
	12	Rajshahye, „ 6 „	Nil	Weather sultry during early part of the week; cooler now from partial rain. Til and jute are being sown. Harvesting of wheat and barley just begun. Rain generally wanted. Public health good.
	13	Rungpore „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—very dry and hot with strong west wind. Prospects of cheena and kaon fair. Aus is being sown. No crops in the field, except wheat and a few pulses, which are being gathered. Tobacco is also being gathered. Public health continues good.
	14	Bogra, „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—very warm in the day. Ploughing for aus cultivation continues. Transplanting of boro rice going on. Pulses doing fairly. Rain will improve prospects.
	15	Pubna, „ 6 „	0·06	A slight shower on the night of 4th. Crops continue to do well. Rubbee is being harvested.
	16	Darjeeling, „ 6 „	0·18	Weather—bright and cool. State and prospects of crops good.
		Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVISION.	18	Dacca, Mar. 6 '86	0 54	Weather—seasonable. Pulses are being gathered. Cultivation for the next paddy crop going on. Pressing of sugarcane continues. Boro rice needs rain. Public health good.
	19	Furreedpore. „ 6 „	Nil	Weather—hot with south wind. The late rain in the north has much benefited the crops. Rubbee generally has suffered for want of rain. Public health fair.
		Goalundo ...	1·35
	20	Backergunge, „ 4 „	Nil	Weather—now and then cloudy; otherwise seasonable. Prospects of crops good. General health indifferent.
	21	Mymensingh, „ 5 „	Nil	Weather—hot. State and prospects of crops fair. Rain wanted for boro rice, and to facilitate ploughing for aus crop.
CHITTAGONG DIVN.	22	Chittagong, Mar. 9 '86	Nil	Weather—hot. Heavy thunder-storm with hail in north of district on 6th. Prospects of crops continue fair. Prices steady. Public health good, notwithstanding a few sporadic cases of cholera.
	23	Noakholly, „ 5 „	Nil	Temperature warm. Sky overclouded and fresh southerly breeze. Cold-weather crops have suffered from want of rain. Some cholera in Ramgunge and small-pox in Fenny.
	24	Tipperah, „ 4 „	Nil	Weather—sultry with high winds. Rain urgently needed to admit of aus rice being sown. Cold-weather crops are being rapidly harvested; outturn generally fair. Public health unusually good.
	25	Chittagong Hill Tracts. „ 2 „	Nil	Weather—becoming warmer daily. Cloudy this morning (2nd). High wind from south and south-west. Joom cutting still continues. Tobacco and other crops on the ground doing well.
		Hill Tipperah, „ 3 „	Nil	Weather—cloudy with high southerly wind. Rain wanted. Sugarcane is still being cut. Reaping of tobacco commenced. Lands are being prepared for satya paddy. Public health good.

[Met]eorological Office, Bengal,
The 9th March 1886.

Offg. Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1886.

THE normal meteorological conditions obtaining in the Province of Bengal during the month of February show clearly the commencement of the transition from the cold to the hot season. The most important feature is undoubtedly the rapid increase of temperature which usually commences this month, and which is continued during the following two or three months. The rapid increase of temperature is due to the rapidly increasing elevation of the sun, and from well-known principles, this heating effect is much more pronounced and clearly marked over the land area than over the sea. Temperature therefore not only increases rapidly, but also at different rates in different parts of the country, determined mainly by their position with reference to the sea, and with reference to neighbouring ranges of hills.

The seat of maximum temperature in the actual cold-weather months is generally in Southern India, but with the rapidly increasing elevation of the sun, the seat of maximum temperature moves northwards until at the close of February, the hottest parts of India are the western and northern parts of the Deccan. As pointed out previously, a land area is very much more rapidly heated than a sea area, and consequently in Bengal the air over the land surface becomes hotter than that over the sea, and the dry northerly winds of the north-east monsoon are gradually replaced by southerly moist winds. The change usually commences on the coast of Orissa and South-West Bengal, some time in February, where the winds are at first very local, but the southerly winds, produced of course by similar causes acting over the whole of Northern India, gradually extend their influence seaward and landward, until they finally replace the north-east monsoon winds by the south-west monsoon current. The establishment of the southerly moist winds in Bengal is not, however, a steady and continuous process, but usually a series of oscillations takes place before the southerly winds become thorougly established, the number and extent of which probably depend on the strength of the previous north-east monsoon, and on the strength of the southerly winds produced by the unequal heating effect of the sun's rays over the land and sea area.

The normal conditions of February in Bengal are therefore comparatively simple. Temperature increases steadily and rapidly; winds are light and in some cases very variable, usually alternating between north-west and south-west along the sea-coast. In the interior the air is dry, but near the coast it is subject to sudden changes according as the wind shifts from north to south. The sky is generally clear, and little or no rain falls, unless the normal meteorological conditions are reversed by occasional disturbances. The disturbances which may occur are of two or three kinds. The first are those which have been termed in previous reports north-east monsoon storms, which commence as barometric depressions over Northern India, and drift eastwards and southwards, generally reaching as far as Behar, and in some cases entering Bengal. A second kind of disturbance appears to be due to the interaction of the northerly and southerly wind currents, which apparently results in ascensional motion of the air, and, with the rising of the moist winds, cloud is formed, and such actions are frequently attended by the preciptation of rain. In certain cases, too, from causes difficult to explain, and still more difficult to foresee, though probably connected with vertical ascending air motion, the barometer falls locally over Bengal, the sky clouds over and rain falls. The last class of disturbances, which generally occur only towards the end of the month or the commencement of March, are more local in character, and are probably also due to interaction between the dry land winds and the southerly moist winds. These storms are known as nor'westers, and they bring strong winds, and in many cases heavy rain, and those occurring in February are frequently noticeable from being accompanied by hail.

The average normal rainfall for the month over the Province is small, though somewhat larger than in January. It averages half an inch in Behar, about two thirds of an inch in North Bengal, four-fifths of an inch in Chutia Nagpur, and a little over an inch in Orissa and in East and South-West Bengal.

The chief features in the meteorology of the past month have been—

1. Slight excess pressure over all districts.
2. Diminished temperature in all districts with very decided defect in North Behar.
3. Comparative dryness of the air, particularly in South-West Bengal.
4. Cloud proportion decidedly below the normal.
5. The formation of two disturbances over Upper India of the kind described under the normal meteorology, and absence of the other forms of disturbance.
6. Almost entire absence of rainfall in Orissa, South-West Bengal, East Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, with very light, but general, rain on one or two days in North Bengal and Behar.

At the commencement of the month the north-east monsoon had rather fallen off in strength, but at this time a depression was forming over Northern India, which gave rather heavy rainfall over Upper India, and brought heavy falls of snow to the North-Western Himalaya. The disturbance extended and brought a few very light local showers to this province, which fell principally in Orissa, Behar, and Chutia Nagpur, and with its disappearance a steady northerly wind current again set in, which caused a very rapid reduction of humidity and temperature over Bengal. These strongly developed north-east monsoon conditions continued till about the middle of the month, and they were again followed by a few days of rather variable winds with increasing temperature and humidity, when another and very considerable barometric depression was formed over Northern India, and these disturbed conditions brought general rain to North Bengal and Behar generally on the 17th and 18th. A fairly strong and steady northerly wind current then again set in over Bengal, and again temperature and humidity rapidly decreased, and generally remained comparatively low till nearly the end of the month, when temperature and humidity rapidly increased with the setting in of southerly winds. The month has then been marked by several sudden transitions of meteorological conditions of the kind previously referred to.

Pressure was, the first few days of the week decidedly below the normal, and the defect for the first week was 0·046″. During the second week the defect became entirely obliterated, and was replaced by an excess of 0·061″. In the third week the excess had been reduced to 0·018″ and in the last week the excess was 0·024″. For the whole month the average pressure has therefore not been very far removed from the normal, and the variation of the mean pressure of the province from the normal is an excess of only 0·011″. This excess is fairly evenly distributed, as the excess pressure of the districts only varies between 0·017″ in East Bengal to 0·004″ in South Behar.

Temperature has been pretty steadily below the normal for the whole month. The largest average variation occurred during the second week, when a period of considerable comparative coldness was registered. In this week the mean temperature of the province was nearly 4° below the normal, and in some districts the defect was nearly 5°. For the whole month the mean temperature of the province has been about 2·2° below the normal, but by far the greatest variation has been shown by North Behar, where temperature has been 5·4° below the normal. In Orissa, South-West Bengal and East Bengal the defect has been about 2°, while in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur the defect has only been about 1°.

Rainfall, except for the very light and general fall over North Bengal and Behar, brought by the disturbed conditions from Northern India on the 16th to the 18th, has been practically absent over the whole province. The largest average rainfall of any meteorological division for the month has been only 0·21 inch in North Bengal, the next largest is only 0·18 inch in South Behar, while North Behar has received 0·09 inch. In other divisions the rainfall has been so small that it only amounts to one or two hundredths of an inch. It is therefore scarcely necessary to say that in all cases rainfall has been largely below the normal for the month.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven Meteorological Divisions of the Province for the month of February 1886:—

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the [illegible] period for the past ten years. The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast [illegible] by 10. The number denoting cloud amount represents the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head "District" observations of rainfall," the normal means are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the past 12 years. The means of the "district" are the numerical averages of the rainfall returns received [illegible] the district (i.e.) from the total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A [illegible] day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA, the 8th March 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 5TH OF MARCH 1886.

For the first three or four days of the week the meteorological conditions were those of the commencement of the hot weather, and pressure fell generally, temperature rose rapidly, the average daily rise being about two and in some cases three degrees, humidity also rose rapidly, and generally winds were south-westerly over the greater part of the province. On the 1st of March, in particular, the conditions appeared to be approaching closely those of the hot weather, but a rather rapid series of barometric changes took place, which resulted on the 4th instant in the formation of a distinct, but shallow, area of barometric depression over part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and which influenced the wind directions of a considerable area of country. These disturbed conditions on the following day brought a few small local storms, in most cases accompanied by rain, and in some cases by hail also, over parts of Orissa, South-West and East Bengal, but except for these showers the whole province has again been practically rainless for the week.

Pressure has varied rather considerably during the week, for the first-half falling rapidly, while during the second-half there was a considerable recovery. In the previous week pressure was 0·024″ in excess of the normal, but for the present week, the mean pressure of the province shows a defect of 0·049″ below the normal. The defect has been largest in Behar, where at Gya it equals 0·083,″ while it has been comparatively small in East Bengal, where the defect is 0·022″.

Temperature, as above stated, rose with great rapidity for the greater part of the week, and it is now very largely above the normal, the mean temperature over the whole Province being between 4° and 5° above the normal. The largest excess has been in Chutia Nagpur, where it averages 5·4°, and in South-West Bengal the average excess was 4·9°.

This excess temperature has been rather unequally distributed over the night and day, as is shewn clearly in the table below, where the mean maximum and minimum temperatures for the week at eight selected stations are compared with the normal temperatures for the same period. From this table it will be seen that the average day temperatures at the eight stations have been 4·3° in excess of the normal, while the average night temperatures have been 6·7° in excess. In some cases the excess in minimum temperature has been very large, thus at Hazaribagh the excess in the night temperature is no less than 11·5°, while at Jessore the excess has been 9·5°.

Hazaribagh	83·2	88·6	+5·4	51·9	63·4	+11·5

The changes in humidity during the week have been very large and rapid, and thus at Calcutta, from 10 A. M. of the 1st to the morning of the 2nd, there was a decrease in the humidity equal to 50 per cent., and from the 2nd to the 3rd there was an increase equal to 44 per cent.

The distribution of the small amounts of rain which have fallen has already been referred to. East Bengal has averaged 0·20 inch, while in Orissa and East Bengal the amounts are so small, that they only average a few hundredths of an inch. Over the remainder of the province rainfall has been absent.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 5th March 1886 :—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of former years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2°·1 lower; and, finally, the thermometer, which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 96 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

The table annexed to this memorandum, exhibiting the vital statistics of the principal Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 20th February 1886, furnishes the following particulars :—

1. That the birth-rate in these Municipalities was 22·2 per 1,000 of population against very nearly the same proportion, viz. 22·1 per 1,000 during the preceding week ending 13th February, and the death-rate 24·4 against 23·7 per 1,000.

2. That the following Municipalities returned the highest proportions of births and deaths :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Utterpara	37·8	Jessore	67·3
Bhagulpore	37·1	Suburbs of Calcutta	41·6
Monghyr	35·2	Purneah	38·1
Howrah	32·1	Puri	33·6
		Bali	31·6
		Burdwan	30·5

3. That the mortality from the principal diseases (specified below) exhibits no noticeable difference in comparison with the death-rates from the same diseases in the preceding week :—

	Ratio per mille during weeks ending— 20th February 1886.	13th February 1886.
Cholera	1·5	1·4
Small-pox	·03	·03
Fever	10·5	10·8
Bowel-complaints	4·6	4·1
Injury	·2	·3
Other causes	7·5	7·0

4. That of the abovementioned diseases, cholera, fever and the maladies classed under the head of "Other causes" proved conspicuously fatal to life in the following Municipalities :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Puri	8·4	Jessore	49·0	Puri	16·8
Suburbs of Calcutta	4·1	Chittagong	25·8	Midnapore	12·4
Howrah ...	4·0	Purneah	24·3	Suburbs of Calcutta ...	12·4
		Burdwan	21·4	Dacca	11·7
				Patna	10·3

5. That in relation to Sex, Class and Age the mortality of the week stands as follows :—

According to Sex.	Ratio per mille.	According to Class.	Ratio per mille.	According to Age.	Ratio per mille.
Males	24·6	Christians	34·8	Under 1 year ...	140·6

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, [illegible]

NOTIFICATION.

The 24th March 1886.—Under section 31 of the Indian Forest Act (VII of 1878), and with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following rules for the forests in the Khoorda sub-division of the district of Pooree in Orissa, which have been declared to be protected, or which may hereafter be declared to be protected :—

Any person infringing any one of the following rules is liable, under section 32 of the Indian Forest Act, to be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to Rs. 500, or with both.

Licenses to remove forest produce and to graze animals.

I —No person shall, without a license, cut, convert or remove from these forests any firewood, brushwood, thatching and fodder-grass, thorns or bamboos or other forest produce as named in the annexed schedule of rates, or shall graze any animals in the forests.

II.—Every license issued for the purposes stated in Rule I shall specify .—

(a) The name and description of the person in whose favour it is granted.

(b) The forest block or locality in which the permission it grants may alone be exercised.

(c) The description and quantity of produce or grazing for which the permission is granted.

(d) The period for which the permission is granted.
(e) The rates and amount to be paid by the license holder.
(f) Any special precaution required to be observed by the license-holder.

III.—Licenses will be issued by the officer in charge of the Khoorda forests, or by Forest officers in charge of ranges, on prepayment of the rates specified in the tariff below. A copy of the tariff will be given by these officers on application.

IV.—Licenses will not be granted in excess of the capabilities of the forests.

V.—The rates named in the tariff below are subject to any modifications in favour of the ryots of the Government estate of Khoorda which the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time by executive order direct.

VI.—The holder of a license issued under the above rules shall produce it for inspection when called on to do so by any forest or police officer, and any such officer may stop for examination any timber or other forest produce found within or passing out of the protected forests. Licenses shall be returned to the office of issue on the expiration of the term for which they are granted.

Fires.

VII.—No person (whether resident or traveller) shall kindle, keep, or carry any fire within a Protected Forest, except in such localities, at such seasons, and under such precautions as the Forest Officer may from time to time notify in this respect. No person shall kindle any fire outside a Protected Forest, which is liable to spread into such forest on account of dry grass and jungle-growth extending to the forest, or for any other reason, without taking all necessary precautions to prevent the fire from thus spreading.

VIII.—If any person, holding a license under the above rules, offends against these rules in so far as they relate to the protection of forests from fire, he shall, if the Forest Officer so direct, forfeit such license for the year, and all timber or other forest produce owned by such offender that has not at the time been removed outside the boundary of the forests may, at the discretion of the Forest Officer, be confiscated, in addition to any penalty which the offender may incur under section 32 of the Indian Forest Act.

Schedule of Rates.

IX.—With reference to the above rules, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to prescribe the following rates of royalty to be paid on trees and other forest produce cut, collected, removed or consumed in or from the Khoorda protected forests under licenses issued under the said rule till further notice:—

Order by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, issued with reference to Rule IV of the Khoorda Forest Rules.

Until further orders—

Every occupier of a house within the Government estate of Khoorda will be permitted on prepayment of an annual fee of 4 annas to remove without further charge such firewood, brushwood, thatching and fodder grass, thorns for fencing, canes and bamboos as may be required for his own domestic use, but not for sale, and also (subject to the under mentioned proviso) to graze all animals, of which he is the bonâ fide owner, on taking out annually a license, which shall specify the forest block or the locality in which the permission it grants may alone be exercised. The license shall ordinarily run from 1st April to 31st March in the following year: but it may be for any shorter period terminating on 31st March. Such a license shall always run, however, to the date of payment of the first kist of the land revenue in the succeeding year, if that be later than 1st April. Provided that, under this rule householders shall not be entitled to graze buffalos or goats except in localities approved of and allotted by the forest officers.

The annual licenses above named will be issued by the Forest Department either directly through its officers or through the Tehsildar of Khoorda. When such licenses are issued through the Tehsildar of Khoorda, prepayment made through the Tehsildar at the time when ryots of the estate pay the first kist on account of land revenue for the year shall be held to be prepayment for the said license.

Free licenses will be granted for the quarrying and removal of stone required by ryots of the Khoorda estate for bonâ fide building purposes, or other works of improvement within the estate only, on written application to the officer in charge of the Orissa Forest Division, or his duly authorized assistant in charge of the Khoorda Forest sub-division.

Change in the Anchorage limits of the Port of Mangalore.

IN supersession of all previous Notices to Mariners issued from this Department, notice is hereby given that the Gúrpúr, or Northern mouth of the harbour at Mangalore is closed fôr traffic for sea going vessels, owing to the bad state of the mouth and the intricacy of the channel leading into the port.

Pattimars and other small native craft may enter at high-water by the Ullal or Southern mouth, and will find good anchorage inside the sand spit near the Southern Boundary Pillar; but as the bar is very shallow, no buggalows. kotias, or other large native vessels can enter the harbour laden, nor find any shelter from North-Westers prevailing in March, April, and May. All such vessels bound for the Port of Mangalore should therefore be provided with good ground tackle for anchoring in the outer roadstead in not less than 4 fathoms of water (low water), with the lighthouse bearing between E. by N. and N.E. by E.

READ—

Report of the Committee appointed to enquire into and report on the working and management of the Circular Canals.

Report by the Board of Revenue.

Note by Chief Engineer.

RESOLUTION.—In discussing the general management of these canals the Committee reported that since 1855 the supervision of the Calcutta Canals has been directly under the Commissioner of the Nuddea or Presidency Division, and they did not consider that this worked well. There was not, however, a concensus of opinion as to what change should be made, two of the Committee recommending that the Supervisor should be placed under the Magistrate-Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs, one member being of opinion that the canals should form a sub-division of the Eastern and Circular Canals Division under the Executive Engineer.

The question was an important one, and the opinions of the Commissioner and of the Board of Revenue were specially called for. The former upheld the proposal to place the general management under the Magistrate-Collector, while the Board of Revenue considered that the existing system should hold, or that the Supervisor should work directly under the Board. On a full consideration of all that has been urged, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the present system fails in securing that close personal supervision which is so much needed, while nothing would be gained by a transfer to the Magistrate-Collector, that officer being quite as unable as the Commissioner of the Presidency Division to afford the necessary leisure. It has never been the practice for the Board of Revenue in its single or collective capacity to visit, inspect, and examine the working of any department. All the action they could take would be upon the submission of returns and reports, and this is not exactly the system which the necessities of the case most require. His Honor is therefore of opinion that the working of these canals should be placed under the Executive and Superintending Engineers, subject to the orders of Government in the Irrigation Department of Public Works. Accordingly the following notification is issued.

The other proposals and recommendations of the Committee will be dealt with departmentally.

NOTIFICATION.

IT is hereby notified for general information that from the 1st April next the management of the Calcutta Canals will vest in the Public Works Department, and that the regulation of the traffic and collection of tolls will be carried out, according to the rules in force from time to time, under the orders of the Executive Engineer, Eastern and Circular Canals Division, who is hereby appointed a "Supervisor," under sections 8 and 13 of Act V (B.C.) of 1864.

No. 121.—Notification.—It is hereby notified, under section II, Act V of 1864 (B.C.), in supersession of all previous notifications, that the provisions of the said Act shall apply to the following navigable channels from 1st April 1886, viz:—

I.—The Circular Canal, comprising the whole of the still-water canals between the Dhappa and Chitpore Locks, together with its junction with the river Hooghly, and the Orange Soorah at Dhappa.

II.—The Central Lake Channel, from its junction with the Calcutta Canal at the Dhappa Lock to its junction with the Biddiadharee at Bamunghatta.

III.—The Nowbhanga khal, extending northwards for a mile from its junction with the Central Lake Channel below the Dhappa Lock.

IV.—The Soorah, from its junction with the Central Lake Channel below the Dhappa Lock, and extending to the fish market situated adjacent to, and to the west of, the Dhappa Inspector's residence.

V.—Tolly's Nullah, extending from its junction with the river Hooghly at Kidderpore to the Biddiadharee river at Samookpottah.

VI.—The Biddiadharee river from Bamunghatta to Samookpottah.

No. 122.—Notification.—Agreeably to section VI of the Canals Act, V of 1864 (B.C.), it is hereby notified that, on and after the 1st April 1886, licenses for a period not exceeding six months will be granted on the rates mentioned below for boats plying on the Circular Canal between the locks at Dhappa and Chitpore. The number of licenses will be restricted to 20, and boats carrying such license will have free use of the Canal within the locks named above—

	Rs.	A.
For boats measuring up to 150 maunds ...	5	0	per mensem.
For every additional 50 maunds above 150 maunds	2	8	ditto.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 113.

The 18th March 1886.

THE following accounts and reports of the Road Committees of the districts of Chittagong, Noakhally, Tipperah, and Chittagong Hill Tracts, for the cess year 1884-85, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, are published for general information.

D. B. HORN,
Under-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 218L, dated Chittagong, the 12th January 1886.

From—The Chairman, District Road Committee, Chittagong,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual accounts and report of the District Road Cess Committee, Chittagong, for the cess year 1884-85.

2. Messrs. Samuells and Manson were the Chairmen, and Mr Casperss and Baboo Dena Nath De, Deputy Magistrate, were the Vice-Chairmen; during the year. The Committee consisted of 22 members, of whom two ceased to be members, and three newly appointed. The average attendance of members was good, and some of them took great interest in their work.

3. The practice of allowing the Chairman of the Branch Committee at Cox's Bazar to look after the district roads in that sub-division having been found contrary to rules, it has been discontinued, and the supervision of all district works has been given to the District Engineer, who is alone responsible for their maintenance. A sum of Rs. 3,000 was sanctioned for the village roads in Cox's Bazar sub-division, of which Rs. 3,015 have been spent. A sum of Rs. 16,111 was sanctioned for village works in the Sudder sub-division, of which Rs. 11,294 have been spent. Several village communications have been kept up, and it is hoped that the state of the village roads is gradually improving. There is always a demand for opening out village communications, but we spend all we can possibly spare without detriment to district works.

Planting of trees.—No new trees have been planted during the year. Those that were planted in previous years have been maintained. This is not a district where planting of trees is required.

4. The following report will show how the district roads have been maintained—

Robertgunge road No. 1.—This road is four miles in length from Zorargunge to river Feni. Surface repairs to two miles and a coating of three inches earth on the other two miles have been done. Jungles cleared and slopes of roads turfed and bridges kept up.

Mohajan Hât road No. 2.—This is five miles in length. It extends northward from Jorwargunge to Mohajan's hât. The jungles have been cut and the road repaired; bridges and inspection bungalows have received the necessary repairs.

Moishkhally Strand road No. 3.—It extends from the municipal boundary to the sea beach at Halishahar. It has been repaired and in places sanded up. The approaches to bridges have been metalled with bricks.

Halishahar road No. 4.—It commences from the western boundary of the municipality to Halishahar, where it joins road No. 3. It has undergone surface repairs and jungle cutting.

Moishkhally towing path No. 5.—It is a tow-path from Halishahar to Kattoli. The surface repairs have been done and the slopes improved with earth and turfing, and brick metalling has been done to approaches of bridges.

Tipperah pass road No. 6.—It commences from the western boundary of the municipality to the Trunk road. The passes have been widened, levelled, and provided with side surface drains.

Flora pass road No. 7.—Brick metal has been given over the approaches to bridges, and side surface drains made for the easy flow of water.

Nasirabad road No. 8.—It commences from the municipal boundary to the 5th mile of the Ramgher road. Surface repairs have been done and jungle cleared.

Bakolia road No. 9—It commences from the north-eastern boundary of the municipality to river Karnafully. The road has received surface repairs, and sand thrown in places very muddy. Pipe drains have also been made.

Kaloorghat road No. 10—It has also received partial petty repairs.

Ramgher road, I section, No. 11.—This is nine miles in length. It extends from the northern boundary of the municipality to the 12th mile towards Ramgher. This road has a very heavy cart traffic. Surface repairs have been done. Approaches to bridges have been metalled with bricks and a wooden bridge has been replaced with an iron one.

Ramgher road, II section, No. 12.—This is 35 miles in length, and is continuation of road No 11. It has been raised; 45 wooden and tatty bridges have been made. Two iron bridges have been thoroughly repaired. A part of it is fit for vehicles. All the inspection bungalows have been repaired.

Fennah road No. 13.—This road has been made passable for carts. Six iron bridges have been put up, and all the bridges thoroughly repaired.

Hill Tracts road, I section, No. 14.—The road has received surface repairs and all bridges repaired.

Hill Tracts road, II section, No. 15.—All the gaps have been bridged with trough plates, earthenware pipes and bamboo mats.

Chandpore road No. 16.—This road is rather circuitous and it has been proposed to straighten it. It is hardly fit for cart traffic. Surface repairs done and stoneware pipes put in places.

Anwara road No. 17.—This is a continuation of the Patiya Anwara road. It has received the necessary surface repairs.

Poroikora road No. 18.—Earthwork has been done where needed, and the bridges repaired. A new inspection bungalow has been built at Poroikora.

Dhalghat road No. 19.—This road is unfit mostly for cart traffic. The necessary repairs to the surface and bridges have been done.

Sakerapole road No. 20.—This road has also received petty repairs. A small inspection hut has been built near Sakerapole.

Boalkhally towing path No. 21.—Earthwork done in places required, and bamboo bridges kept up throughout the year.

Arrakan road, I section, No. 22.—This is 33 miles in length. Surface repairs have been done. Three wooden bridges have been replaced by iron ones, and corrugated planking has been used in two other bridges. It has numerous hill streams which have been left unbridged. The inspection bungalows have been thoroughly repaired.

Khororah road No. 23.—This goes from 10th mile of Arrakan road to Khororah tea garden. Surface repair has been done and sands put in places which were very muddy. Two bridges of stoneware pipes have been made and the rest repaired.

Cox's Bazar road No. 24.—This runs from Cox's Bazar to Ramoo. The necessary earthwork has been done and a new iron bridge put up.

Meetaserrah road No. 25.—Repairs to the surface and timber bridges have been completed.

Issapore road No. 26.—Surface repairs to the road done and eight tatty and bamboo foot-bridges have been made.

Koddlepore road No. 27.—This road has been partially repaired and widened. Two wooden bridges have been thoroughly repaired, but the bridges being narrow the road is not fit for cart traffic.

Rangonia road No. 28.—It has received surface repairs throughout its length. One long iron bridge 100′ × 8′ has been constructed over the Katakhalli nala. Trough plates have been provided over four gaps and pipe culverts over six.

Arrakan road, II section, No. 29.—This road is 55 miles in length. It is a continuation of road No. 22, and extends up to Arrakan borders. Petty repairs have been done all the length, and jungle cleared. Four timber bridges have been thoroughly repaired with jarool wood.

Ramoo branch road No. 30.—The length of the road is 44 miles, a new alignment having been made in the first five miles. A large quantity of earthwork has been done. Bamboo foot-bridges have been also put up.

Garjonia dâk line No. 31.—Repairs to the surface have been done and foot-bridges put up in places.

Tecknaf road No. 32.—This is strictly speaking not a road, but a path. It has been supplied with foot bridges.

Rampore road No. 33.—Petty repairs to surface done and gaps bridged with bamboo foot-bridges.

Jaldi road No. 34.—Bamboo foot bridges have been put up for the dâk-runners throughout the year.

Shagerkota Dhalla road No. 55.—Surface repair and jungle cutting have been done, and foot-bridges of entire timber trees have been put up in places.

Satkania road No. 56.—Petty repairs to the surface and bridges have been executed.

Sukpura road No. 57.—A coating of three inches earth has been given throughout the length, and bamboo foot-bridges have been put right

Kolagong road No. 58.—Bridges in good order and repaired. Surface repairs executed.

Kattoli road No. 59.—The road has received surface repairs. Two stoneware pipes have been put in and bridges repaired.

Captain Leak's road No. 60.—The surface has been repaired and the road widened in places and bamboo hand railings to channel iron bridges given.

Patiya Anwara road No. 61.—The foot-bridges and the surface of the road have been repaired.

Moodan's Jangal No. 62.—A mile of this road has been raised. Two pipes laid and bamboo foot-bridges repaired.

Ranjan road, I and II sections, No. 63.—One timber bridge over the Sanaicherri has been put up and an old bridge repaired. Nine bamboo foot-bridges have been repaired. An iron bridge has been put over the Katalbhanga nalla.

Chandra Ghona road No. 64.—It has been raised, widened and turfed in the first two miles.

Pomora road No. 65.—This road has been raised in places, the surface repairs done, and tatty bridges repaired.

Office building.—The construction of this building has been let out on contract too late for brick manufacture. Collection of woodwork and ironwork has been only made during the year.

The workshop, built of corrugated sheets, have been kept up for fitting up iron bridges for materials procured from Europe.

5. This district is a network of hill streams and khals which require a very large sum to bridge them. The wooden bridges that formerly existed on some of them are being replaced with iron ones, and as the latter cost a large sum of money it has been thought advisable to spend the largest share of the income towards this object, and to spend as little as possible on earthwork. When all the bridges are finished, an extensive repair to the roads will be attended to. The rainfall here being very heavy, and the roads being mostly of mud, they become impassable during the rains, and even for some time after the cessation of rains. An attempt will be made, when funds are available, to improve their present condition.

6. The number of district roads is, I am afraid, so large that it is impossible to keep them in efficient condition with the road cess resources that are at our disposal. A large number of the unimportant roads should either be excluded from the list, or nothing should be done on them till the most important road communications are improved.

7. The difficulty of procuring good drinking water on the sides of hills continues as before, as nothing could have been done for want of funds.

8. Considering that the canals are more used by the people for transport of merchandise, it has been proposed to take up all navigable canals on the list of district roads and canals.

9. The establishment have worked well except the Chairman's accountant, who was suspended for irregularities.

D. N. DE,

Vice-Chairman, District Road Committee.

No. 83R.C.C, dated Noakhally, the 11th December 1885.

From—The Chairman, District Road Committee, Noakhally,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the annual accounts of the District Road Fund for the year 1884-85, duly audited by the sub-committee.

2. Original works.—On a reference to the account it will appear that no very important original work was undertaken during the year under review. We only put up a few iron bridges with masonry abutments on the old roads. The greater portion of the amount under this head was swallowed by compensation for land taken up.

District Engineer reports :—" Four 18′ 10″ span and one 28′ 10″ span iron bridges were completed with pucca abutments on Chagalnyah road, and two 8′ 6″ span bridges on old Lakhipur road. The construction of other bridges was stopped, as the projects are not sanctioned. Bricks required for the abutments of bridges on old Lakhipur, Ramgunge, Hatya, and Sundeep roads were partly manufactured. Two 30 feet span, two 20 feet span and ten feet span iron bridges were put up temporarily in some of the roads for making them passable.

"Projects for the following works were made and sanctioned during the year :—Bridging Hatya road; constructing a bridge over Pathanghur Churra, Chagalnyah road; constructing three inspection bungalows; and constructing smaller bridges of 8′ 6″ span on Chittagong and Ramgunge roads.

"The projects for the following works were prepared and submitted for sanction :—Constructing bridges on old Lakhipur road, cutting bunds of khal on the side of old Lakhipur road, and constructing second portion of Sundeep road.

3. Repairs.—The roads within Municipality had surface repairs done them and some have been metalled for the first time this year.

4. The heavy downpour of rain caused great damage to our roads, and the earth-work of most of the kutcha roads was wholly or partially washed away by the rain. Breaches were caused in some of the roads by the heavy overflow of water, and in certain places some of the roads were cut through to make a passage for the vast sheet of water that stood in the adjoining fields.

District Engineer reports :—" The main roads of the district were thoroughly repaired. Some of the less important roads were only surface repaired. There was a very heavy flood this year at Feni sub-division, which did considerable damage to Chagalnyah road, and washed away the earthwork of half the road for about two miles. One small bridge on this road was completely broken by the rush of water, but the road was not breached except at the place where the bridge was standing. In Parashuram road there were two breaches caused by the rush of water overflowing the banks of Muhuri river near Foolgazi. These damages were repaired within the year as much as practicable."

"There were heavy rains in August last, and portions of Begumgunge, old Lakhipur, and Kazbalia roads were under water. The two most important roads of the district—viz. the Dewangunge and Bhowanigunge roads, were found too low, and at places the water rose to the edges of the roads. Some of the roads were cut to make passages for letting out water from the fields, and breaches were caused in Lakhipur, Begumgunge, and Raipur roads by the heavy rains."

"The roads within the Municipality were repaired partly, and portions of Shahebghatta, Kalitara, and Bhowanigunge roads, within the limits of Municipality, were metalled."

"During the year 77 bridges on the different roads were thoroughly repaired."

5. Village roads.—Very little has been done this year for village communications. The branch committee at Feni did some work under this head, as the report of Chairman will show.

6. Planting trees.—No new trees have been planted this year. The storm of 1st November 1884 injured some of the plants, and a few of them have since died.

District Engineer reports—The trees planted were maintained this year, and most of them are thriving well. No new trees were planted this year. There was a storm on the first of November 1884, which injured some of the plants, and a few of them have since died. During last rains the beds of some of the trees were under water, from which also some of them have died. The dead plants have been partly replaced; but as good plants are not easily available, and as there is no nursery to supply good plants, about half of them have not been replaced."

7. Working establishment—One of our overseers, Nabeen Chandra Ghose, was prosecuted for receiving illegal gratifications from the contractors. The man was let off in appeal.

District Engineer reports :—"There was considerable change in the establishment under me during the year. The overseer of Feni, Baboo Nabeen Chandra Ghose, was prosecuted on several charges, but was acquitted by the District Judge. He has since resigned his post. Baboo Durga Charan Mukerjea, sub-overseer of Sundeep, was transferred to Feni sub-division with increased pay, but was found inefficient for the post, and transferred again to Lakhipur sub-division. This officer has failed to give me satisfaction. He is slow, negligent in his duties, and very deficient in accounts, and his conduct towards me was disrespectful. Baboo Anupam Chandra Bose was appointed overseer of Lakhipur, but was transferred to Feni sub-division. He is a new man, but does not seem to be very efficient. The sub-overseer, Mr. D. E. Ferrault, was in charge of the Sudder and Hatiya sub-divisions, and was always found very useful. He is hardworking, intelligent, and willing to work. Sub-overseer Baboo Sarat Chandra Bose has been in charge of Sundeep sub-division from 19th January 1885. He is also a new man, but managed his work well. The office establishment worked satisfactorily."

8. The head clerk and accountant of the committee office is a thoroughly honest man and an excellent accountant. The second clerk is also intelligent and hardworking. Both the above officers did their work satisfactorily.

9. The Vice-Chairman, Baboo Ram Lal Sen, was attentive to his duties. The District Engineer continued to give satisfaction.

No. 242M., dated Feni, the 30th October 1885.

From—BABOO NABEEN CHANDRA SEN, Chairman, Branch Road Cess Comtee., Feni,
To—The Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Noakhally.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following administration report on the working of the Branch Road Cess Committee of this sub-division for the cess year ending with 30th September 1885.

2. The Committee at present consists of 11 members. There were four meetings during the year, and the average attendance was 6·7, in which the members evinced fair interest. The number of meetings was no doubt small, but the funds placed at the disposal of the committee being limited, large number of meetings was not required.

3. The amount allotted during the year was Rs. 2,440, which with Rs. 155, the balance of the previous year, making a total of Rs. 2,595, was available for expenditure. Of this, Rs. 2,563-13-3 was expended during the year in the following manner, leaving a balance of Rs. 31-2-9 only :—

4. A departure was made during the year in the working of the committee. In the previous years the funds would be applied to the repair of a large number of roads, and the amount available for each being a trifle on that account, compared with the length and nature of the road, a handful of earth would be scattered here and there. It would be washed away by the rains, leaving the road what it was before. The committee therefore determined to take up as many roads during the year under report as the funds allotted for the purpose would enable them to put thoroughly in order. These roads have been made sufficiently broad to admit of cart traffic—the only means of trade available in this sub-division; and the earthwork having been rammed and turfed, they are now substantial roads which with slight repair would become permanent means of communications. The present plan has proved so satisfactorily that if the committee would stick to it, they would in a few years be able to cover the sub-division with small lines of village roads, making every part of the sub-division accessible all round the year.

Copy of the proceedings of the Special Meeting of the District Road Committee held on the 15th December 1885.

PRESENT :

Baboo Ram Lal Sen, Vice-Chairman.
" Satish Chandra Bose, Road Cess Deputy Collector.
" Raj Kumar Moitra.
" Bhyrub Chandra Das.

I.—Baboo Satish Chandra Bose proposes to note that there are no materials before the committee from which they can approve of the remarks made by the District Engineer regarding the overseer, Baboo Durga Charan Mukerjea. Baboo Bhyrub Chandra Das seconds this proposal, and carried nem con.

II.—The annual account and the report of the Chairman is passed subject to the aforesaid resolution.

III.—A copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Commissioner along with the annual report.

EXPLANATION.

RECEIPTS.

Miscellaneous.—Rupees 1,500 transferred from this head to "Grant from Government" under instructions of the Accountant-General conveyed in his half marginal memorandum No. 0217LF, dated 19th November 1885.

The total of "Miscellaneous" and "Grant from Government" will give the total under "Miscellaneous" as shown in the progressive column of the monthly return for September 1885.

EXPENDITURE.

PROVINCIAL RATES.—Establishment and Contingencies of Office of Collection.—There will appear a difference of Rs. 2-6-9 under the head when compared with the progressive total of the monthly account for September last. This is owing to the amount having been transferred from the head of "Stationery and Printing" under this head.

Stationery and Printing.—A similar difference will also appear under the head of "Stationery and Printing," as the amount has been transferred from this head.

RAM LALL SEN,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 276R, dated Comillah, the 31st December 1885.

From—F. H. SKRINE, ESQ., Chairman, Road Cess Committee, Tipperah,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

IN accordance with the provision of section 179 of Act IX of 1880 (B C.), I have the honour to submit a report on the road cess administration of this district during the year ending 30th September 1885, together with a copy of the annual accounts of income and expenditure for that period as passed by the District Road Cess Committee at a special meeting held on the 31st December 1885.

2. Audit accounts.—The Sub-Committee appointed for the purpose of scrutinizing the accounts held monthly meeting during the cess year in accordance with the standing orders of Government. The result of their audit was, on the whole, satisfactory. A copy of the Vice-Chairman's report on this subject (No. 212R, dated 18th December 1885) is herewith submitted (Appendix A).

3. The Road Cess office and that of the District Engineer's were last inspected by Baboo Mohendra Lall Mookerjee, Local Fund Auditor, on the 26th July 1884. His report was to the effect that the "books and returns were all carefully examined and found to be in good order."

4. Committee meetings.—Seven meetings only of the District Road Cess Committee were held during the year, it having been found that all important business could be disposed of in bi-monthly meetings. The Branch Committees met with tolerable punctuality and the attendance of members at District and Branch Committees alike was fairly good.

*   *   *   *   *   *

5. Roads and bridges.—The principal works on which expenditure was incurred during the year were the District Road connecting Comillah and Brahmunberiah, and the provision of bridges for the Kodamtoli road. The first-named work is one of some magnitude and importance. It is divided into three sections, viz :—

		Miles.
1.	From Comillah to Noyanpore	16
2.	From Noyanpore to Araibari	6
3.	From Araibari to Brahmunberiah	18

6. The first and second sections are now complete. The road is provided with adequate waterway, and in capital order. For the third section nine bridges remain to be constructed—a work which will be carried out during the current cess year. Full advantage has been taken of the present extraordinarily low price of iron, and complete bridges of that material have been ordered from England. The plans and estimates relating to the Kadamtoli bridge only received the sanction of Government in May last; and though no time was lost in commencing operations, the early setting in of the rains perforce caused their suspension. Materials have since been collected and the works resumed. The bridge will be ready for public use before the recurrence of rainy weather.

7. Planting trees.—The existing avenues all maintained: considerable progress was made in planting out young trees on the road from Araibari to Brahmunberiah, and the Agartollah, suburban and village roads. Difficulties in the way of planting are—(a) the extreme apathy of the villagers, who allow the gabions protecting the young shoots to be overturned and the plants destroyed by cattle; (b) the unfavourable effect of the soil and climate of this district on fruit trees, which renders it handling with while planting them out. The Ficus Indica has been found, in practice, to be best adapted for avenues, but it is very slow growing, and its roots are apt to injure the slopes.

8. Repairs were confined to the roads marginally shown, and consisted in surface and slope dressing, and the maintenance and construction of temporary bridges. All are good fair weather roads, and have been kept open for foot passengers during the rains by means of bamboo foot-bridges (locally known as shankoes), and in many cases by structures admitting of the passage of carts. The construction of these works is a special industry here, and it is curious to note the skill which the builder devotes to making bridges which shall last just a year and no more.

9. The expenditure on village roads and khals by each committee is shown below. As far as the sudder sub-division is concerned, this money has been well spent, and I have reason to believe that a large proportion of the funds at the disposal of the Branch Committees has been usefully spent.

NAMES OF COMMITTEES.	Number of village roads.	Number of khals or water-courses.	Total cost incurred during the cess year 1884-85.
			Rs. A. P.
District Road Cess Committee	14	3	7,384 6 0

Chandpur ditto ditto	12	2	2,558 12 9
Murdarnagor ditto ditto	7	4	3,316 10 3
Chandagram ditto ditto	16	......	2,476 15 3
	40	11	17,596 10 9

10. I would remark here that a close consideration of the wants of this district has convinced me that the restoration of the old drainage system, admitting, too, of inland navigation, and not the construction of cart roads on anything like a large scale, is what it really needs. During the current year a very important beginning has been made in the shape of comprehensive operation in the Patikara and Gangamandal pergunnahs, towards the cost of which large sums have been subscribed by the local public. The earth excavated will be heaped on one side, forming a foot-path.

11. A very complete and workmanlike set of bye-laws was framed during the year by the Committee with the assistance of the Legal Remembrancer, Mr. C. B. Garrett, C.S., for whose revision the Committee are greatly obliged. The bye-laws received Government sanction on the 25th November 1885, and have already been put into operation with the best effect.

12. An important reform in the external communication of the district was punctually carried into effect during the cess year, though in actual operation was postponed till the middle of December. The route for mails and passengers between Calcutta and Dacca, &c., and Comillah had hitherto been viâ Naraingunge. After a correspondence extending over many months with the authorities of the Eastern Bengal State Railway and those of the Postal Department it has finally been arranged that the former's despatch steamer shall call at Lalpur, Satnal, a village on the left bank of the Meghna, 9 miles from Daudkandi, whence mails, passengers, and goods are conveyed in boats to Daudkandi, the terminus of the Chittagong Provincial road. The result has been an immense improvement in the postal service of the entire division—an improvement which would be indefinitely augmented by the construction of a light line of railway along the Provincial road to Chittagong. This proposal is well worthy of the consideration of private capitalists, as the new line would bring to Chittagong a vast volume of trade in tea and jute, which at present finds its way to Calcutta.

13. Establishments.—The District Engineer, Baboo Pryanath Ghose, possesses a sound scientific training and considerable energy, but is somewhat lacking in organizing power. Hence the immense unexpended balance at the close of the cess year; while so many works of pressing importance remained incomplete and even untouched. The overseers generally worked with efficiency, but their number is far too small to cope with the operations of the Committee—a defect which will be shortly remedied by the appointment of two additional overseers at a consolidated salary of Rs. 50 each. The office establishment, too, is inadequate to the duties imposed upon it, and will be augmented by the addition of third clerk on Rs. 20 per mensem. The introduction of the biennial increment system is also contemplated—a change highly in the interest of the Committee, providing as it would that sense of progress which, according to Mr Bright, is one of the essentials to efficiency.

14. I am persuaded, however, that thoroughly satisfactory work will never be done till a Divisional Superintendent is appointed to check the work of the professional staff and give the benefit of his advice in the case of the operations involving the exercise of high professional skill and experience.

APPENDIX A.

No. 242R, dated Comillah, the 18th December 1885.

From—H. M. WEATHRALL, ESQ., Vice-Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Tipperah,

To—The Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Tipperah.

UNDER section 179 of Act IX of 1880 (B.C.), I have the honour to submit herewith the annual account of the District Road Cess Fund for the cess year 1884-85, as passed by the standing sub committee at a meeting held on the 18th December 1885.

The total receipt of the year, including the balance of the previous cess year, was Rs. 1,42,467-6-3, and the total expenditure amounted to Rs. 72,012-14-3, leaving a balance of Rs. 70,454-8 on the 30th September 1885.

The accounts of the year were examined by the Audit Committee once every month, and twelve meetings of the Sub-Committee held for the purpose above alluded to.

* * * * *

The result of the audit was satisfactory, and the Audit Committee found that the prescribed registers have been properly kept up in the District Road Cess Office, as also in the office of the District Engineer.

The Accountant, Baboo Radha Charan Roy, has been most careful and energetic in the discharge of his onerous duties, and given entire satisfaction throughout the year.

The second clerk has ably seconded the Accountant, and worked with great harmony in the office and credit to himself

A third clerk is very necessary for the great pressure of work in the office. The committee would strongly urge the expediency of an early consideration of the subject.

H. M. WEATHRALL,
Vice-Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Tipperah.

No. 43R, dated Rangamatti, the 25th November 1885.

From—The Deputy Commissioner of Chittagong Hill Tracts,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

IN submitting herewith in duplicate the road fund annual accounts for the cess year 1884-85, I have the honour to state that all the roads of the district, except those in the Mung Rajah's circle, the repairs of which could not be provided for for want of funds, were maintained ordinarily by clearing jungle and throwing up temporary bridges.

2. In the budget estimate for the year a wooden bridge on the Rangamatti and Raojan road was provided for, but the work could not be taken in hand for non-receipt of Government sanction to the extra amount applied for, all the money available having been spent on the Rangamatti and Demagri road.

3. The metalled road from the court-house towards the bazar was completed in the year under review.

4. A new line from Banderbun to Poorangar viâ Raicha was opened out, but ultimately abandoned on account of Raicha having been abolished.

5. The entire line from Rangamatti to Demagri was opened out, following the tract traced in the previous year by Messrs. Parish and Ward, Assistant Superintendents of Police. Portions of this road were inspected by you, and the alterations suggested will be attended to this year.

No. 100—VII-1GM, dated Chittagong, the 25th January 1886.

From—D. R. LYALL, Esq., Offg. Commissioner of the Chittagong Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual report on the administration of road fund in the districts of this division for the cess yeaer ending 30th September 1885, and to forward the district reports and accounts in original, togther with a general abstract of the accounts for the whole division.

2. An abstract of the particulars regarding the meetings of the District Road and Branch Committees in the regulation districts of this division, during the year under report, is enclosed.

3. The district reports and accounts were received in this office on the dates as noted in the margin.

Chittagong, 12th January.
Noakholly, 18th December.
Tipperah, 2nd January.
Hill Tracts, 27th November.

4. The statement below shews the attendance of the members of the District and Branch Road Committees as compared with that of the preceding year:—

Committee.	Cess year ending 30th September 1884.				Cess year ending 30th September 1885.
	Members.		Number of meetings held.	Average attendance at meetings.	Members.		Number of meetings held.	Average attendance at meetings.
	Official.	Non-official.			Official.	Non-official.
Chittagong	5	15	10	8·2	5	17	11	10
Cox's Bazar	2	4	4	3	2	10	7	3·85
Noakholly	5	12	10	6	5	12	9	6
Fenny	2	9	6	6	2	9	4	6·7
Tipperah	5	11	9	6	4	12	7	6·7
Brahmanbariah	6	12	4	5·25	6	12	5	6
Chandpore	6	21	7	10	6	15	6	9·5
Muradnagar	2	19		8·5	2	18	2	12
Chowdagram	3	11	7	8·1	4	11	5	8·6

The above statement shews that Chowdagram, Muradnagar and Fenny were the only places where the attendance averaged over 50 per cent., and in these places the number of meetings held was small.

All Committees, except Chandpore and Noakholly, shew an improvement on last year's attendance, and in Noakholly the percentage of attendance is the same. The number of meetings held at head-quarters was sufficient, being 11 in Chittagong, 9 in Noakholly, and 7 in Tipperah. I much doubt the utility of the two Committees of Muradnagar and Chowdagram in Tipperah, situated as they are away from all control, and think that the other three Committees ought to suffice for the district.

5. The total revenue of the division for the year under report amounted to Rs. 2,97,395-3-2. This, together with the unexpended balance of the previous year and the receipts on account of advances and deposits, gave a total income of Rs. 3,97,724-15-1 available for expenditure during the cess year under report, against Rs. 4,08,149-2-5 in the previous year. The total disbursements, including advances and deposit repayments, amounted to Rs. 2,66,201-11-8, against Rs. 3,22,644-15-5 in the year 1883-84, leaving a large balance in hand of Rs. 1,31,523-3-5, against Rs. 80,504-3 in the previous year. Of this balance, Rs. 70,704 belongs to Tipperah. The Chairman ascribes this large balance to the want of power of organization in the District Engineer, which caused many works of pressing importance to remain undone.

He also considers the subordinate staff too weak to cope with the work, and urges the appointment of a Divisional Superintendent.

6. The report of the Chittagong district shews an income of Rs. 12,552-8 from Canal tolls, and not a pice expended on Canals; while, as I remarked last year, these canals really carry the traffic of the district.

The Committee should be compelled to keep these in better order, or the administration should be removed from their hands.

I do not consider that, on the whole, the road cess expenditure is well managed in this district. The fact of the office not having been built accounts for the most of the balance.

Noakholly.—I do not consider that the sum of Rs. 1,500 shewn as grant from Government is correctly entered. It represents the payment by Government of its share of the cess establishment. This district suffered much from floods in places, the damage entailing heavy repairs.

Tipperah.—In this district, as in Noakholly, a grant from Government is shewn, and the above remarks apply.

The guarantee of the Road Cess Committee to the Eastern Bengal Railway of Rs. 150 a month from traffic from Tipperah has secured, since the close of the year, the very important concession that the daily steamer shall stop at Shatnal. This has accelerated the post of all three districts by 9 to 10 hours, and is a most important improvement.

Gya Collectorate, the 12th March 1886.

C. W. BOLTON, Collector.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned rent-free lands left by one Mongola Brahmini, who died intestate in village Kamalpur, in the Raneegunge sub-division of the Burdwan district, which have been declared as escheat under Government No. 218—31LR, dated 23rd January 1885, will be put up to sale at the Raneegunge Sub-divisional Office at noon, on Tuesday, the 30th March 1886, corresponding with 18th Chaitro (B.S.) 1292.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale :—

1st.—The lands will be sold rent-free to the highest bidder above the upset price.

2nd.—One-fourth of the amount of bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

3rd.—Possession will be given to the purchaser after the confirmation of the sale.

PART V.

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.]

ACT No. VI OF 1886.

THE BIRTHS, DEATHS AND MARRIAGES REGISTRATION ACT, 1886.

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER IV.

AMENDMENT OF MARRIAGE ACTS.

CHAPTER V.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO CERTAIN EXISTING REGISTERS.

CHAPTER VI.

RULES.

An Act to provide for the voluntary Registration of certain Births and Deaths, for the establishment of General Registry Offices for keeping Registers of certain Births, Deaths and Marriages, and for certain other purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the voluntary registration of births and deaths among certain classes of persons, for the more effectual registration of those births and deaths and of the marriages registered under Act III of 1872 or the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, and of certain marriages registered under the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865, and for the establishment of general registry offices for keeping registers of those births, deaths and marriages;

XV of 18872. XV of 1865.

And whereas it is also expedient to provide for the authentication and custody of certain existing registers made otherwise than in the performance of a duty specially enjoined by the law of the country in which the registers were kept, and to declare that copies of the entries in those registers shall be admissible in evidence;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886; and

(2) It shall come into force on such day as the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, directs.

(3) Any power conferred by this Act to make rules or to issue orders may be exercised at any time after the passing of this Act; but a rule or order so made or issued shall not take effect until the Act comes into force.

Local extent.

2. This Act extends to the whole of British India, and applies also, within the dominions of Princes and States in India in alliance with Her Majesty, to British subjects in those dominions.

Definitions.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

"sign" includes mark, when the person making the mark is unable to write his name:

"prescribed" means prescribed by a rule made by the Governor General in Council under this Act: and

"Registrar of Births and Deaths" means a Registrar of Births and Deaths appointed under this Act.

Saving of local laws.

4. Nothing in this Act, or in any rule made under this Act, shall affect any law heretofore or hereafter passed providing for the registration of births and deaths within particular local areas.

Powers exercisable from time to time.

5. All powers conferred by this Act may be exercised from time to time as occasion requires.

CHAPTER II.

GENERAL REGISTRY OFFICES OF BIRTHS, DEATHS AND MARRIAGES.

Establishment of general registry offices and appointment of Registrars General.

6. (1) Each Local Government—

(a) shall establish a general registry office for keeping such certified copies of registers of births and deaths registered under this Act, or marriages registered under Act III of 1872 (to provide a form of marriage in certain cases) or the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, or, beyond the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, under the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865, as may be sent to it under this Act, or under any of the three last-mentioned Acts, as amended by this Act; and

(b) may appoint to the charge of that office an officer, to be called the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, for the territories under its administration:

(2) Provided that the Governor of Bombay in Council may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, establish two general registry offices and appoint two Registrars General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories under his admininistration; one of such general registry offices and of such Registrars General being established and appointed for Sindh and the other for the other territories under the administration of the Governor of Bombay in Council.

Indexes to be kept at general registry office.

7. Each Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall cause indexes of all the certified copies of registers sent to his office under this Act, or under Act III of 1872, the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, or the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865, as amended by this Act, to be made and kept in his office in the prescribed form.

Indexes to be open to inspection.

8. Subject to the payment of the prescribed fees, the indexes so made shall be at all reasonable times open to inspection by any person applying to inspect them, and copies of entries in the certified copies of the registers to which the indexes relate shall be given to all persons applying for them.

The Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886.
(Chapter III.—Registration of Births and Deaths.—Sections 9-17.)

Copies of entries to be admissible in evidence.

9. A copy of an entry given under the last foregoing section shall be certified by the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, or by an officer authorised in this behalf by the Local Government, and shall be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the birth, death or marriage to which the entry relates.

Superintendence of Registrars by Registrar General.

10. Each Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall exercise a general superintendence over the Registrars of Births and Deaths in the territories for which he is appointed.

CHAPTER III.

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

A.—Application of this Chapter.

Persons whose births and deaths are registrable.

11. (1) The persons whose births and deaths shall, in the first instance, be registrable under this chapter are the following, namely:—

(a) in British India, the members of every race, sect or tribe to which the Indian Succession Act, 1865, applies, and in respect of which an order under section 332 of that Act is not for the time being in force, and all persons professing the Christian religion;

(b) in the dominions of Princes and States in India in alliance with Her Majesty, British subjects being members of a like race, sect or tribe, or professing the Christian religion:

(2) But the Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, may, with the previous approval of the Governor General in Council, extend the operation of this chapter to any other class of persons either generally or in any local area.

B.—Registration Establishment.

Power for Local Government to appoint Registrars for its territories.

12. The Local Government may appoint, either by name or by virtue of their office, so many persons as it thinks necessary to be Registrars of Births and Deaths for such local areas within the territories under its administration as it may define and, if it sees fit, for any class of persons within any part of those territories.

Power for Governor General in Council to appoint Registrars for Native States.

13. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint, either by name or by virtue of their office, so many persons as he thinks necessary to be Registrars of Births and Deaths for such local areas within the dominions of any Prince or State in India in alliance with Her Majesty as he may define and, if he sees fit, for any class of persons within any part of those dominions.

Registrar to be deemed a public servant.

14. Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of Power to remove Registrars.

15. (1) The Local Government or the Governor General in Council, as the case may be, may suspend, remove or dismiss any Registrar of Births and Deaths.

(2) A Registrar of Births and Deaths may resign by notifying in writing to the Local Government or to the Governor General in Council, as the case may be, his intention to do so, and, on his resignation being accepted by the Local Government or the Governor General in Council, he shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

Office and attendance of Registrar.

16. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall have an office in the local area, or within the part of the territories or dominions, for which he is appointed.

(2) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths to whom the Local Government may direct this sub-section to apply shall attend at his office for the purpose of registering births and deaths on such days and at such hours as the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages may direct, and shall cause to be placed in some conspicuous place on or near the outer door of his office his name, with the addition of Registrar of Births and Deaths for the local area or class for which he is appointed, and the days and hours of his attendance.

Absence of Registrar or vacancy in his office.

17. (1) When any Registrar of Births and Deaths to whom the Local Government may direct this section to apply, not being a Registrar of Births and Deaths for a local area in the town of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, is absent, or when his office is temporarily vacant, any person whom the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages appoints in this behalf, or, in default of such appointment, the Judge of the District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the Registrar's office is situate, or such other officer as the Local Government appoints in this behalf, shall be the Registrar of Births and Deaths during such absence or until the Local Government fills the vacancy.

(2) When any such Registrar of Births and Deaths for a local area in the town of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay is absent, or when his office is temporarily vacant, any person whom the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages appoints in this behalf shall be the Registrar of Births and Deaths during such absence or until the Local Government fills the vacancy.

The Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886.
(Chapter III.—Registration of Births and Deaths.—Sections 18-24.)

(3) The Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall report to the Local Government all appointments made by him under this section.

Register books to be supplied and preservation of records to be provided for.

18. The Local Government shall supply every Registrar of Births and Deaths with a sufficient number of register books of births and of register books of deaths, and shall make suitable provision for the preservation of the records connected with the registration of births and deaths.

C.—Mode of Registration.

Duty of Registrar to register births and deaths of which notice is given.

19. Every Registrar of Births and Deaths, on receipt of notice of a birth or death within the local area or among the class for which he is appointed, shall, if the notice is given within the prescribed time and in the prescribed mode by a person authorized by this Act to give the notice, forthwith make an entry of the birth or death in the proper register book:

Provided that—

(a) if he has reason to believe the notice to be in any respect false, he may refuse to register the birth or death until he receives an order from the Judge of the District Court directing him to make the entry and prescribing the manner in which the entry is to be made; and

(b) he shall not enter in the register the name of any person as father of an illegitimate child, unless at the request of the mother and of the person acknowledging himself to be the father of the child.

Persons authorized to give notice of birth.

20. Any of the following persons may give notice of a birth, namely:—

(a) the father or mother of the child;

(b) any person present at the birth;

(c) any person occupying, at the time of the birth, any part of the house wherein the child was born and having knowledge of the child having been born in the house;

(d) any medical practitioner in attendance after the birth and having personal knowledge of the birth having occurred;

(e) any person having charge of the child.

Persons authorized to give notice of death.

21. Any of the following persons may give notice of a death, namely:—

(a) any relative of the deceased having knowledge of any of the particulars required to be registered concerning the death;

(b) any person present at the death;

(c) any person occupying, at the time of the death, any part of the house wherein the death occurred and having knowledge of the deceased having died in the house;

(d) any person in attendance during the last illness of the deceased;

(e) any person who has seen the body of the deceased after death.

Entry of birth or death to be signed by person giving notice.

22. (1) When an entry of a birth or death has been made by the Registrar of Births and Deaths under section 19, the person giving notice of the birth or death must sign the entry in the register in the presence of the Registrar.

(2) Until the entry has been so signed, the birth or death shall not be deemed to be registered under this Act.

(3) When the birth of an illegitimate child is registered, and the mother and the person acknowledging himself to be the father of the child jointly request that that person may be registered as the father, the mother and that person must both sign the entry in the register in the presence of the Registrar.

Grant of certificate of registration of birth or death.

23. The Registrar of Births and Deaths shall, on application made at the time of registering any birth or death by the person giving notice of the birth or death, and on payment by him of the prescribed fee, give to the applicant a certificate in the prescribed form, signed by the Registrar, of having registered the birth or death.

Duty of Registrars as to sending certified copies of entries in register books to Registrar General.

24. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths in British India shall send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories within which the local area or class for which he is appointed is situate or resides, at the prescribed intervals, a true copy certified by him, in the prescribed form, of all the entries of births and deaths in the register book kept by him since the last of those intervals:

Provided that in the case of Registrars of Births and Deaths who are clergymen of the Churches of England, Rome and Scotland the Registrar may, if so directed by his ecclesiastical superior, send the certified copies in the first instance to that superior, who shall send them to the proper Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages.

In this sub-section "Church of England" and "Church of Scotland" mean the Church of England and the Church of Scotland as by law established respectively; and "Church of Rome" means the Church which regards the Pope of Rome as its spiritual head.

The Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886.

(Chapter III.—Registration of Births and Deaths.—Sections 25-32.)

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply to every Registrar of Births and Deaths in the dominions of any Prince or State in India in alliance with Her Majesty, with this modification that the certified copies referred to in that sub-section shall be sent to such one of the Registrars General of Births, Deaths and Marriages as the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoints in this behalf.

Searches and copies of entries in register books.

25. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall, on payment of the prescribed fees, at all reasonable times, allow searches to be made in the register books kept by him, and give a copy of any entry in the same.

(2) Every copy of an entry in a register book given under this section shall be certified by the Registrar of Births and Deaths, and shall be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the birth or death to which the entry relates.

Exceptional provision for registration of certain births and deaths.

26. Notwithstanding anything in section 19, the Governor General in Council may make rules authorizing Registrars of Births and Deaths, on conditions and in circumstances to be specified in the rules, to register births and deaths occurring outside the local areas or classes for which they are appointed.

D.—Penalty for False Information.

Penalty for wilfully giving false information.

27. If any person wilfully makes, or causes to be made, for the purpose of being inserted in any register of births or deaths, any false statement in connection with any notice of a birth or death under this Act, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

E.—Correction of Errors.

Correction of entry in register of births or deaths.

28. (1) If it is proved to the satisfaction of a Registrar of Births and Deaths that any entry of a birth or death in any register kept by him under this Act is erroneous in form or substance, he may, subject to such rules as may be made by the Governor General in Council with respect to the conditions and circumstances on and in which errors may be corrected, correct the error by entry in the margin, without any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry and add thereto the date of the correction.

(2) If a certified copy of the entry has already been sent to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, the Registrar of Births and Deaths shall make and send a separate certified copy of the original erroneous entry and of the marginal correction therein made.

CHAPTER IV.

AMENDMENT OF MARRIAGE ACTS.

Addition of new section after section 13, Act III of 1872.

29. After section 13 of Act III of 1872 (to provide a form of marriage in certain cases) the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"13A. The Registrar shall send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories within which his district is situate, at such intervals as the Governor General in Council, from time to time, directs, a true copy certified by him, in such form as the Governor General in Council, from time to time, prescribes, of all entries made by him in the said marriage-certificate book since the last of such intervals."

Transmission of certified copies of entries in marriage-certificate book to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages.

Amendment of the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872.

30. In the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, the following amendments shall be made, namely:— XV of 1

(a) at the end of section 3, the words "'Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages' means a Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages appointed under the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886," shall be added;

(b) for the words "Secretary to the Local Government", wherever they occur, and for the words "Secretary to a Local Government" in section 79, the words "Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages" shall be substituted;

(c) for the words "at such places as the Local Government directs" in section 62 the words "in the office of the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories of the Local Government by which the person who keeps the register book was licensed" shall be substituted; and (d) in section 81, after the words "Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages" the words "in England" shall be added.

Addition of new section after section 8 of the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865.

31. After section 8 of the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865, the following section shall be inserted, namely:— XV of 1 Transmission of certified copies of certificates in marriage-register to Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages.

"8A. Every Registrar, except the Registrar appointed by the Chief Justice of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, shall, at such intervals as the Governor General in Council from time to time directs, send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories administered by the Local Government by which he was appointed a true copy certified by him, in such form as the Governor General, from time to time, prescribes, of all certificates entered by him in the said register of marriages since the last of such intervals."

CHAPTER V.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO CERTAIN EXISTING REGISTERS.

Permission to persons having custody of certain records to send them within one year to Registrar General.

32. If any person in British India, or in the dominions of any Prince or State in India in alliance with Her Majesty, has for the time being the custody of any register or record of birth, baptism, naming, dedication, death or burial of any persons of the classes referred to in section 11, sub-section (1), or of any register or record of marriage of any persons of the classes to which Act III of 1872 or the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, or the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865, applies, and if such register or record has been made otherwise than in performance of a duty specially enjoined by the law of the country in which the register or record was kept, he may, within one year from the date on which this Act comes into force, send the register or record to the office of the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories within which he resides, or, if he resides within the dominions of any such Prince or State as aforesaid, to such one of the Registrars General as aforesaid as the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, directs in this behalf.

The Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886.

(Chapter V.—Special Provisions as to certain existing Registers.—Sections 33-37.)

33. (1) The Governor General in Council may appoint so many persons as he thinks fit to be Commissioners for examining the registers or records sent to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages under the last foregoing section.

Appointment of Commissioners to examine registers.

(2) The Commissioners so appointed shall hold office for such period as the Governor General in Council, by the order of appointment, or any subsequent order, directs.

34. (1) The Commissioners appointed under the last foregoing section shall enquire into the state, custody and authenticity of every such register or record as may be sent to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages under section 32;

Duties of Commissioners.

and shall deliver to the Registrar General a descriptive list or descriptive lists of all such registers or records, or portions of registers or records, as they find to be accurate and faithful.

(2) The list or lists shall contain the prescribed particulars and refer to the registers or records, or to the portions of the registers or records, in the prescribed manner.

(3) The Commissioners shall also certify in writing, upon some part of every separate book or volume containing any such register or record, or portion of a register or record, as is referred to in any list or lists made by the Commissioners, that it is one of the registers or records, or portions of registers or records, referred to in the said list or lists.

35. (1) Subject to the payment of the prescribed fees, the descriptive list or lists of registers or records, or portions of registers or records, delivered by the Commissioners to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall be, at all reasonable times, open to inspection by any person applying to inspect it or them, and copies of entries in those registers or records shall be given to all persons applying for them.

Searches of lists prepared by Commissioners and grant of certified copies of entries.

(2) A copy of an entry given under this section shall be certified by the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, or by an officer or person authorized in this behalf by the Local Government, and shall be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the birth, baptism, naming, dedication, death, burial or marriage to which the entry relates.

CHAPTER VI.

RULES.

36. In addition to any other power to make rules impliedly or expressly conferred by this Act, the Governor General in Council may make rules—

Power for Governor General in Council to make rules.

(a) to fix the fees payable under this Act;

(b) to prescribe the forms required for the purposes of this Act;

(c) to prescribe the time within which, and the mode in which, persons authorized under this Act to give notice of a birth or death to a Registrar of Births and Deaths must give the notice;

(d) to prescribe the registers to be kept and the form and manner in which Registrars of Births and Deaths are to register births and deaths under this Act, and the intervals at which they are to send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages true copies of the entries of births and deaths in the registers kept by them;

(e) to prescribe the particulars which the descriptive list or lists to be prepared by the Commissioners appointed under Chapter V are to contain, and the manner in which they are to refer to the registers or records, or portions of registers or records, to which they relate;

(f) to prescribe the custody in which those registers or records are to be kept; and

(g) generally to carry out the purposes of this Act.

37. (1) The Governor General in Council shall, before making rules under this Act, publish a draft of the proposed rules in such manner as may, in his opinion, be sufficient for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

Procedure for making and publication of rules.

(2) There shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a date at or after which the draft will be taken into consideration.

(3) The Governor General in Council shall receive and consider any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the draft before the date so specified.

(4) Every rule made under this Act shall be published in the Gazette of India, and the publication in the Gazette of India of a rule purporting to be made under this Act shall be conclusive evidence that it has been duly made.

S. HARVEY JAMES,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the voluntary Registration of certain Births and Deaths, for the establishment of General Registry Offices for keeping Registers of certain Births, Deaths and Marriages, and for certain other purposes, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th February, 1886:—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to provide for the voluntary Registration of certain Births and Deaths, for the establishment of General Registry Offices for keeping Registers of certain Births, Deaths and Marriages, and for certain other purposes, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted on the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report.

From Assistant Secretary to Chief Commissioner Central Provinces, No. 2445—118, dated 30th June, 1885 [Paper No. 18].

2. We have, on the advice of a leading member of the Parsi community at Bombay, proposed to extend to the scattered Parsi communities resident beyond the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court at Bombay the same provisions for the more effectual registration of marriages as were proposed by the Bill to be conferred on the classes to whom Act III of 1872 and the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, apply.

3. By section 11, sub-section (2), we propose to enable Local Governments, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to extend the operation of the chapter respecting the registration of births and deaths to any classes of the community which may be desirous of taking advantage of the provisions of that chapter.

4. By sections 12 and 13 we have proposed to enable Local Governments in British India, and the Governor General in Council in States in India in alliance with Her Majesty, to appoint Registrars of Births and Deaths for classes of persons as well as for local areas. It will thus be practicable to appoint ministers of religion to be Registrars of Births and Deaths for their own congregations only, without imposing on them duties for which they might have neither leisure nor inclination.

5. In section 14 we have provided that every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall be deemed to be a public servant. This provision appears to us to render it unnecessary to retain section 24 of the Bill as introduced.

6. By section 19 we have provided that if a Registrar of Births and Deaths has reason to believe any notice given to him to be in any respect false he may refuse to register the birth or death until he receives an order from the District Court directing him to make the entry and prescribing the manner in which the entry is to be made.

In the same section and in section 22, sub-section (3), we have reproduced the provisions of section 7 of the Statute 37 & 38 Vic., cap. 88.

7. In sections 20 and 21 we have classified, in a modified form, the persons authorised to give notices of births and deaths.

8. We have provided in section 24 that clergymen who may become Registrars of Births and Deaths shall send certified copies of the entries in their registers direct to the Registrar General unless they are required by their ecclesiastical superiors to transmit the copies through them.

9. By section 26 we have proposed to empower the Governor General in Council to make rules authorising Registrars of Births and Deaths, on conditions and in circumstances to be specified in the rules, to register births and deaths occurring outside the local areas or classes for which they have been appointed. Events occurring in the course of journeys or in places for which Registrars of Births and Deaths have not been appointed, may by those rules be made registrable.

10. We have made fine an alternative punishment for the offence made punishab under section 27.

11. To section 36 we have added a clause enabling the Governor General in Council to make rules as to the custody of registers and records sent to the Registrar General under section 32.

12. The other amendments of the Bill are unimportant and do not call for special remark.

13. In regard to the argument which has been urged in some of the papers before us that the existing registers of certain religious bodies are admissible in evidence, we are informed that the legal value of those registers has been questioned by high authority, on the ground that they are not maintained under any special injunction of law, or in the ordinary course of business, within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872.

14. As regards the working of the proposed Act we understand that existing machinery will, so far as possible, be utilised, and that expenses will be defrayed from fees payable under the Act.

15. Other objections taken to the Bill are (a) that some Registrars may object to the provisions of section 16, sub-section (2), and (b) that difficulties may result from the requirement of section 22, sub-section (1), that the person giving notice of a birth or death must sign the entry in the register in the presence of the Registrar. As regards the first of these objections we observe that section 16, sub-section (2), will not apply to all Registrars, but only to those to whom the Local Government applies the sub-section. As regards the second objection the risk of difficulties arising may be diminished, if not removed, by provision being made, in the rules under clause (c) of section 36, for an enlargement under certain circumstances of the time within which notices may be given of births and deaths.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.]

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 8th March, 1886, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

No. VII OF 1886.

An Act to amend the Indian Registration Act, 1877.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Registration Act, 1877, in manner hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Registration Act, 1886; and

(2) It shall come into force at once.

Addition to section 17 of Act III of 1877.

2. After clause (f) of section 17 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, the following clause shall be inserted, that is to say:—

"(ff) any debenture issued by any such Company and not creating, declaring, assigning, limiting or extinguishing any right, title or interest to or in immoveable property except in so far as it entitles the holder to the security afforded by a registered instrument whereby the Company has mortgaged, conveyed or otherwise transferred the whole or part of its immoveable property or any interest therein to trustees upon trust for the benefit of the holders of such debentures, or".

Addition to sections 17 and 89, and amendment of section 58, of same Act.

3. (1) After clause (l) of section 17 of the same Act the following clause shall be added, that is to say:—

"(m) orders granting loans under the Agriculturists' Loans Act, 1884, and instruments for securing the repayment of loans made under that Act."

(2) In section 58 of the same Act, for the words "or a copy of a certificate under the Land Improvement Act, 1871, sent by the Collector to be registered," or, where the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883, is in force, for the words "or a copy of an order under the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883, sent by the Collector to be registered," there shall be substituted the following words, namely:—

"or a copy sent to a registering officer under section 89".

(3) After the second paragraph of section 89 of the same Act the following paragraph shall be added, that is to say:—

"Every officer granting a loan under the Agriculturists' Loans Act, 1884, shall send a copy of any instrument whereby immoveable property is mortgaged for the purpose of securing the repayment of the loan, and, if any such property is mortgaged for the same purpose in the order granting the loan, a copy also of that order, to the registering officer within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the whole or any part of the property so mortgaged is situate, and such registering officer shall file the copy or copies, as the case may be, in his Book No. 1."

XII of 1884.

Further addition to section 17 of same Act.

4. After clause (m) of section 17 of the same Act as amended by this Act the following clause shall be added, that is to say:—

"(n) any endorsement on a mortgage-deed acknowledging the payment of the whole or any part of the mortgage-money, and any other receipt for payment of money due under a mortgage when the receipt does not purport to extinguish the mortgage."

Amendment of section 50 of same Act.

5. In the second paragraph of section 50 of the same Act, "(ff)" shall be inserted between "(f)" and "(g)", and for the word and letter "and (l)" the letters and word "(l), (m) and (n)" shall be substituted.

Addition to section 90, and amendment of section 91, of same Act.

6. (1) After clause (d) of section 90 of the same Act the following clause shall be inserted, that is to say:—

"(e) notices given under section 74, or section 76, of the Bombay Land-revenue Code, 1879, of relinquishment of occupancy by occupants, or of alienated land by holders of such land".

Bom. Act V of 1879.

(2) In section 91, for the word and letter "and (c)" the letters and word "(c) and (e)" shall be substituted.

(3) The said Act shall be construed as if the amendments made in it by this section had been made at the time the Act came into force.

S. HARVEY JAMES,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Indian Registration Act, 1877, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th February, 1886:—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Indian Registration Act, 1877, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted on the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report.

From Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Assam, No. 1223, dated 22nd July, 1885 [Paper No. 1].
From Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 3004—140, dated 8th August, 1885, and enclosure [Papers No. 2].
From Registrar, High Court, Calcutta, No. 2344, dated 13th August, 1885 [Paper No. 3].
From Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Coorg, No. 896—123, dated 13th August, 1885 [Paper No. 4].
From Chief Secretary to Government, Madras, No. 2049, dated 7th August, 1885, and enclosures [Papers No. 5].
From Secretary for Berar to Resident, Hyderabad, No. 6—B.-C., dated 19th August, 1885 [Paper No. 6].
From Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 848—VII-144-13, dated 1st September, 1885 [Paper No. 7].
From Chief Secretary to Government, Bengal, No. 966 P. D., dated 29th August, 1885, and enclosures [Papers No. 8].
Endorsement by Chief Secretary to Government, Madras, No. 2184, dated 21st August, 1885, and enclosure [Papers No. 9].
From Under-Secretary to Government, Bombay, No. 7268, dated 8th September, 1885 [Paper No. 10].
From Registrar, High Court, Calcutta, No. 2705, dated 18th September, 1885, and enclosure [Papers No. 11].
From Officiating Secretary to Government, Punjab, No. 1430 S., dated 21st September, 1885, and enclosures [Papers No. 12].
From Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, British Burma, No. 131—25L., dated 8th October, 1885, and enclosure [Papers No. 13].
From Mr. P. V. Krishnaswami Ayer, First Grade Pleader, Trichinopoly, No. 389, dated 20th November, 1885 [Paper No. 14].
Circular from Secretary to Government of India, Legislative Department, Nos. 1581—86, dated 13th October, 1885, with replies [Papers No. 15].
From Chief Secretary to Government, Bengal, No. 273 P., dated 23rd January, 1886, and enclosures [Papers No. 16].

2. The Bill as introduced has been approved by the authorities to whose criticism it was submitted. Some suggestions for the further amendment of the Act have been made; but, as the revision of the law relating to registration is understood to be under the consideration of the Government of India, we have deemed it advisable not to deal with them generally in this Bill. On one suggestion, however, we have deemed it necessary to act at once. It was that the law should declare receipts for payments of mortgage-money to be optionally, and not compulsorily, registrable. In connection with this suggestion we have considered the case reported at I. L. R. 6 All. 335, and the cases there cited, and the replies of Local Governments and High Courts to a letter addressed to them by the Government of India on the subject of those cases. The authorities to whom the letter was addressed are almost unanimously of opinion that, on grounds of convenience, receipts for payment of mortgage-money ought not to be compulsorily registrable. We concur in that opinion, and have added to the Bill a clause (section 4) excepting from the operation of clauses (b) and (c) of section 17 of the Act (i) any endorsement on a mortgage-deed acknowledging the payment of the whole or any part of the mortgage-money, whether the endorsement does or does not purport to extinguish the mortgage, and (ii) any other receipt for payment of money due under a mortgage when the receipt does not purport to extinguish the mortgage. In so framing the clause we have, as regards endorsements, followed the course recommended by the High Court at Bombay, and, as regards other receipts, the general tenor of the opinions expressed by the authorities whom the Government of India has consulted.

3. The amendments which the Bill renders it necessary to make in section 50 of the Act have been made in a separate clause (section 5).

4. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows:—

ACT NO. VIII OF 1886.

An Act to amend sections 12 and 13 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

885. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend sections 12 and 13 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, in manner hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. In section 12, sub-section (2), before the word "mortgage" the word "usufructuary" shall be inserted.

2. (1) In section 13, sub-section (1), before the words "the Court" the words "or when a mortgage of a permanent tenure, other than an usufructuary mortgage thereof, is foreclosed," shall be inserted.

(2) In the same sub-section, before the word "require" the words "or making a decree or order absolute for the foreclosure," shall be inserted.

(3) In the same sub-section, before the words "to pay into Court" the words "or mortgagee" shall be inserted.

(4) In the same sub-section, before the words "on the landlord" the words "or final foreclosure" shall be inserted.

(5) In section 13, sub-section (2), before the words "the Court" the words "or the decree or order absolute for the foreclosure has been made," shall be inserted.

(6) In the same sub-section, before the words "in the prescribed form," the words "or final foreclosure" shall be inserted.

ACT NO. IX OF 1886.

An Act to apply the Chutia Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, 1876, to the Deo Estate in the Gaya District.

WHEREAS Rájá Bhikam Narayan Singh Bahadur, of Deo in the district of Gaya, is subject to, and his immoveable property is charged with, debts and liabilities other than debts due, and liabilities incurred, to the Government;

And whereas the said Rájá has requested that the provisions of the Chutia Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, 1876, be applied to his case;

And whereas the persons to whom the debts are due and the liabilities have been incurred have assented to the application of the Chutia Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, 1876, to the case, on the condition that their title to receive the principal and interest due to them be in no way impaired thereby;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Deo Estate Act, 1886; and

(2) It shall come into force at once.

Application of Act VI of 1876 to the Deo Estate.

2. The provisions of the Chutia Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, 1876, as amended by Act V of 1884, may be applied to the case of the said Rájá Bhikam Narayan Singh Bahadur, subject to the following modifications, namely:—

(1) The expressions "Commissioner", "Deputy Commissioner" and "holder", where used in the said Act, shall be construed as referring to the Commissioner of the Patna division, the Collector of the Gaya district and the said Rájá, respectively.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in section 2 of the said Act, the Commissioner may, without any further application from the said Rájá and without any further notification of the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, publish an order under that section appointing a manager and vesting in him the management of the whole of the immoveable property of or to which the said Rájá is then possessed or entitled in his own right, or which he is entitled to redeem, or which may be acquired by or devolve on him or his heir during the continuance of the management.

(3) Section 4 of the said Act shall be read as if after the words "and their families" the words "and persons entitled to receive maintenance from the property" were added.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in section 8—

the sums mentioned in column 2 and column 4 of the schedule to this Act, as principal and as balance due from the said Rájá on the thirty-first day of December, 1885, respectively, and the rate of interest mentioned in column 3 of that schedule, shall, save in so far as any error with respect thereto may be proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, be deemed to be justly due to the several persons mentioned in column 1 of the schedule.

(5) The scheme prepared and approved under section 11 of the said Act shall provide that out of the residue applicable under section 4 of that Act, after discharge of costs of management, to the settlement of debts and liabilities, interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum in respect of so much of the principal sum of six hundred and fifty thousand rupees as is for the time being due to the Mahárájá of Darbhangá shall be paid to the Mahárájá before any sum is paid thereout to any other creditor.

(6) The second clause of section 12 of the said Act shall be read as if for the words "at any time before a scheme has been approved by him under section 11" the words "at any time before the occurrence of either of the events mentioned in the first and third clauses of this section" were substituted.

(7) The power conferred on the manager by the second clause of section 16 of the said Act, to apply for the removal of a mortgagee or conditional vendee in possession, shall not be exercised.

(8) The exercise of the power of sale conferred by section 18 of the said Act shall be subject to the following conditions, namely :—

(a) that one month's notice shall be given to the Mahárájá of Darbhangá of the manager's intention to sell any property of which the said Mahárájá is mortgagee ;

(b) that until the debt due to the said Mahárájá has been reduced to the sum of six hundred and fifty thousand rupees no portion of the proceeds of the sale of any of that property shall, without the previous consent of the Mahárájá, be paid to any other creditor ; and

(c) that, except with the previous consent of the said Mahárájá, so much of that property shall be left unsold as will yield a yearly income sufficient, after compliance with the rest of the scheme prepared and approved under section 11 of the said Act, to meet the yearly interest for the time being payable to the Mahárájá.

(9) Section 23 of the said Act shall be read as if for the words "the Courts in Chutia Nagpur" the words "any Court" were substituted, and as if the following words were added to the section, namely :—"and a suit relating to a claim of maintenance from the property shall not be entertained by any such Court without the previous consent of the Commissioner".

Saving of priority of Crown debts.

3. Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed as affecting the priority of any debt due, or liability incurred, to the Government.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication].

ACT NO. X OF 1886.

An Act to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, and certain other Acts.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, and certain other Acts; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882.

Amendment of section 31 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

1. In the last paragraph of section 31 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, for the words "any sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding three years" the words "any sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding four years, and any sentence of transportation," shall be substituted.

Substitution of new section for section 34.

2. For section 34 of the same Code the following shall be substituted, namely :—

Higher powers of certain District Magistrates.

"34. The Court of a District Magistrate, specially empowered under section 30, may pass any sentence authorized by law, except a sentence of death or of transportation for a term exceeding seven years or of imprisonment for a term exceeding seven years; but any sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding four years, and any sentence of transportation, shall be subject to confirmation by the Sessions Judge."

Addition to section 55 and section 56.

3. After section 55 of the same Code, and after section 56 thereof, the following shall be added, namely :—

"This section applies to the police in the towns of Calcutta and Bombay."

Amendment of sections 88 and 514.

4. In sections 88 and 514 of the same Code, after the words "District Magistrate" the words "or Chief Presidency Magistrate" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 110.

5. In section 110 of the same Code, for the words "Sub-divisional Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class specially empowered in this behalf by the Local Government" the words "or Sub-divisional Magistrate, or a Magistrate of the first class specially empowered in this behalf by the Local Government" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 162.

6. In section 162 of the same Code the word "shall" shall be inserted before the words "be used".

Amendment of section 173.

7. In section 173 of the same Code, the following shall be substituted for the second paragraph, namely :—

Amendment of section 266.

8. In section 266 of the same Code, for the word and figures "section 307" the words and figures "sections 276 and 307" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 269.

9. For the second paragraph of section 269 of the same Code the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"When the accused is charged at the same trial with several offences of which some are and some are not triable by jury, he shall be tried by jury for such of those offences as are triable by jury, and by the Court of Session, with the aid of the jurors as assessors, for such of them as are not triable by jury."

Substitution of new section for section 398.

10. For section 398 of the same Code the following shall be substituted, namely :—

Provisions supplemental to sections 35, 396 and 397.

"398. (1) Nothing in section 396 or section 397 shall be held to excuse any person from any part of the punishment to which he is liable upon his former or subsequent conviction.

(2) When an award of imprisonment in default of payment of a fine is annexed to a substantive sentence of imprisonment, or to a sentence of transportation or penal servitude for an offence punishable with imprisonment, and the person undergoing the sentence is after its execution to undergo a further substantive sentence, or further substantive sentences, of imprisonment, transportation or penal servitude, effect shall not be given to the award of imprisonment in default of payment of the fine until the person has undergone the further sentence or sentences."

Amendment of section 401.

11. (1) For the third paragraph of section 401 of the same Code the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"If any condition on which a sentence has been suspended or remitted is, in the opinion of

"(2) When it appears to the Local Government that the prisoner has become of sound mind, that Government, by a warrant directed to the person having charge of the prisoner, shall, if the prisoner is still liable to be kept in custody, remand him to the prison from which he was removed or to another prison within the territories subject to the same Local Government, or, if the prisoner is no longer liable to be kept in custody, order him to be discharged.

"(3) The provisions of section 9 of Act XXXVI of 1858 (relating to Lunatic Asylums) shall apply to every person confined in a lunatic asylum under sub-section (1) after the expiration of the term for which he was ordered or sentenced to be detained or imprisoned; and the time during which a prisoner is confined in a lunatic asylum under that sub-section shall be reckoned as part of the term of detention or imprisonment which he may have been ordered or sentenced by the Magistrate or Court to undergo.

"(4) In any case in which a Local Government is competent under sub-section (1) to order the removal of a prisoner to a lunatic asylum or other place of safe custody within the territories subject to the same Local Government, the Governor General in Council may order his removal to any lunatic asylum or other place of safe custody in any part of British India; and the provisions of this section respecting the custody, detention, remand and discharge of a prisoner removed by order of a Local Government shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply to a prisoner removed by order of the Governor General in Council.

Removal of prisoners from territories under one Local Government to territories under another.

"32. When any person is, or has been, sentenced to imprisonment by any Court, or, in default of giving security for maintaining good behaviour, has been committed to, or is detained in, prison under section 123 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, the Governor General in Council may order his removal during the period for which he has been sentenced to imprisonment or the security has been ordered to be given, as the case may be, from the jail or place in which he is confined to any other jail or place of imprisonment in British India."

S. HARVEY JAMES,

Offg. Secy. to the Government of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, the Bombay District Police Act, 1867, the Indian Penal Code and the Prisoners' Act, 1871, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th March, 1886:—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, the Bombay District Police Act, 1867, the Indian Penal Code and the Prisoners' Act, 1871, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report.

From Registrar, High Court, Calcutta, No. 274, dated 6th February, 1886 [Paper No. 20].

2. The object of the Bill was, as remarked in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, to correct certain minor defects of the criminal law which had been brought to the notice of the Government of India since the passing of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882. The papers laid before us contain numerous suggestions for other amendments in the Code. We have given our careful attention to these suggestions, but have come to the conclusion that, subject to a very few exceptions, it would not be expedient to act upon them without giving further notice to the public, and, for this reason, we have abstained from dealing with them in the present Bill. Among the sections to which our attention has been thus directed, and the propriety of amending which should, we think, be considered by the legislature on the next suitable opportunity, are section 107 (with advertence to the cases reported at I. L. R. 6 All. 26 and 11 Cal. 737), section 110 (with respect to habitual protectors or harbourers of thieves and habitual aiders in the concealment or disposal of stolen property), section 145 (with advertence to the case reported at I. L. R. 11 Cal. 413), section 9 or section 193 (with respect to the powers of Additional or Joint Sessions Judges), section 239 (with respect to the meaning of the words " in the same transaction"), section 348 (for applying the procedure of section 349 to habitual offenders forwarded to the Court of Session), and section 437 (for the purpose of reconciling the conflicting rulings as to the meaning of the words " further inquiry ").

3. We will now notice in consecutive order such sections of the Bill as appear to us to call for remark.

4. Sections 1 and 2.—There are sections of the Indian Penal Code under which transportation for shorter terms than seven years may be awarded, but we are of opinion that any sentence of transportation passed by an Assistant Sessions Judge or District Magistrate should be subject to confirmation by the Sessions Judge.

5. Section 3.—We have added this section at the instance of the Government of Bengal. It appears to us that sections 55 and 56 of the Code should apply to the police in the towns of Calcutta and Bombay as they do to the police in the town of Madras and in the rest of British India.

6. Section 4.—The Chief Presidency Magistrate of Madras has pointed out that there is the same defect in section 514 as in section 88.

7. Section 7.—The practice of submitting final police reports through a superior officer of police depends on circumstances varying from season to season and from province to province and even from district to district, and should, in our opinion, be left to be regulated by the Local Government.

8. Section 9.—We have, on the recommendation of the Madras Government and High Court, amended section 269 of the Code so that, where an accused person is charged at the same trial with several offences of which some are and some are not triable by jury, he shall be tried by jury for such of those offences as are triable by jury, and by the Court of Session, with the aid of the jurors as assessors, for such of them as are not triable by jury.

9. Section 10.—The object of the amendment made by this section is to secure uniformity of practice with respect to the time when imprisonment in default of payment of fine is to be undergone where there are other substantive sentences of imprisonment to be undergone after the execution of the sentence to which the award of imprisonment in default of payment of fine was annexed.

10. Section 11.—There has been some misunderstanding in regard to the proposed amendment of section 401. It was originally proposed to meet a technical difficulty arising out of the case of a prisoner who had become insane after his discharge, and it appears to us that in the case of political offenders it may be useful as enabling the Government to set them at large on the understanding that, if any movement with which they were connected revives, they will, in the interests of the public safety, be re-arrested and detained until either the movement again subsides or they complete their sentences, whichever event may first occur.

11. Section 12.—We have, on the recommendation of the Bombay Government, authorised Local Governments to empower officers in charge of jails to discharge certain functions of the Inspector General of Prisons. It is often impossible for the Inspector General punctually to discharge the functions personally.

12. Section 13.—Difficulty has been caused by the specification in the Code of the rank of the police-officer who may be permitted to conduct a prosecution. Inspectors are officers of different rank in different parts of the country. We have, therefore, left it to Local Governments to prescribe the rank with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, but we have provided that an officer of police shall not be permitted to conduct the prosecution if he has taken any part in the investigation into the offence with respect to which the accused is being prosecuted.

13. Section 16.—A case which has recently occurred in the Bombay Presidency has suggested the introduction into the Code of Criminal Procedure of a section on the lines of section 292 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

14. Section 17.—This section in the Bill has been misunderstood. In Schedule II to the Code of Criminal Procedure as it now stands, the punishment for making a false charge of an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term of seven years appears as imprisonment for two years only, whereas the punishment may under the Indian Penal Code be imprisonment extending to seven years.

15. Section 21.—The object of this section is to make the provisions of section 67 of the Indian Penal Code applicable to all fines imposed under any law, and to make it clear that section 64 applies to offences punishable with imprisonment or fine as well as to offences punishable with both imprisonment and fine.

16. Section 22.—We agree with the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the High Court at Madras and the other authorities who have directed attention to section 75 of the Indian Penal Code, in considering that the alternative penalties prescribed by the section must often be either inadequate or excessive, and that a wider discretion should be given to the Courts. We have provided therefore that on repeated conviction of an offence punishable under Chapter XII or Chapter XVII of the Indian Penal Code the offender shall be subject to transportation for life or, in the discretion of the Court, to imprisonment for any term not exceeding ten years.

17. Section 23.—At present there is no provision of law for the punishment of a person who, knowing that a warrant has been issued by a Magistrate for the apprehension of a foreign subject under the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879, harbours that subject. The inconvenience resulting from the absence of such a provision has been pointed out by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and ought in our opinion to be removed.

18. Section 24.—We have added a section suggested by the case reported at I. L. R. 12 Cal. 190.

19. Section 25.—We have proposed to re-enact in an amended form the whole of the three sections of the Prisoners' Act, 1871, relating to the removal of prisoners, instead of merely patching the existing sections.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.

ACT No. XI OF 1886.

THE INDIAN TRAMWAYS ACT, 1886.

CONTENTS.

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Orders authorising the Construction of Tramways.—Section 1-4.)

Supplemental Provisions.

An Act to facilitate the construction and to regulate the working of Tramways.

WHEREAS it is expedient to facilitate the construction and to regulate the working of tramways; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Tramways Act, 1886; and

(2) It shall come into force at once.

Local extent.

2. (1) It extends in the first instance to the whole of British India, except the territories administered by the Governor of Fort Saint George in Council, the Governor of Bombay in Council and the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

(2) But the Governor of Fort Saint George in Council, the Governor of Bombay in Council or the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may, by notification in the official Gazette, extend this Act to the whole or any part of the territories under his administration.

Definitions.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "local authority" means a municipal committee, district board, body of port commissioners or other authority legally entitled to, or entrusted by the Government with, the control or management of a municipal or local fund:

(2) "road" means the way of a road, street, thoroughfare, passage or place along or across which a tramway authorised under this Act is, or is intended to be, laid, and includes the surface-soil and sub-soil of a road, and the footway, berms, drains and ditches of a road, and any bridge, culvert or causeway forming part of a road:

(3) "road-authority", in relation to a road, means—

(a) if a local authority maintains and repairs the road, then that authority;

(b) if a local authority does not maintain and repair the road, and the road is neither vested in Her Majesty nor maintained and repaired by the Government, then the person in whom the road is vested; and

(c) if a local authority does not maintain and repair the road, and the road is vested in Her Majesty or maintained and repaired by the Government, then the Local Government:

(4) "circle", in relation to a local authority or road-authority, means the area within the control of that authority:

(5) "tramway" means a tramway, or any part of a tramway, or any siding, turnout, connection, line or track belonging to a tramway:

(6) "order" means an order authorising the construction of a tramway under this Act, and includes a further order substituted for, or amending, extending or varying, that order:

(7) "promoter" means a local authority or person in whose favour an order has been made, and includes a local authority or person on whom the rights and liabilities conferred and imposed on the promoter by this Act and by the order and any rules made under this Act as to the construction, maintenance and use of the tramway, have devolved:

(8) "undertaking" includes all moveable and immoveable property of the promoter suitable to and used by him for the purposes of the tramway:

(9) "carriage", in the case of a tramway on which steam-power or any other mechanical power is used, includes an engine worked on the tramway for the purpose of producing that power:

(10) "toll" includes any charge leviable in respect of the use of a tramway:

(11) "lessee" means a person to whom a lease has been granted of the right of user of a tramway and of demanding and taking the authorised tolls:

(12) "District Magistrate" includes an officer empowered by the Local Government by name or by virtue of his office to discharge within any local area all or any of the functions of a District Magistrate under this Act:

(13) "District Court" means a principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction, and includes a High Court having ordinary original civil jurisdiction:

(14) "Collector" means the chief officer in charge of the revenue-administration of a district, and includes an officer empowered by the Local Government by name or by virtue of his office to discharge within any local area the functions of a Collector under this Act: and

(15) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made by the Local Government under this Act.

Orders authorising the Construction of Tramways.

Application for and consent necessary to making of order.

4. (1) The Local Government may make an order authorising the construction of a tramway in a circle on application made—

(a) by the local authority of the circle with the consent of the road-authority of any road or part of a road which is to be traversed by the tramway and of which the local authority is not itself the road-authority; or

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Orders authorising the Construction of Tramways.—Sections 5-7.)

(b) by any person with the consent of the local authority of the circle, and of the road-authority of any road or part of a road which is to be traversed by the tramway and of which the local authority is not the road-authority :

Provided that, if any part of the proposed tramway is to traverse land which is not included within the limits of a municipality or of a cantonment, the Local Government shall not make the order without the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council.

(2) A local authority shall not make an application for an order, or be deemed to consent to an application being made by any person for an order, unless the making of the application or the giving of the consent has been approved by the local authority in manner prescribed.

Consent of local or roadauthority not necessary in certain cases.

5. When it is proposed to lay a tramway in two or more circles, and a local authority or road-authority having control in either or any of the circles does not consent thereto, or attaches conditions to its consent, the Local Government may, nevertheless, make an order authorising the construction of the tramway in the circle, or by the order impose on the promoter any conditions which it deems fit, if, after considering the reasons of the authority for withholding its consent or attaching the conditions thereto, it is satisfied that the construction of the tramway in the circle is expedient, or, as the case may be, that the conditions attached by the authority to its consent ought not to be imposed.

Procedure for making order.

6. (1) The Local Government on receiving an application shall consider it, and, if satisfied as to the propriety of proceeding thereon, publish in the official Gazette, and in such other manner as it deems sufficient for giving information to persons interested, a draft of a proposed order authorising the construction of the tramway.

(2) A notice shall be published with the draft stating that any objection or suggestion which any person may desire to make with respect to the proposed order will, if submitted to the Local Government on or before a date to be specified in the notice, be received and considered.

(3) If, after considering any objections or suggestions which may have been made with respect to the draft on or before the date so specified, the Local Government is of opinion that the application should be granted, with or without addition or modification, or subject or not to any restriction or condition, it may make an order accordingly.

(4) Every order authorising the construction of a tramway shall be published in the official Gazette in English, and in the other prescribed language or languages, if any; and that publication shall be conclusive proof that the order has been made as required by this section.

Contents of order.

7. (1) An order made under section 6 shall empower the promoter therein specified to construct and maintain the tramway therein described in the manner therein provided, and shall specify the time within which the tramway shall be commenced and the time within which it shall be completed and opened for public traffic.

(2) The order may also provide, in manner consistent with this Act, for all or any of the following, among other matters, that is to say :—

(a) a period before the expiration of which the tramway shall not be commenced, and the conditions subject to which the local authority, when it is not itself the promoter, may, within that period, elect to be substituted in the place of the promoter in respect of the undertaking or of so much thereof as is within its circle; and the limits of time within which, and the terms upon which, the local authority may, after the tramway has been constructed, require the promoter to sell to it the undertaking or so much thereof as is within its circle ;

(b) the acquisition by the promoter of land for the purposes of the tramway, and the disposal by him of land which has been acquired but is no longer required for those purposes ;

(c) the conditions subject to which roads may be opened and broken up for the purposes of the construction or maintenance of the tramway or any part thereof, and the method of, and materials to be used in, the re-instating of the roads, and the approval of the method and materials by the Local Government or the road-authority before the commencement of the work ;

(d) the conditions on which the tramway may be constructed over a bridge or across a railway or tramway when the carriage-way over the bridge is to form part of the tramway or when the tramway is to cross a railway or another tramway on the level;

(e) the space which shall ordinarily intervene between the outside of the carriageway on either side of a road whereon the tramway is to be constructed and the nearest rail of the tramway, and the conditions on which a smaller space may be permitted ;

(f) the gauge of the tramway; the rails to be used, and the mode in which

and the level at which, they shall be laid and maintained; and the adoption and application by the promoter of such improvements in the rails, and in their situation, and in the sub-structure upon which they rest, as the Local Government may from time to time require;

(g) the portion of the road or roads traversed by the tramway to be kept in repair by the promoter; the maintenance by the promoter to the satisfaction of the Local Government or the road-authority, or both, of that portion of the road or roads; and the liability of the promoter, on the requisition of the Local Government, from time to time to adopt and apply such improvements in the tramway as the Local Government may consider necessary or desirable for the safety or convenience of the public, and to alter the position or level of the tramway to suit future alterations in the road or roads;

(h) the application of material excavated by the promoter in the construction or maintenance of the tramway;

(i) the provision of such crossings, passing-places, sidings, junctions and other works, in addition to those specified in or authorised by the order, as may from time to time be necessary or convenient to the efficient working of the tramway;

(j) the powers which may from time to time be exercised by the Local Government, the local authority, the road-authority or any person in respect of sewers, drains, telegraph-lines, gas-pipes, water-pipes or other things in or on land occupied by the tramway; the notice (if any) to be given of the intended exercise of those powers; the manner in which the powers shall be exercised; and the extent to which the tramway and the traffic thereon may be interfered with in the exercise thereof;

(k) the conditions subject to which the promoter may from time to time interfere with, or alter or require the alteration of the position of, drains (not being sewers or main drains), telegraph-lines, gas-pipes, water-pipes or other things as aforesaid;

(l) the provision of a temporary tramway in place of a part of a tramway which has been removed, or of which the use has been discontinued, by reason of the execution of any work affecting a road along which the part of the tramway was laid, or by reason of the use of the road being interrupted by floods or other cause;

(m) the motive power to be used on the tramway, and the conditions on which steam-power or any other mechanical power may be used;

(n) the nature, dimensions, fittings, appliances and apparatus of the carriages to be used on the tramway, and the inspection and examination thereof by officers of the Local Government or the local authority, and the liability of the promoter or lessee, on the requisition of the Local Government, from time to time, to adopt and apply such improvements in the carriages, and in the fittings, appliances and apparatus, as the Local Government may consider necessary or desirable for the safety or convenience of the public;

(o) the traffic which may be carried on the tramway, the traffic which the promoter or lessee shall be bound to carry, and the traffic which he may refuse to carry; the tolls to be leviable by the promoter or lessee, and the periodical revision thereof by the Local Government; and the regulation of the traffic and of the levy of the tolls;

(p) the use of the tramway free of toll by the local authority, with its own carriages, for specified purposes, during specified hours, with power to the local authority to make such sidings and other works as may be necessary for communication between its premises and the tramway;

(q) the conditions subject to which the promoter may transfer the undertaking, or any part thereof, by sale, mortgage, lease, exchange or otherwise; and the conditions subject to which the local authority may be the transferee

(r) the performance by the Local Government or by the local authority or road-authority of any work required by the Act or the order to be done by the promoter; and

(s) the penalty to be incurred by the promoter or lessee for failure to observe any condition or direction contained in the order, and the application of the penalty when recovered.

(3) The Local Government may, in providing in the order for the acquisition of land for the purposes of a tramway of which the promoter is not a company, direct that land may be acquired for the promoter under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, in the same manner and on the same conditions as it might be acquired for the purposes of the tramway if a company were the promoter. X of

(4) The order shall imply the condition—

(a) in the case of a tramway of which a local authority is the promoter, that a lease thereof shall be granted only in manner by this Act provided; and

(b) in the case of a tramway of which a local authority is not the promoter, that a lease thereof shall be only of the right of user and of demanding and taking the authorised tolls, and shall not confer or impose on the lessee any of the powers or duties of the promoter in respect of the construction or maintenance of the tramway.

(Orders authorising the Construction of Tramways.—Construction and Maintenance of Tramways.—Traffic on Tramways.—Sections 8-14.)

Further order.

8. (1) The Local Government may, on the application of the promoter, revoke, amend, extend or vary the order by a further order.

(2) An application for a further order shall be made in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as an application for an order.

(3) The Local Government may, in its discretion, either grant or reject the application.

(4) If it grants the application, it shall make the further order in the same manner as an order, except that no addition to, or modification of, the rights, powers and authorities asked for in the application, or restriction or condition with respect thereto, shall be made or imposed by the further order without the consent in writing of the promoter.

Power to authorise joint work by local authorities.

9. (1) Subject to, and in accordance with, the provisions of this Act, the Local Government may, on a joint application, or on two or more separate applications, make an order empowering two or more local authorities, respectively, jointly to construct the whole, or separately to construct parts, of a tramway, and jointly or separately to own the whole or parts thereof.

(2) All the provisions of this Act which relate to the construction of tramways shall extend and apply to the construction of the whole and the separate parts of the tramway, and the form of the order may be adapted to the circumstances of the case.

Cessation of powers given by an order.

10. (1) If a promoter authorised by an order to construct a tramway—

(a) does not within the time specified in the order substantially commence the construction of the tramway, or

(b) having commenced the construction, suspends it without a reason sufficient in the opinion of the Local Government to warrant the suspension, or

(c) does not within the time specified in the order complete the tramway and open it for public traffic,

the following consequences shall ensue:—

(i) the powers given by the order to the promoter for constructing the tramway and otherwise in relation thereto shall, unless the Local Government, by special direction in writing, prolongs the time or condones the suspension, cease to be exercised except as to so much of the tramway as is then completed;

(ii) as to so much of the tramway as is then completed, the Local Government may either permit, or refuse to permit, the powers given by the order to continue;

(iii) if the Local Government refuses to permit the powers to continue, then so much of the tramway as is then completed may be dealt with, under the provisions of this Act relating to the discontinuance of tramways, as a tramway of the working whereof the discontinuance has been proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

(2) A notification published by the Local Government in the official Gazette to the effect that on a date specified in the notification the construction of a tramway had not been substantially commenced or a tramway had not been completed and opened for public traffic, or that the construction of a tramway had been suspended without sufficient reason, shall, for the purposes of this section, be conclusive proof of the matter stated therein.

Construction and Maintenance of Tramways.

Mode of formation of tramway.

11. A tramway shall be constructed and maintained in the manner provided by the order.

Inspection of tramway before opening.

12. A tramway, or portion or extension of, or addition to, a tramway, shall not be opened for public traffic until an engineer appointed in this behalf by the Local Government has inspected it and certified it to be fit for such traffic.

Agreement between road-authority and promoter as to repair of roadway.

13. Subject to the provisions of any order for the time being in force with respect to the matters mentioned in section 7, sub-section (2), clause (g), the road-authority and the promoter may from time to time enter into agreements as to the keeping in repair of the whole or a part of a road traversed by a tramway, and as to the proportion to be paid by either of them of the expense of keeping the road or part in repair.

Traffic on Tramways.

Rights of promoters and the public over tramways.

14. (1) The promoter of a tramway shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) and to the other provisions of this Act and of the order, have the exclusive use of the tramway for carriages with flange-wheels or other wheels suitable to run on the rail described in the order as the rail to be used on the tramway:

Provided that nothing in this Act or in the order or any rule made under this Act shall affect the right of any person authorised to use a tramway or railway to pass across a tramway constructed under this Act with carriages having wheels suitable to run on the rail thereof.

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Traffic on Tramways.—Licenses to use Tramways.—Secs. 15-18.)

(2) The public shall have a right to pass along or across any part of a road along or across which a tramway is constructed, whether on or off the tramway, with carriages not having flange-wheels or other wheels suitable to run on the rail of the tramway: Provided—

(a) that this sub-section shall not apply where the tramway is constructed on land the right to the exclusive possession of which has been acquired by the promoter; and

(b) that the Local Government may by an order authorise the construction of a tramway on any part of a road with rails raised above the surface of the road, if it is satisfied that the convenience of the public will not be injuriously affected thereby.

Tolls leviable by promoter or lessee.

15. (1) The promoter or lessee may demand and take, in respect of the tramway, tolls not exceeding the limits specified in or determinable under the order, or, if the order contains no provision in this behalf, then such sums as may from time to time be fixed by the promoter or lessee with the previous sanction of the Local Government.

(2) A list of all the tolls authorised to be levied shall be exhibited, in such languages as the District Magistrate may direct, in a conspicuous place inside and outside each of the carriages used upon the tramway.

Carriage of dangerous or offensive goods.

16. (1) A person shall not be entitled to carry or to require to be carried, on a tramway constructed under this Act, any goods of a dangerous or offensive nature.

(2) A person taking such goods with him on the tramway shall, before entering the carriage, give notice of their nature to the servant of the promoter or lessee in charge of the carriage.

(3) A person sending such goods by the tramway shall distinctly mark their nature on the outside of the package containing them, or otherwise give notice thereof in writing to the servant of the promoter or lessee with whom he leaves them for the purpose of their being sent by the tramway.

(4) Any servant of the promoter or lessee may refuse to carry upon the tramway a parcel which he suspects to contain goods of a dangerous or offensive nature, and, if any such parcel has been received for the purpose of being carried upon the tramway, may stop the transit thereof until he is satisfied as to the nature of its contents.

(5) Where a servant of the promoter or lessee refuses under sub-section (4) to carry a parcel which has been received for the purpose of being carried upon the tramway, he shall, as soon as may be, give notice of his refusal to the consignor or consignee if he refuses at a time when neither of them is present.

Licenses to use Tramways.

Grant to third parties of licenses to use tramway in certain events.

17. If, at any time after a tramway or part of a tramway has been for three years opened for public traffic in a circle, the local authority of the circle represents in writing to the Local Government that the public is deprived of the full benefit of the tramway or of the part thereof, the Local Government may, if after considering any statement which the promoter or lessee or both may desire to make, and after such further enquiry as it deems necessary, it is satisfied as to the truth of the representation, grant a license to any person to use the tramway conformably to this Act and to the order and the rules made under this Act, subject to the following provisions, namely:—

(a) the license shall be for a period not less than one year or more than three years from the date of the license, but the Local Government may in its discretion renew it;

(b) the license shall be to use the whole of the tramway for the time being opened for public traffic, or such part or parts of the tramway as the Local Government, having regard to the cause for granting the license, thinks fit;

(c) the license shall specify the number of carriages which the licensee shall run upon the tramway, the mode in which, and times at which, the carriages shall be run, the tolls to be paid to the promoter or lessee by the licensee for the use of the tramway, and the tolls, being those for the time being leviable by the promoter or lessee, which the licensee may demand and take for the use of his carriages;

(d) the licensee and his officers and servants shall permit one person, duly authorised for that purpose by the promoter or lessee, to travel free of toll in or upon each carriage of the licensee run upon the tramway for the whole or any part of a journey;

(e) any provision of this Act, or of the order or rules made under this Act, relating to the functions of a servant of a promoter or lessee shall be construed, so far as may be, as referring to a servant of the licensee; and

(f) the Local Government may revoke, alter or modify the license for any cause sufficient in its opinion to warrant the revocation, alteration or modification thereof.

Licensee to give to promoter or lessee an account of traffic.

18. A licensee shall, on demand, give to an officer or servant authorised in that behalf by the promoter or lessee an exact account in writing, signed by the licensee, of the number of passengers, or number or quantity of goods, conveyed by any and every carriage used by him on the tramway.

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Discontinuance of Tramways.—Insolvency of Promoter.—Sections 19-21)
(Purchase of Tramways.—Section 22.)

Discontinuance of Tramways.

Cessation of powers of promoter and lessee on discontinuance of tramway.

19. If it is proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government, at any time after the opening of a tramway for public traffic, that the working of the tramway, or any part thereof, has been practically discontinued, for the space of three months, without a reason sufficient, in the opinion of the Local Government, to warrant the discontinuance, the Local Government, if it thinks fit, may, by notification in the official Gazette, declare that the powers of the promoter and of the lessee, if any, in respect of the tramway or the part thereof of which the working has been so discontinued, shall, from the date of the notification, be at an end; and thereupon the said powers shall cease and determine, except in so far as they may be purchased by a local authority in manner by this Act provided.

Powers of road-authority on cessation of powers of promoter.

20. (1) Where a notification has been published under section 19, the road-authority may, at any time after the expiration of two months from the date of the notification, remove the tramway or part of the tramway of which the working has been so discontinued, and use the materials thereof in re-instating the road.

(2) The promoter shall pay to the road-authority the cost incurred by that authority in removing the tramway or the part thereof and in re-instating the road.

(3) The cost shall be certified by an officer of the road-authority, and his certificate, countersigned by the District Magistrate, shall be conclusive proof as to the cost incurred.

(4) If the promoter does not pay the amount so certified within one month after the delivery to him of the certificate or of a copy thereof, the road-authority may, without any previous notice to the promoter and without prejudice to any other remedy which it may have for the recovery of the amount, sell and dispose of such materials of the tramway or part thereof removed as it has not used in re-instating the road, either by public auction or by private sale, and for such sum or sums, and to such person or persons, as it thinks fit, and may, out of the proceeds of the sale, pay and reimburse itself the amount of the cost aforesaid and of the expenses of the sale, and shall pay over the residue (if any) of the proceeds of the sale to the promoter.

Insolvency of Promoter.

Proceedings in case of insolvency of promoter.

21. (1) If, at any time after the opening of a tramway in a circle for public traffic, it appears to the road-authority or local authority of the circle that the promoter of the tramway is insolvent, so that he is unable to maintain the tramway, or to work it with advantage to the public, and either of those authorities makes a representation to that effect to the Local Government, the Local Government may, if after considering any statement which the promoter may desire to make, and after such further enquiry as it deems necessary, it is satisfied as to the truth of the representation, declare, by notification in the official Gazette, that the powers of the promoter shall, at the expiration of six months from the publication of the notification, be at an end; and the powers of the promoter shall cease and determine at the expiration of that period, except in so far as they may be purchased by a local authority in manner by this Act provided.

(2) Where a notification has been published under sub-section (1), the road-authority may, at any time after the expiration of six months from the date thereof, remove the tramway in the same manner, and subject to the same provisions as to the payment of the cost of the removal and to the same remedy for recovery of the cost, in every respect as in cases of removal under section 20.

Purchase of Tramways.

Future purchase of undertaking by local authority.

22. (1) Where the promoter of a tramway in a circle is not the local authority, the local authority, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, may—

(a) within such limits of time as may be specified in this behalf in the order, or

(b) if a time was not specified in the order, then within six months after the expiration of a period of twenty-one years from the date of the order, and within six months after the expiration of every subsequent period of seven years, or

(c) within two months after the publication of a notification under section 19 or within six months after the publication of a notification under section 21, by notice in writing, require the promoter to sell to the local authority his undertaking or the part thereof which is within the circle of the local authority; and thereupon the promoter shall sell the same upon the terms specified in the order, or, if the terms were not specified in the order, then upon the terms of paying the then value of the undertaking or of the part thereof, exclusive of any allowance for past or future profits of the undertaking or any compensation for compulsory sale or other consideration whatsoever.

(2) A requisition shall not be made under sub-section (1) unless the making thereof has been approved by the local authority in manner prescribed.

(3) When a sale has been made under this section, all the rights, powers and authorities of the promoter in respect of the undertaking or part thereof sold, or, where a notification has been published under section 19 or section 21, all the rights, powers and authorities of the promoter previous to the publication of the notification in respect of the undertaking or part thereof sold, shall be transferred to the authority to whom the undertaking or part has been sold, and shall vest in, and may be exercised by, that authority in the same manner as if the tramway had been constructed by it under an order made under this Act.

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Working of Tramways owned by Local Authorities.—Rules.—Sections 23-24.)

(4) Subject to, and in accordance with, the preceding provisions of this section, two or more local authorities may jointly purchase an undertaking or so much thereof as is within their circles.

Working of Tramways owned by Local Authorities.

23. (1) When a local authority has under the authority of an order completed a tramway, or has under the provisions of this Act or of an order acquired possession of a tramway, it may, by a lease to be approved by the Local Government, let to any person the right of user of the tramway and of demanding and taking the authorised tolls.

Lease of, or working of, tramway by local authority.

(2) On the determination of a lease the local authority may from time to time let the right for such further term and on such conditions as the Local Government may approve.

(3) Every lease made under this section shall imply a condition of re-entry if at any time after the making thereof it is proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government that the lessee has practically discontinued the working of the tramway leased, or of any part thereof, for the space of one month without a reason sufficient, in the opinion of the Local Government, to warrant the discontinuance.

(4) Notice of the intention of the local authority to make a lease shall be given in manner prescribed.

(5) If the local authority cannot by means of a lease obtain what it deems to be a fair rent for the tramway, it may itself, with the previous sanction of the Local Government and for such term as the Local Government directs, place and run carriages upon the tramway, and demand and take the authorised tolls in respect of the use of the carriages.

Rules.

24. (1) In addition to any other power to make rules expressly or by implication conferred by this Act, the Local Government may make rules consistent with this Act—

Power to make rules.

(a) as to the form in which an application for an order shall be made;

(b) as to the costs to be paid by an applicant in respect of an order, and the time when, and the place where, those costs shall be paid;

(c) as to the payment of money or lodgment of securities, by way of deposit, by the applicant for an order before the order is published under section 6, sub-section (4), or a further order is made under section 8; the investment of money so paid; the disposal of interest or dividends from time to time accruing due on money or securities so paid, lodged or invested; the application of the money or securities or the produce thereof to the discharge of any liability incurred by the promoter; and the forfeiture, repayment or return of the money or securities;

(d) as to the plans and sections of any works to be deposited by applicants for orders or by promoters;

(e) for regulating the use of steam-power or any other mechanical power on a tramway;

(f) as to any matter specified in section 7, sub-section (2), clauses (c), (d), (e), (j) and (k), as a matter which may be provided for in an order, when that matter has not been so provided for, or has not, in the opinion of the Local Government, been effectually so provided for;

(g) as to the periodical submission, by promoters, lessees and licensees, of accounts of traffic and receipts to the Local Government or as that Government directs, and as to the forms in which those accounts are to be submitted;

(h) as to the accidents of which report is to be made to the Local Government or as that Government directs;

(i) as to any matter respecting which rules may be made under this section by a local authority or a promoter or lessee; and,

(j) generally, as to any other matter or thing in respect of which it may seem to the Local Government to be expedient to make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) A local authority may, from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, make rules consistent with this Act and with the order and any rules made by the Local Government under this Act for regulating—

(a) the rate of speed to be observed in travelling upon a tramway within the circle of the local authority;

(b) the use of animal power on the tramway

(c) the distances at which carriages using the tramway are to be allowed to follow one after the other;

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Rules.—Sections 25-26.—Offences.—Sections 27-29.)

(d) the stopping of carriages using the tramway, and the notice to be given to the public of their approach;

(e) the manner in which carriages using the tramway after sunset and before sunrise are to be lighted;

(f) the traffic on roads along or across which the tramway is laid;

(g) the number of passengers which may be carried in any carriage;

(h) the licensing and control of drivers, conductors and other persons having charge of the carriages of the promoter or lessee or a licensee; and,

(i) generally, the mode of use of the tramway.

(3) The promoter or lessee of a tramway may, from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, make rules consistent with this Act and with the order and any rules made under this Act—

(a) for preventing the commission of any nuisance in or upon any carriage, or in or against any premises, belonging to him; and

(b) for regulating the travelling in any carriage belonging to him.

(4) The Local Government may cancel any rule made by a local authority or by a promoter or lessee under this section.

Power to impose penalty by rule.

25. The authority making any rule under section 24 may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend—

(a) if the authority making the rule is the Local Government, to two hundred rupees, and

(b) if that authority is a local authority or a promoter or lessee, to twenty rupees; and when the breach is a continuing breach, with a further fine which may extend—

(c) if the authority making the rule is the Local Government, to fifty rupees, and

(d) if that authority is a local authority or a promoter or lessee, to five rupees, for every day after the first during which the breach continues.

Procedure for making, and publication of, rules.

26. (1) Every authority having power to make rules under any section of this Act shall, before making the rules, publish a draft of the proposed rules for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

(2) The publication shall be made, in the case of rules made by the Local Government, in such manner as may in its opinion be sufficient for giving information to persons interested, and, in the case of rules made by a local authority or by a promoter or lessee, in manner prescribed.

(3) There shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a date, not earlier than the expiration of one month after the date of publication, at or after which the draft will be taken into consideration.

(4) The authority shall receive and consider any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the draft before the date so specified.

(5) The publication in the official Gazette of a rule purporting to be made under this Act shall be conclusive proof that it has been duly made.

Offences.

Penalty for failure of promoter, lessee or licensee to comply with Act or order.

27. If a promoter—

(a) constructs or maintains a tramway otherwise than in accordance with the order, or

(b) opens the tramway for traffic, or permits it to be so opened, before it has been inspected and certified in manner required by section 12, or

(c) fails to observe any requirement or condition of the order for neglect or breach whereof no penalty has been expressly provided in the order, or if a promoter, lessee or licensee runs a carriage on a tramway otherwise than in accordance with the order, he shall (without prejudice to the enforcement of specific performance of the requirements of this Act or of the order, or to any other remedy which may be obtained against him in a Court of Civil Judicature), on complaint made by the Local Government or by the local authority or road-authority or by the District Magistrate or, with the previous sanction of the District Magistrate, by any person injuriously affected by the act or omission, be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and in the case of a continuing offence to a further fine which may extend to fifty rupees for every day after the first during which the offence continues to be committed.

Penalty for obstructing promoter in exercise of his powers.

28. If any person without lawful excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, wilfully obstructs any person acting under the authority of the promoter in the lawful exercise of his powers in constructing or maintaining a tramway, or injures or destroys any mark made for the purpose of setting out the line of the tramway, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Penalty for interfering with tramway.

29. If any person without lawful excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, wilfully does any of the following things, namely:—

(a) interferes with, removes or alters any part of a tramway constructed under

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Offences.—Sections 30-34—Settlement of Differences.—Sections 3-35.)

this Act, or of the works connected therewith, or

(b) places or throws upon or across any such tramway any wood, stone, refuse or other thing, or

(c) does anything in such a manner as to obstruct any carriage using any such tramway, or

(d) abets within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code the doing of, or attempts to do, anything mentioned in clause (a), clause (b) or clause (c), he shall (without prejudice to any other remedy which may be obtained against him in a Court of Civil Judicature) be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Penalty for using tramway with carriage having flange-wheels.

30. If any person, except under a lease from, or by agreement with, the promoter, or under license from the Local Government granted under this Act, uses on a tramway, otherwise than as permitted by section 14, a carriage having flange-wheels or other wheels suitable to run on the rail of the tramway, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Penalty for evading payment of proper toll.

31. (1) If any person travelling or having travelled in a carriage of the promoter or lessee or of a licensee evades or attempts to evade payment of toll, or if any person having paid toll for a certain distance wilfully proceeds in any such carriage beyond that distance and does not pay the additional toll for the additional distance or attempts to evade payment thereof, or if any person wilfully refuses or neglects on arriving at the point to which he has paid toll to quit the carriage, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to ten rupees.

(2) When a person commits an offence under this section and refuses on demand of a servant of the promoter, lessee or licensee to give his name and residence, or gives a name or residence which the servant has reason to believe to be false, he may be arrested and taken to the nearest police-station by the servant or any person whom the servant may call to his aid.

(3) When the person is taken to the police-station he shall with the least possible delay be forwarded to the nearest Magistrate, unless his true name and residence are ascertained, in which case he shall be released on his executing a bond for his appearance before a Magistrate if so required.

Penalty for taking or sending dangerous or offensive goods without giving notice

32. If any person takes or sends by a tramway any goods of a dangerous or offensive nature without giving the notice required by section 16, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Penalty for licensee not giving to promoter or lessee an account of traffic or giving false account.

33. (1) If a licensee fails on demand to give the account mentioned in section 18, or, with intent to evade the payment of tolls, gives a false account when he is called upon to give an account under that section, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

(2) The fine shall be in addition to any tolls payable by the licensee to the promoter or lessee in respect of the passengers or goods conveyed by the carriage or carriages used by the licensee on the tramway.

Saving of prosecutions under other laws.

34. Nothing in this Act shall prevent a person from being prosecuted under any other law for an act or omission which constitutes an offence against this Act or the rules made under it, or from being liable under that other law to any other or higher punishment or penalty than that provided by this Act or the rules made under it: Provided that a person shall not be punished twice for the same offence.

Settlement of Differences.

Differences between promoters or lessees and authorities.

35. (1) If any difference arises between the promoter or lessee on the one hand and the Local Government, or the local authority, or the road-authority, or a person having the charge of any sewers, drains, telegraph-lines, gas-pipes, water-pipes or other things in or on land occupied by the tramway, on the other hand, with respect to any interference or control exercised or claimed to be exercised by, or on behalf of, either party by virtue of this or any other Act, or of the order or the rules made under this Act, or with respect to the propriety of, or the mode of, the execution of any work, or with respect to any compensation to be made by or to the promoter or lessee, or on the question whether any work is such as ought reasonably to satisfy the Local Government or the road-authority or both, or with respect to any other subject or thing regulated by, or comprised in, this Act or the order or the rules made under this Act, and not otherwise expressly provided for therein, the matter in difference shall, except where the parties elect to proceed under section 523 of the Code of Civil Procedure, be settled, on the application of either party, by a referee. XIV

(2) Where the difference is—

(a) between the promoter or lessee on the one hand and the Local Government, either as such or as the road-authority, on the other, or

(b) between the promoter on the one hand and the local authority on the other, with respect to the sum to be paid by the local authority for an undertaking or part of an undertaking which that authority has required the promoter to sell under section 22,

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Recovery of Tolls.—Sections 36-38—Savings.—Sections 39-41.)

the referee shall be the District Court within the jurisdiction of which the tramway is situate, or, where the tramway is within the jurisdiction of more than one District Court, the District Court within the jurisdiction of which the greater part of the tramway is situate.

(3) In other cases the referee shall be appointed by the Local Government.

(4) Except where the referee is the District Court, the powers and procedure of the referee may be prescribed.

(5) In the case of a difference between a promoter on the one hand and a local authority on the other, with respect to the sum to be paid by the local authority for an undertaking or part of an undertaking which that authority has required the promoter to sell under section 22, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from the award of the referee as from an original decree of the District Court.

(6) In the case of every other difference the award of the referee shall be final.

Recovery of Tolls.

Recovery of moneys due from promoters and, in certain cases, from lessees.

36. Any of the following moneys, namely, any rent due to a local authority from a lessee, any penalty recoverable from a promoter or lessee under an order, any sum payable by a promoter or lessee under an award of a referee, the cost of the performance under this Act by the Local Government or by a local authority or road authority of any work required by this Act or by an order to be done by a promoter, and the cost incurred by a road-authority in removing a tramway and re-instating a road under this Act, may, without prejudice to any other remedy that the authority to which the money is due may have by suit or otherwise, be recovered by that authority, on application made in this behalf to the Collector, as if the sum due were an arrear of land-revenue due by the promoter or lessee or his surety (if any) :

Provided that nothing in this section shall authorise the arrest of the promoter or lessee or his surety in execution of any process issued by the Collector.

Recovery of tolls from licensees.

37. (1) If a licensee fails to pay on demand the tolls due for the use of a tramway, the promoter or lessee to whom the tolls are due may, without prejudice to the remedy which he may have by suit, apply to a Magistrate to recover the amount of the tolls, and the Magistrate may, after giving notice to the licensee if possible and allowing him an opportunity of being heard, proceed to recover the amount by distress and sale of any carriages or other moveable property of the licensee which may be found on the tramway or on premises connected therewith.

(2) When a licensee has failed to pay on demand the tolls due from him, the promoter or lessee to whom the tolls are due may seize any carriage or other moveable property of the licensee on the tramway or on premises connected therewith, and detain the same for forty-eight hours unless the tolls are sooner paid.

(3) When application is made to a Magistrate under sub-section (1), he may make an interim order of distraint pending his final decision.

Recovery of tolls from passengers.

38. Any toll due to a promoter, lessee or licensee from a passenger may be recovered either by suit or, on application to a Magistrate having jurisdiction within any local area in which any part of the tramway is laid, by distress and sale of any moveable property belonging to the passenger within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Magistrate.

Savings.

Promoter to have right of user only.

39. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, or in an order or any rule made under this Act, a promoter shall not acquire any right other than that of user only over a road along or across which he lays a tramway, nor shall anything contained in this Act, or in an order or any rule made under this Act, exempt the promoter of a tramway, or any other person using the tramway, from the payment of such charges as may lawfully be levied in respect of the use of a road or bridge along or across which the tramway is laid.

(2) The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, fix rates at which a promoter, lessee or licensee may compound for the charges payable in respect of the use of a road or bridge.

Saving of power over roads traversed by tramways.

40. (1) Nothing in this Act, or in an order or any rule made under this Act, shall take away or abridge any power which a road-authority, local authority or other person has by law to break up, widen, alter, divert or improve a road, railroad or tramway along or across which a tramway is laid.

(2) The road-authority, local authority or other person executing any work referred to in sub-section (1) shall not be liable to pay to a promoter, lessee or licensee any compensation for injury done to a tramway by the execution of the work or for loss of traffic occasioned by the reasonable use of any power lawfully exercised for the execution thereof.

Saving of power of local authority and police to regulate traffic on roads.

41. Nothing in this Act, or in an order or any rule made under this Act, shall affect the powers of a local authority or of a Magistrate or police-officer to regulate the passage of traffic along or across a road along or across which a tramway is laid; and the authority, Magistrate or officer aforesaid may exercise its or his powers as well on as off the tramway and with respect as well to the traffic

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Supplemental Provisions.—Sections 42-50.)

of a promoter, lessee or licensee as to the traffic of other persons.

Supplemental Provisions.

Promoters, lessees and licensees to be responsible for all injuries.

42. A promoter, lessee or licensee shall be answerable for all injuries happening through his act or default, or through the act or default of any person in his employment, by reason or in consequence of any of his carriages or works, and shall save harmless all authorities and persons collectively and individually, and their officers and servants, from all damages and costs in respect of injuries so happening.

Want of funds not a sufficient reason for default.

43. For the purposes of this Act want of funds shall not be deemed to be a sufficient reason for the suspension of the construction, or the discontinuance of the working, of a tramway by a promoter or lessee.

Power to exempt from municipal taxation.

44. When a tramway is constructed under this Act within the limits of a municipality, the Local Government may exempt the animals, plant, rolling-stock, yards, workshops, engine-sheds and depôts of the promoter, lessee or licensee, for such period as it thinks fit, from all or any municipal taxes leviable within those limits.

Application by local authorities of local funds to tramways.

45. (1) The fund to or with the control or management of which the local authority of a municipality, cantonment or district is entitled or entrusted shall, notwithstanding anything in any enactment respecting the purposes to which that fund may be applied, be applicable, subject to the control of the Local Government, to the payment of expenses incidental to the exercise of the powers and functions which may be vested in or exercised by a local authority under this Act.

(2) The fund shall also be applicable, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, to a guarantee of the payment of interest on money to be applied, with the concurrence in writing of the local authority, within the limits of the local area under its control, to any of the purposes to which the fund might be applied by the local authority under sub-section (1).

Extension of Act to existing tramways.

46. The Local Government may, with the consent of the local authority and road-authority and of the promoter and his lessee (if any), extend any part of this Act, or any rules made under this Act, either with or without modification, to the whole or any part of a tramway constructed, or authorised by the Local Government to be constructed, before the passing of this Act, and may withdraw any part of the Act or any rules so extended.

Prohibition of construction of tramways except under this Act.

47. (1) A tramway of which the construction has not been authorised by the Local Government before the passing of this Act shall not, after the passing of this Act, be constructed for public traffic in any place to which this Act extends, except in pursuance of an order made under this Act.

(2) A person constructing a tramway in contravention of sub-section (1) of this section, or after the passing of this Act maintaining or using for public traffic, otherwise than in pursuance of an order made under this Act, a tramway which was not constructed, or authorised by the Local Government to be constructed, before the passing of this Act, shall be liable, on the complaint of the Local Government or local authority, to double the penalty to which a promoter acting otherwise than in accordance with an order is liable under section 27.

Transfer of control on exclusion of local area from circle of Local authority.

48. If at any time a local area comprising a tramway to which this Act or any part thereof or any rule thereunder applies ceases to be included in the circle of a local authority, the functions of that authority under this Act or the part thereof or the rule thereunder, and under the order (if any), shall, in respect of that local area, devolve on the Local Government or, if that Government so directs, on the local authority of the circle in which the tramway has been included.

Explanation and amendment of section 54 of Railway Act.

49. (1) In section 54 of the Indian Railway Act, 1879, the word "tramway" shall have the meaning assigned to it by section 3 of this Act.

(2) In the same section of that Act, after the words "by steam" the words "or other mechanical power" shall be added.

Powers of Local Government exerciseable from time to time.

50. All powers conferred by this Act on a Local Government may be exercised from time to time as occasion requires.

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to facilitate the construction and to regulate the working of Tramways was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th March, 1886 :—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to facilitate the construction and to regulate the working of Tramways was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report.

From Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, British Burma, No. 388—6L., dated 12th February, 1886, and enclosures [Papers No. 13].
From Officiating Under-Secretary to Government, Bengal, No. 805, dated 20th February, 1886, and enclosures [Papers No. 14].

2. The object of the proviso to section 4, sub-section (1), of the Bill does not appear to have been understood. In the case of lines extending beyond municipal limits, it is often difficult to say whether the line ought to be treated as a tramway or as a light railway, and the object of the proviso is to give the Government of India an opportunity of determining, with reference to particular cases or classes of cases, to which of the two categories such lines ought to be treated as belonging.

3. By section 5 we have empowered the Local Government to modify conditions sought to be imposed by a local authority with respect to the construction within its circle of part of a tramway which is to be laid in two or more circles.

4. In sections 17 and 21 we have provided for an opportunity being given to the promoter to state his case before the Local Government either grants licenses under the former section or determines the powers of the promoter under the latter section.

5. By clauses (g) and (h) of sub-section (1) of section 24 we have enabled the Local Government to make rules as to the periodical submission of statistics relating to tramways, and as to the accidents of which report is to be made.

6. By clause (e) of sub-section (2) of the same section we have empowered local authorities to make rules as to the manner in which carriages using the tramway after sunset and before sunrise are to be lighted.

7. By section 27 we have made the previous sanction of the District Magistrate a condition precedent to the institution by a private person of criminal proceedings against a promoter, lessee or licensee for breach of any provision of the Act or of any direction of an order authorizing the construction of a tramway.

8. By section 35 we have provided that, except where the parties to a difference elect to proceed under section 523 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the matter in difference between them shall be settled, on the application of either party, by a referee, and that, where the difference is between the promoter on the one hand and the local authority on the other with respect to the sum to be paid by the local authority for an undertaking which that authority has required the promoter to sell under section 22, the referee shall be the District Court. We have also provided that, in that case, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from the award of the District Court.

9. To section 45 we have added a sub-section supplementary to Act XV of 1885 (an Act to amend the Local Authorities Loan Act, 1879).

10. By section 47 of the Bill we have proposed that, in places to which the Act extends, tramways of which the construction has not been authorised before the passing of the Act shall not be constructed, after the passing of the Act, otherwise than in pursuance of an order made under the Act.

11. By section 48 we have made provision for cases in which a local area comprising a tramway is excluded from the circle of one local authority and included in that of another.

12. By section 49 we have proposed so to amend section 54 of the Indian Railway Act, 1879, as to enable the Governor General in Council to apply that Act or any portion thereof to a tramway worked by any mechanical power.

13. The other amendments of the Bill are few and unimportant, and do not call for special notice.

14. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows :—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.]

ACT NO. XII OF 1886.

THE PETROLEUM ACT, 1886.

CONTENTS.

An Act to regulate the importation, possession and transport of Petroleum and other fluids of a like nature.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the importation, possession and transport of petroleum and other fluids of a like nature; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

Short title, commencement and local extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Petroleum Act, 1886; and

(2) It shall come into force on such day as the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoints.

(3) The provisions of this Act relating to dangerous petroleum, and the importation of petroleum, extend to the whole of British India. The rest of this Act extends only to such local areas as the Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, direct.

(4) Any power conferred by this Act to make rules or issue orders may be exercised at any time after the passing of this Act; but a rule or order so made or issued shall not take effect until the Act comes into force.

Repeal.

2. (1) On and from the day on which this Act comes into force, the Petroleum Act, 1881, shall be repealed: VIII

(2) But all notifications issued, rules made, licenses granted, powers conferred and certificates given under that Act shall, so far as may be, be deemed to have been issued, made, granted, conferred and given under this Act.

Definitions.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "petroleum" includes also the liquids commonly known by the names of rock oil, Rangoon oil, Burma oil, kerosine, paraffine oil, mineral oil, petroline, gasoline, benzol, benzoline, benzine, and any inflammable liquid which is made from petroleum, coal, schist, shale, peat or any other bituminous substance, or from any products of petroleum; but it does not include any oil ordinarily used for lubricating purposes and having its flashing point at or above two hundred degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer:

(2) "dangerous petroleum" means petroleum having its flashing point below seventy-six degrees

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(Dangerous Petroleum.—Sections 4-8.)

of Fahrenheit's thermometer: Provided that, when all or any of the petroleum on board a ship, or in the possession of a dealer, is declared by the master of the ship or the consignee of the cargo, or by the dealer, as the case may be, to be of one uniform quality, the petroleum shall not be deemed to be dangerous if the samples selected from the petroleum have their flashing points, on an average, at or above seventy-three degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer, and if no one of those samples has its flashing point below seventy degrees of that thermometer:

(3) "import" means to bring into British India by sea or land, and "importation" means the bringing into British India as aforesaid:

(4) "transport" means to remove from one place to another within British India: and

(5) "ship" includes anything made for the conveyance by water of human beings or property.

Matters supplemental to the definitions.

4. (1) The flashing point of petroleum means the lowest temperature at which the petroleum yields a vapour which will furnish a momentary flash or flame when tested in accordance with the directions in the schedule to this Act with an apparatus which has been stamped and certified as provided by this Act within a period of five years immediately preceding the date on which the apparatus is used for the testing, and after the corrections (if any) which the certificate declares are to be applied to the results of the testing have been made.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in the definitions of "import", "importation" and "transport", the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, declare—

(a) that petroleum imported into its territories from any part of British India, by sea or across intervening territory not being part of British India, shall, for all or any of the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be transported; and

(b) that petroleum transported into its territories from any place in British India shall, for all or any of those purposes, be deemed to be imported; and thereupon the provisions of this Act, and of the rules made under this Act, with respect to transport and import, respectively, shall apply to petroleum so imported or transported.

Dangerous Petroleum.

Dangerous petroleum in quantities exceeding forty gallons.

5. (1) No quantity of dangerous petroleum exceeding forty gallons shall be imported or transported, or kept by any one person or on the same premises, except under, and in accordance with the conditions of, a license from the Local Government granted as next hereinafter provided.

(2) Every application for such a license shall be in writing, and shall declare—

(a) the quantity of the petroleum which it is desired to import, transport or possess, as the case may be;

(b) the purpose for which the applicant believes that the petroleum will be used; and

(c) that petroleum other than dangerous petroleum cannot be used for that purpose.

(3) If the Local Government sees reason to believe that the petroleum will be used for that purpose, and that no petroleum other than dangerous petroleum can be used for the purpose, it may grant the license for the importation, transport or possession (as the case may be) of the petroleum, absolutely or subject to such conditions as it thinks fit.

Dangerous petroleum in quantities not exceeding forty gallons.

6. No quantity of dangerous petroleum equal to or less than forty gallons shall be kept or transported without a license:

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply in any case when the quantity of the petroleum kept by any one person or on the same premises, or transported, does not exceed three gallons, and the petroleum is placed in separate glass, stoneware or metal vessels, each of which contains not more than a pint and is securely stopped.

Vessels containing dangerous petroleum to be labelled.

7. Dangerous petroleum—

(a) which is kept at any place after seven days from the date on which it is imported, or

(b) which is transported, or

(c) which is sold or exposed for sale, shall be contained in vessels having attached thereto a label in conspicuous characters stating the description of the petroleum, with the addition of the words "highly inflammable" and with the addition—

(d) in the case of a vessel kept, of the name and address of the consignee or owner;

(e) in the case of a vessel transported, of the name and address of the sender; and

(f) in the case of a vessel sold or exposed for sale, of the name and address of the vendor.

Petroleum generally.

Power for Local Government to make rules as to importation and refining of petroleum.

8. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may make rules consistent with this Act to regulate the importation of petroleum, and in particular—

(a) to determine the ports at which only petroleum may be imported;

(b) to ascertain the quantity and description of any petroleum on board any ship;

(c) to determine the places at which, and the conditions on and subject to which petroleum may be discharged into boats, landed, transhipped or stored;

(d) to provide for the selection by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, and for the delivery to him, either after or before petroleum has been landed, of samples of all petroleum landed or intended to be landed;

(e) to provide, in the case of each consignment which is stated to be of one uniform quality, for the number of samples to be selected, and for the averaging of the results of the testing of those samples;

(f) to provide, where the results of the testing of the samples raise a doubt as to the uniformity of the quality of the petroleum in any such consignment, for the division of the consignment into lots, and for the

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(Petroleum generally.—Sections 9-14.)

selection and testing of samples of each lot, and for the treatment of the lot in accordance with the results of the testing of those samples;

(g) to fix fees for the sampling and testing of petroleum; and

(h) to fix fees for the storage of petroleum unless a body of port commissioners or other like body is empowered in that behalf.

(2) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, with respect to any petroleum produced within its territories, make rules—

(a) to define the limits of the places where the petroleum is to be refined;

(b) to provide for the testing of the petroleum at or near those places; and

(c) to prevent the removal from those limits, otherwise than under the provisions of this Act applicable to dangerous petroleum, of petroleum which has not satisfied the tests prescribed by the rules.

Procedure after petroleum has been discharged or landed.

9. (1) Petroleum discharged into boats or landed in accordance with rules made under section 8, sub-section (1), shall not be removed from the boats or places in or at which it is stored until the samples selected therefrom in accordance with those rules have been tested by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf in the manner described in the schedule to this Act with an apparatus which has been stamped and certified as provided by this Act, and until the officer has given a certificate that the petroleum is not dangerous petroleum.

(2) If the officer after testing the samples refuses to give the certificate in respect of any petroleum, the Local Government may permit the consignee, within a time to be fixed by the Local Government in this behalf,—

(a) to rectify the petroleum,

(b) to apply for a license to import the petroleum as dangerous petroleum, or

(c) to re-export the petroleum.

(3) If the consignee does not within the time fixed under sub-section (2) avail himself of the permission granted under that sub-section, the petroleum may be disposed of as the Local Government directs.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing portions of this section, the Local Government in its discretion may, where the officer has refused the certificate, direct that the petroleum be re-tested by another officer appointed by it in this behalf, and may, if that officer advises that the petroleum is not dangerous petroleum, authorise its removal from the boats or places in or at which it is stored.

Possession and transport of petroleum.

10. No quantity of petroleum exceeding five hundred gallons shall be kept by any one person or on the same premises or shall be transported except under, and in accordance with the conditions of, a license granted under this Act.

Power to make rules as to possession and transport.

11. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may make rules consistent with this Act as to the granting of licenses to possess or transport petroleum in cases where such licenses are by law required.

(2) The rules may provide for the following among other matters, that is to say:—

in the case of licenses to possess petroleum—

(a) the nature and situation of the premises for which they may be granted, and in the case of licenses to transport petroleum—

(b) the inspection of the premises and the testing of petroleum found thereon;

(c) the manner in which the petroleum is to be packed, the mode and time of transit, and the route by which it is to be taken, and in the case of both such licenses—

(d) the stoppage and inspection of it during transit;

(e) the authority by which the license may be granted;

(f) the fee to be charged for it;

(g) the quantity of petroleum it is to cover;

(h) the conditions which may be inserted in it;

(i) the time during which it is to continue in force; and

(j) the renewal of the license.

(3) The Governor General in Council may make rules consistent with this Act as to the granting of licenses to transport petroleum from any part of British India to any other part of British India in cases where such licenses are by law required; and those rules may provide, among other matters, for those mentioned in sub-section (2) as matters for which rules made by a Local Government with respect to licenses to transport petroleum may provide.

Power to inspect and require dealer to sell samples.

12. Any officer specially authorized by name or by virtue of his office in this behalf by the Local Government may require any dealer in petroleum to show him any place and any of the vessels in which any petroleum in his possession is stored or contained, to give him such assistance as he may require for examining the same, and to deliver to him samples of the petroleum on payment of the value of the samples.

Notice to be given when officer proposes to test samples.

13. When any such officer has, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 12, or by purchase, obtained a sample of petroleum in the possession of a dealer, he may give a notice in writing to the dealer informing him that he is about to test the sample or cause it to be tested with the apparatus and in the manner described in the schedule to this Act, at a time and place to be fixed in the notice, and that the dealer or his agent may be present at the testing.

Certificate as to result of testing.

14. On any such testing, if it appears to the officer or other person so testing that the petroleum from which the sample has been taken is or is not dangerous petroleum, the officer or other person may certify the fact; and the certificate so given shall be receivable as evidence in any proceedings which may be taken under this Act against the dealer in whose possession the petroleum was found, and shall, until the contrary is proved, be evidence of the fact stated therein; and a certified copy of the certificate shall be given free of charge to the dealer at his request.

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(Test-apparatus.—Sections 18-21.) & (Miscellaneous.—Sections 22-26.)

Penalties.

15. Any person who, in contravention of this Act or of any rules made under this Act, imports, possesses or transports any petroleum, or any person who otherwise contravenes any such rules or any condition contained in a license granted under this Act, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

Penalty for illegal importation, possession or transport of petroleum.

16. Any person keeping, transporting, selling or exposing for sale petroleum in vessels not labelled as prescribed by section 7, shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Penalty for keeping, transporting, selling or exposing for sale petroleum in contravention of section 7.

17. Any dealer in petroleum who refuses or neglects to show to any Officer authorized under section 12 any place or any of the vessels in which petroleum in his possession is stored or contained, or to give him such assistance as he may require for examining the same, or to give him samples of the petroleum on payment of the value of the samples, shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Penalty for refusing to comply with section 12.

18. In any case in which an offence under section 15 or section 16 has been committed, the convicting Magistrate may direct that—

Confiscation of petroleum.

(a) the petroleum in respect of which the offence has been committed, or

(b) where the offender is importing or transporting, or is in possession of, any petroleum exceeding the quantity (if any) which he is permitted to import, transport or possess, as the case may be, the whole of the petroleum which he is importing or transporting or is in possession of, shall, together with the tins or other vessels in which it is contained, be confiscated.

19. The criminal jurisdiction under this Act shall, in the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, be exercised by a Presidency Magistrate, and elsewhere by a Magistrate of the first class, or (where specially empowered by the Local Government to try cases under this Act) a Magistrate of the second class.

Jurisdiction.

Test-apparatus.

20. A model of the apparatus for testing petroleum under this Act, constructed in accordance with the description contained in the schedule to this Act, shall be deposited in the office of the Chemical Examiner to Government, Calcutta, and be marked with the words "Model test-apparatus."

Model test-apparatus.

21. (1) The Chemical Examiner shall, on payment of such fee (if any) as the Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prescribe, compare with the said model test-apparatus and verify every apparatus for testing petroleum which is submitted to him for the purpose.

Verification of test-apparatus.

(2) If any apparatus for testing petroleum, when compared and verified as provided by sub-section (1), is found correct, or correct subject to certain corrections to be applied to the results of the tests, the Chemical Examiner shall stamp the same with a special number, and with the date of the verification, and shall further give a certificate in writing under his hand, in a form to be prescribed by the Governor General in Council, to the effect that on the date aforesaid the apparatus was compared and verified by him and found to be correct, or correct subject to certain specified corrections to be applied to the results of the tests.

(3) A certificate granted under this section shall, until the contrary is proved, be conclusive proof of the matters stated therein.

(4) The Chemical Examiner shall keep a register, in a form to be prescribed by the Governor General in Council, of the certificates granted under this section.

(5) Subject to the payment of such fees as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, prescribe in this behalf, the said model test-apparatus shall be at all reasonable times open to inspection by any person desiring to inspect it.

Miscellaneous.

22. The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, exempt from the operation of all or any of the provisions of this Act, or of all or any of the rules made under this Act, any petroleum which has its flashing point at or above one hundred and twenty degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer and is imported as ordinary cargo and in quantity not exceeding that specified in the notification.

Power to Local Government to exempt petroleum from operation of this Act.

23. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, apply the whole or any portion of this Act to any inflammable fluid other than petroleum, and may by the notification fix, in substitution for the quantities of petroleum fixed by sections 5, 6 and 10, the quantities of the fluid to which those sections shall apply.

Power to apply this Act to other fluids.

24. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazette, limit, in any manner he deems fit, the operation of any enactment for the time being in force relating to municipalities in any local area or to any particular municipality, and the exercise of any power conferred by any such enactment, in so far as the enactment relates to the possession or transport of petroleum.

Power to limit operation of enactments relating to municipalities.

25. A notification made under this Act may be revoked or varied by the authority making it by a notification published in the same manner as the notification so revoked or varied.

Power to revoke or vary notifications.

26. (1) An authority making rules under this Act shall, before making the rules, publish a draft of the proposed rules for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

Procedure for making and publication of rules.

(2) The publication shall be made in such manner as the Governor General in Council, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prescribes.

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(The Schedule.)

(3) There shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a date at or after which the draft will be taken in consideration.

(4) The authority making the rules shall receive and consider any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the draft before the date so specified.

(5) A rule made under this Act shall not take effect if it is made by the Governor General in Council until it has been published in the Gazette of India, and if it is made by the Local Government until it has been published in the local official Gazette.

(6) The publication in the Gazette of a rule purporting to be made under this Act shall be conclusive proof that it has been duly made.

(7) All powers to make rules conferred by this Act may be exercised from time to time as occasion requires.

THE SCHEDULE.

I.—Nature of the Test-apparatus.

The apparatus consists of the following parts:—

(1) the oil cup;

(2) the cover, with slide, test-lamp, and clockwork arrangement for opening and closing the holes in the cover and for dipping the test-flame;

(3) the water-bath or heating vessel;

(4) the tripod stand, with jacket and spirit-lamp for heating the water-bath;

(5) the thermometer for indicating the temperature of the oil in the oil-cup;

(6) the thermometer for indicating the temperature of the water in the water-bath;

(7) the thermometer for indicating the temperature of the oil before it is poured into the oil-cup;

(8) the dropping bottle or pipette for replenishing the test-lamp; and

(9) a barometer standardised at the Meteorological Office of the province or at any other place appointed by the Local Government.

The oil-cup is a cylindrical flat-bottomed vessel, made of gun-metal or brass, and tinned or silvered inside. A gauge is fixed to the inside of the cup to regulate the height to which it is to be filled with the sample under examination.

The cup is provided with a close fitting overlapping cover, which carries the thermometer, the test-lamp and the adjuncts thereto. The test-lamp is suspended upon two supports by means of trunnions, which allow it to be easily inclined to a particular angle and restored to its original position. The socket in the cover, which is to hold a round bulb thermometer for indicating the temperature of the oil during the testing operation, is so adjusted that the bulb of the latter is always inserted in a definite position below the surface of the liquid.

The cover is provided with three holes, one in the centre and two smaller ones close to the sides. These are closed and opened by means of a pivoted slide. When the slide is moved so as to uncover the holes, the suspended lamp is caught by a projection fixed on the slide, and tilted in such a way as to bring the end of the spout just below the surface of the lid. As the slide moves back so as to cover the holes, the lamp returns to its original position. Upon the cover, in front of and in a line with the nozzle of the lamp, is fixed a white bead, the diameter of which represents the size of the test-flame to be used.

The water-bath or heating vessel is so constructed that, when the oil-cup is placed in position in it, an air-space or air-chamber intervenes between the two; consequently, in applying the test under ordinary circumstances, the heat is transmitted gradually to the oil from the hot water through the air-space. The water-bath is fitted with a socket for receiving a long bulb thermometer, to indicate the temperature of the water. It is also provided with a funnel, an overflow-pipe and two handles.

The water-bath rests upon a tripod stand, which is fitted with a copper cylinder or jacket, so that the bath is surrounded by an enclosed air-space, which retains and regulates the heat. One of the legs of the stand serves as a support for a spirit-lamp, which is attached to it by a small swing bracket.

The clockwork arrangement, by which during the operation of testing the slide is withdrawn, and the test-flame dipped into the cup and raised again as the slide is replaced, is provided with a ratchet key for setting it in action for each test, and with a trigger for starting it each time that the test-flame is applied.

II.—Directions for drawing the Sample and preparing it for Testing.

1. Drawing the sample.—In all cases the testing officer or some person duly authorised by him shall personally superintend the drawing of the sample from an original unopened tin or other vessel.

An opening sufficiently large to admit of the oil being rapidly poured or syphoned from the tin or other vessel shall be made.

Two bottles, each of the capacity of about 40 fluid ounces, are to be filled with the oil. One of these, the contents of which is intended to be preserved for reference in case of need, is to be carefully corked, the cork being well driven home,

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

cut off level with the neck, and melted sealing-wax worked into it. The other bottle may be either stoppered or corked.

2. Preparing the sample for testing.—About ten fluid ounces of the oil, sufficient for three tests, are transferred from the bottle into which the sample has been drawn to a pint flask or bottle, which is to be immersed in water artificially cooled until a thermometer, introduced into the oil, indicates a temperature not exceeding 50° Fahrenheit.

III.—Directions for preparing and using the Test-apparatus.

1. Preparing the water-bath.—The water-bath is filled by pouring water into the funnel until it begins to flow out at the overflow-pipe. The temperature of the water at the commencement of each test, as indicated by the long bulb thermometer, is to be 130° Fahrenheit, and this is attained in the first instance by mixing hot and cold water, either in the bath or in a vessel from which the bath is filled, until the thermometer which is provided for testing the temperature of the water gives the proper indication; or the water is heated by means of the spirit-lamp (which is attached to the stand of the apparatus) until the required temperature is indicated.

2. Preparing the test-lamp.—The test-lamp is fitted with a piece of cylindrical wick of such thickness that it fills the wick-holder, but may readily be moved to and fro for the purpose of adjusting the size of the flame. In the body of the lamp, upon the wick, which is coiled within it, is placed a small tuft of cotton wool, moistened with petroleum, any oil not absorbed by the wool being removed. When the lamp has been lighted, the wick is adjusted by means of a pair of forceps until the flame is of the size of the bead fixed on the cover of the oil-cup; should a particular test occupy so long a time that the flame begins to get smaller, through the supply of oil in the lamp becoming exhausted, three or four drops of petroleum are allowed to fall upon the tuft of wool in the lamp from the dropping bottle or pipette provided for that purpose. This can be safely done without interrupting the test.

3. Filling the oil-cup.—The oil-cup having been previously cooled, by placing it bottom downwards in water at a temperature not exceeding 50° Fahrenheit, is to be rapidly wiped dry, placed on a level surface in a good light, and the oil to be tested is poured in very slowly, without splashing, until its surface is level with the point of the gauge which is fixed in the cup. The round bulb thermometer is inserted into the lid of the cup, care being taken that the projecting rim of the collar touches the edge of the socket; the test-lamp, prepared as already described, is placed in position, and the cover is then put on to the cup and pressed down so that its edge rests on the rim of the cup.

4. Application of the test.—The water-bath, with its thermometer in position, is placed in some locality where it is not exposed to currents of air, and where the light is sufficiently subdued to admit of the size of the entire test-flame being compared with that of the bead on the cover. The cup is carefully lifted without shaking it, and placed in the bath, the test-lamp is lighted, and the clockwork wound up by turning the key. The thermometer in the oil-cup is now watched, and when the temperature has reached 56° Fahrenheit the clockwork is set in motion by pressing the trigger.

If no flash takes place the clockwork is at once re-wound, and the trigger pressed at 57° Fahrenheit, and so on, at every degree rise of temperature, until the flash occurs, or until a temperature of 95° Fahrenheit has been reached.

If the flash takes place at any temperature below 77° Fahrenheit the temperature at which it occurs is to be recorded. The fresh portions of the sample are then to be successively tested in a similar manner and the results recorded. If no greater difference than 2° Fahrenheit exists between any two of the three recorded results, each result is to be corrected for atmospheric pressure, as hereafter described, and the average of the three corrected results is the flashing point of the sample. In the event of there being a greater difference than 2° Fahrenheit between any two of the results, the series of tests is to be rejected and a fresh series, of three, similarly obtained, and so on until a sufficiently concordant series is furnished, when the results are to be corrected and the average taken in the manner already described.

No flash which takes place within eight degrees of the temperature at which the testing is commenced shall be accepted as the true flashing point of the sample tested. In the event of a flash occurring at or below 64° when the test is applied in the manner above described, the next testing shall be commenced ten degrees lower than the temperature at which the flash had been previously obtained (that is to say, at 54° or thereunder), and this procedure shall be continued until the results of three consecutive tests do not show a greater difference than 2°.

If a temperature of 76° Fahrenheit has been reached without a flash occurring, the application of the test-flame is to be continued at every degree rise of temperature until a temperature of 95° Fahrenheit has been reached. If no flash has occurred up to this point, and if the petroleum is declared to be imported subject to the provisions of the Act, the tests shall not be continued, and the testing officer shall certify that the petroleum has a flashing point over 95° and is not dangerous. But if the petroleum is oil ordinarily used for lubricating purposes and is declared to have its flashing point at or above 200° degrees, or is oil to which a notification of the Local Government exempting it from the operation of the Act will be applicable in the event of the flashing point being found to be at or above 120°, the test shall be continued as follows:—The oil-cup is to be removed from the water-bath, and the temperature of the water in the water-bath is to be reduced to 95° Fahrenheit by pouring cold water into the funnel (the hot water escaping by the overflow-pipe). The air-chamber is then to be filled to a depth of 1½ inches with water at a temperature of about 95° Fahrenheit, the oil-cup is to be replaced in the water-bath and the spirit-lamp attached to the water-bath is to be lighted and placed underneath. The test-flame is then to be again applied, from 96° Fahrenheit, at every degree rise of temperature as indicated by the thermometer in the oil-cup until a flash takes place or until a temperature of 200° Fahrenheit or 120° Fahrenheit, as the case may be, has been reached. If during this operation the test-flame appears to diminish in size, the lamp is to be replenished in the manner prescribed at (2) without interrupting the test.

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(The Schedule.)

If a flash occurs at any temperature between 76° and 200° Fahrenheit, the temperature at which it occurs, subject to correction for atmospheric pressure, is the flashing point of the sample.

In repeating a test a fresh sample of oil must always be used, the tested sample being thrown away, and the cup must be wiped dry from any adhering oil and cooled, as already described, before receiving the fresh sample.

5. Correction for atmospheric pressure.—As the flashing point of an oil is influenced by changes in atmospheric pressure to an average extent of 1·6° Fahrenheit for every inch of the barometer, a correction of the observed flashing point may become necessary. The height of the barometer must therefore be determined at the time of making the test for the flashing point. The true height of the barometer for the purpose of the test shall be considered to be the height of the column of mercury measured at 32° Fahrenheit, which is supported by the air pressure at the time of the experiment; that is, the actual height of the barometer at the time of observation duly corrected for any error of the instrument and for its temperature if necessary. For the purpose of applying the correction to the flashing point of the oil obtained by the test, a table is appended to this schedule, giving the flashing points of oils ranging from 65° to 80° Fahrenheit, under pressure ranging from 27 to 31 inches of mercury.

The table is used in the following manner:—

Example.—An oil has given a flashing point of 71°, the barometer being at 28·6 inches; take the nearest number to 71° in the vertical column headed 28·6. This number is 70·8. Substitute for this the number in the same horizontal line in the column headed 30 (the normal height of the barometer). The substituted number, that is, the true flashing point of the oil, is 73°.

S. HARVEY, JAMES,

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Petroleum Act, 1881, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th March, 1886 :—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Petroleum Act, 1881, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report.

From Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Assam, No. 599, dated 14th April, 1885 [Paper No. 1].
From Secretary for Berar to Resident, Hyderabad, No. 176G., dated 18th May, 1885 [Paper No. 2].
From Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwára, No. 644, dated 17th June, 1885 [Paper No. 3].
From Secretary to Chief Commissioner, British Burma, No. 388—2M., dated 16th June, 1885, and enclosures [Papers No. 4].
From Registrar, High Court, Calcutta, No. 1885, dated 23rd June, 1885 [Paper No. 5].
From Chief Secretary to Government, Madras, No. 1606, dated 17th June, 1885, and enclosures [Papers No. 6].
From Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Coorg, No. 543—63, dated 26th June, 1885 [Paper No 7].
From Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 1148—VI-190-15, dated 29th June, 1885 [Paper No. 8].
From Officiating Secretary to Government, Punjab, No. 610S., dated 8th July, 1885, and enclosures [Papers No. 9].
From Under-Secretary to Government, Bombay, No. 2501, dated 6th July, 1885, and enclosures [Papers No. 10].
From Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 65, dated 18th June, 1885, and enclosure [Papers No. 11].
From Officiating Secretary to Government, Bengal, No. 827T.—M., dated 2nd July, 1885, and enclosures [Papers No. 12].
From Assistant Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 2653—83, dated 11th July, 1885 [Paper No. 13].
From Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 1544—VI-190-22, dated 27th August, 1885, and enclosure [Papers No. 14].

2. On the general question of standards and the definition of dangerous petroleum, we adhere to the scheme laid down in section 3 of the Bill. But Dr. Warden and Mr. Pedler suggest that the lowest standard for lubricating oils (the attainment of which would exempt them from the operation of the Act) should be fixed at 200° instead of 250° as in the present Act. It is, they explain, practically impossible with the Abel apparatus to test up to 250°. They consider the limit of 150°, which is proposed in some of the papers, too low for this country, and believe 200° would meet all reasonable requirements. In this view we concur. We are also of opinion that Local Governments should be empowered to exempt from the operation of the Act and rules oil certified to be over 120° when imported as ordinary cargo and in limited quantities.

3. We consider that section 4 of the Bill should be omitted. Messrs. Warden and Pedler point out that the drawback of the fragility of glass for carriage is frequently more than counterbalanced by its impermeability. It is very difficult in this country to get tin or metal vessels made which shall be thoroughly impervious to highly volatile oil.

4. It is suggested by the Bombay Government and other authorities that it should be made clear that conveyance by sea from one part of British India to another is "transport" and not "import" within the meaning of the Act. We are of opinion that some discretion in the matter should be left to the Local Governments. It would be unsafe, for instance, at present to admit freely to Calcutta oil brought up from Burma. Experience has shown that in Burma refining is not yet thoroughly understood, and the local testing is not at present very trustworthy. The Local Governments in India should have power to treat such oil as foreign oil until its quality generally improves. On the other hand, there is no reason why foreign oil once properly tested should be re-tested on arrival at a second port. We have taken power for the Local Governments of territories, such as Burma and Assam, in which oil is or is likely to be produced, to appoint testing officers at or near refineries, and to prevent the removal from the refineries of oil which does not satisfy the tests otherwise than under the regulations for the control of dangeous petroleum.

5. Turning now to the question of the method of sampling cargoes, we concur with the Bombay Government and other authorities in thinking that it should be open to the Local Government by rule to provide for sampling either before or after landing; to prescribe the number of samples to be taken from a cargo or consignment or any part thereof; to provide, when the first test is unsatisfactory, or when doubt is felt as to the uniformity of quality in the cargo, for the landing and sorting of the cargo in lots, or its delivery into boats, each of a certain capacity; and for the sampling of each lot or boat-load, and its ultimate treatment in accordance with the results of the test in each case.

When a doubtful cargo has to be landed and stacked, substantial fees should be levied, as much additional work is thrown upon Government officers.

6. With reference to the objections taken by some Bombay officers to the provisions of the schedule requiring that the sample tin should be tapped in presence of the testing officer, we observe that Messrs. Warden and Pedler both attach importance to this, as all manipulation and airing of the oil tends to raise its flashing point, and the drawing of oil for testing purposes should in any case be under the control of a responsible officer of the testing department. They consider that in most cases the selection of one case from a cargo of oil certified before arrival to be ordinary petroleum is sufficient, if care is taken to get the sample from below, and thus to defeat any attempt at "facing" the cargo. The number of samples taken at Bombay appears to be unduly large, and has given rise to the objection that to convey them to the Chemical Examiner's laboratory would be an arduous task. We have so amended the Schedule, Part II, paragraph 1, as to provide that the testing officer or some person duly authorized by him shall superintend the drawing of the sample.

7. In revising the Bill we have had regard to the practice which obtains in Bombay of allowing delivery into cargo-boats pending the result of testing, and to the suggestion of the Bengal Government that the Local Government should have the power in special cases to order further tests in such manner as it may deem expedient.

8. As regards the suggestion of the Bombay Government that a second standard apparatus should be maintained at Bombay, it appears to us to be highly important to secure uniformity in the tests throughout India. To this end there should be but one absolute and ultimate standard, and this can most conveniently be maintained in Calcutta.

9. We are of opinion that the Chemical Examiner should stamp any apparatus sent to him not only with a special number but also with the date of his verification of the apparatus, and further that he should give a certificate in writing under his hand, in a form to be laid down by the Governor General in Council, to the effect that the apparatus has been compared and verified by him on a given date and been found to be correct, or correct subject to certain specified corrections to be applied to the results of tests.

10. The Chemical Examiner should also keep a register of verifications.

11. Messrs. Warden and Pedler suggest that in the Schedule, Part I, provision be made for "a barometer standardised at the Meteorological Office of the province, or at any other place appointed by the Local Government." We have accepted the suggestion.

12. With respect to the changes in the Schedule, Part III, proposed by Dr. Lyon, Messrs. Warden and Pedler are inclined to hold that Sir F. Abel has in a paper before us sufficiently met Dr. Lyon's difficulty, and they believe that in practice no difficulty is likely to arise of the kind Dr. Lyon puts forward. They have, however, suggested, and we have acted on the suggestion, that all possible objection would be removed if it were provided that no flashing point obtained should be accepted unless it be at least 8° above the temperature at which the testing commenced.

13. Messrs. Warden and Pedler are of opinion that it is unnecessary in the case of ordinary petroleum to continue the tests when no flash has been obtained up to 95° Fahrenheit. It is only in the case of petroleum for which exemption from the Act is claimed that the test need be continued in the manner laid down in the fourth paragraph of the rules for "application of the test". We have modified that paragraph accordingly.

14. In the Schedule, Part III, paragraph 5, we have pointed out that the height of the barometer must be determined at the time of making the test for the flashing point.

15. We are advised not to accept the suggestion made from Burma to adopt Hewmann's apparatus in preference to Abel's.

16. We have had regard to the remarks of the Bombay Government with reference to the repeal of the municipal laws affecting petroleum, and to giving power to Port Trusts to regulate their own fees for the storage of petroleum.

17. Having thus amended the Bill we have deemed it advisable to consolidate it and the Petroleum Act of 1881, and, in doing so, have taken the opportunity (a) to enhance the penalty for keeping, transporting, selling or exposing for sale dangerous petroleum in contravention of the Act, and (b) to empower the Governor General in Council to make rules as to the transport of petroleum from any part of British India to any other part.

18. The other alterations we have made in consolidating the Bill and the Act are few and unimportant and do not call for notice.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First publication.]

ACT NO. XIII OF 1886.

THE INDIAN SECURITIES ACT, 1886.

CONTENTS.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Government Securities.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Government securities; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Securities Act, 1886; and

(2) It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1886.

(3) The power conferred on the Governor General in Council by section 7, sub-section (1), may be exercised at any time after the passing of this Act; but a notification issued in exercise of that power shall not take effect until the Act comes into force.

Repeal.

2. (1) On and from the day on which this Act comes into force, the Indian Securities Act, 1881, and the Indian Securities Act, 1885, shall be repealed.

III of 1881.
XIX of 1885.

(2) But any authority conferred, notification issued, list published or rule or order made under either of those Acts shall, so far as may be, be deemed to have been conferred, issued, published or made under this Act.

Definitions.

3. In this Act—

(1) "Government security" includes promissory notes, debentures, stock-certificates and all other securities issued by the Government of India or by any Local Government in respect of any loan contracted either before or after the passing of this Act, but does not include a stock-note or a currency-note: and

(2) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made by the Governor General in Council.

Notice of trust not receivable.

4. No notice of any trust in respect of any Government security shall be receivable by the Government.

Right of survivors of joint payees of Government securities.

5. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the Indian Contract Act, 1872, section 45, when a Government security is payable to two or more persons jointly and either or any of them dies, the security shall be payable to the survivor or survivors of those persons.

IX of 1872.

(2) Nothing herein contained shall affect any claim which the representative of the deceased person may have against the survivor or survivors in respect of the security jointly payable to him or them and the deceased.

(3) This section shall apply whether the death o the person to whom the security was jointly payable occurred or occurs before or after this Act comes into force.

6. Notwithstanding anything in section 15 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, the holder of a Government security shall not be said to indorse the security, or be called the indorser thereof, if, when he signs the same for the purpose of negotiation, he inscribes his signature for that purpose elsewhere than on the back of the security itself.

Prohibition of indorsements on allonges to Government securities.

7. (1) In the case of any public office to which the Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare this sub-section to apply, a Government security may be made or indorsed payable to or to the order of the holder for the time being of the office by the name of the office.

Holding of Government securities by holders for the time being of public offices.

(2) When a Government security is made or indorsed as aforesaid, it shall be deemed to be transferred without any or further indorsement from each holder for the time being of the office to the succeeding holder for the time being of the office on and from the date on which the latter takes charge of the office.

(3) When the holder for the time being of the office indorses to a third party a Government security made or indorsed as aforesaid, he shall subscribe the indorsement with his name and the name of the office.

(4) A writing on a Government security now or heretofore standing in the name of the holder of a public office, whereby the security has been or was made or indorsed payable to or to the order of the holder of the office for the time being, shall not be deemed to be or to have been invalid by reason only of the payee or indorsee being the holder for the time being of a public office by the name of the office.

(5) This section applies as well to an office of which there are two or more joint holders as to an office of which there is a single holder.

8. (1) Whenever the Governor General in Council has issued, in respect of any loan, a certificate declaring the bearer thereof to be entitled to the portion of the loan therein expressed, or a coupon for any amount payable as interest on any portion of the loan, the title to the certificate or coupon may be transferred as if the certificate or coupon were a promissory note payable to bearer.

Transfer and discharge of certificates and coupons.

(2) On payment, by or on behalf of the Government, to the bearer of the certificate or coupon, of the amount expressed therein, at or after the date on which it becomes due, the Government shall be discharged as if the certificate or coupon were a promissory note payable to bearer.

9. A person shall not, by reason only of his having indorsed a Government security, be liable to pay any money due, either as principal or as interest, thereunder.

Indorser of Government security not liable for amount thereof.

10. (1) The signature of the officer of the Government of India authorized to sign Government securities on behalf of the Government may be printed, engraved or lithographed, or impressed by such other mechanical process as the Governor General in Council may direct, on the securities.

Impression of signature on Government securities.

(2) A signature so printed, engraved, lithographed or otherwise impressed shall be as valid as if it had been inscribed in the proper handwriting of the officer.

11. A person claiming to be entitled to a Government security as payable to him under an indorsement may, on satisfying the prescribed officer of the justice of his claim and paying the prescribed fee and delivering the security duly receipted to the prescribed officer, obtain from the officer a renewed security issued payable to himself.

Issue of renewed securities.

12. (1) When a Government security is alleged to have been wholly or partly lost or destroyed, and a person claims to be the person to whom but for the loss or destruction it would be payable, he may, on application to the prescribed officer, and on producing proof to his satisfaction of the loss or destruction and of the justice of the claim, obtain from him an order for—

Issue of duplicate securities.

(a) the payment of interest in respect of the security said to be lost or destroyed pending the issue of a duplicate security; and

(b) the issue of a duplicate security payable to the applicant.

(2) An order shall not be passed under sub-section (1) until after the issue of the prescribed notification of the loss or destruction and after the expiration of the prescribed period, nor until the applicant has given the prescribed indemnity against the claims of all persons deriving title under the security lost or destroyed.

(3) A list of the securities in respect of which an order is passed under sub-section (1) shall be published in the Gazette of India at such times as the Governor General in Council may, from time to time, direct.

13. When a renewed security has been issued under section 11, or a duplicate security has been issued under section 12, the Government shall be discharged from all liability in respect of the original security of which the renewed or duplicate security has been issued—

Period after which the Government is released from liability in respect of original security.

(a) in the case of a renewed security, after the lapse of six years from the date of the issue of the renewed security;

(b) in the case of a duplicate security, after the lapse of six years from the date of the publication under section 12, sub-section (3), of the list in which the security is first mentioned, or from the date of the last payment of interest on the original security, whichever date is the later.

14. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, make rules to prescribe—

Power of Governor General in Council to make rules.

(a) the mode in which payment of interest in respect of Government securities is to be recorded and acknowledged;

(b) the circumstances in which Government securities must be renewed before further payment of interest thereon can be claimed;
(c) the fees to be paid in respect of applications under sections 11 and 12;
(d) the form in which securities delivered for renewal are to be receipted;
(e) the officer who is to exercise all or any of the powers and perform all or any of the duties prescribed by sections 11 and 12;
(f) the proof which is to be produced by persons applying for duplicate securities;
(g) the form and mode of publication of the notification mentioned in section 12, and the period after which interest may be paid or a duplicate security may be issued under that section;
(h) the nature and amount of the indemnity to be given by a person applying under section 12 for the payment of interest or the issue of a duplicate security; and,
(i) generally, all matters connected with the grant of renewed and duplicate securities.

Publication of drafts and rules.

15. (1) The Governor General in Council shall, before making rules under section 14, publish a draft of the proposed rules in such manner as may, in his opinion, be sufficient for the information of the public.

(2) There shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a date at or after which the draft will be taken into consideration.

(3) The Governor General in Council shall receive and consider any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the draft before the date so specified.

(4) Every rule made under section 14 shall be published in the Gazette of India, and the publication in that Gazette of a rule purporting to be made under that section shall be conclusive proof that it has been duly made.

S. HARVEY JAMES,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Government securities was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th March, 1886:—

We, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the law relating to Government Securities was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report.

2. We have added to the section respecting the holding of Government securities by holders for the time being of public offices two sub-sections, the one removing any doubt which may exist as to the validity of past indorsements in favour of holders for the time being of such offices, and the other declaring the section to apply not only to an office of which there is a single holder but to an office of which there are two or more joint holders.

3. We consider it desirable that the law relating to Government securities should be consolidated. We have, therefore, proposed to repeal the Indian Securities Acts of 1881 and 1885, and to embody the substance of them and of the Bill in a single enactment.

CHAPTER II.

APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS.

CHAPTER III.

DUTIES, RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF GUARDIANS

General.

Guardian of the Person.

Guardian of Property.

Termination of Guardianship.

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter I.—Preliminary.—Sections 1-4.)

(Chapter II.—Appointment of Guardians.—Sections 5-8.)

CHAPTER IV.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

A Bill to Consolidate and amend the law relating to Guardian and Ward.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to guardian and ward; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, local extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Guardians and Wards Act, 1886.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India except the Scheduled Districts; and

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of January, 1887.

(4) Any power conferred by this Act to make rules or issue orders may be exercised at any time after the passing of this Act; but a rule or order so made or issued shall not take effect until the Act comes into force.

Repeal.

2. (1) On and from the day on which this Act comes into force, the enactments mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column thereof.

(2) But all proceedings had, certificates granted, allowances assigned, obligations imposed and applications, appointments, orders and rules made under any of those enactments shall, so far as may be, be deemed to have been respectively had, granted, assigned, imposed and made under this Act.

(3) Any enactment or document referring to any of those enactments shall, so far as may be, be construed to refer to this Act or to the corresponding portion thereof.

Saving of jurisdiction of Courts of Wards and Chartered High Courts.

3. This Act shall be read subject to every enactment heretofore or hereafter passed relating to any Court of Wards by the Governor General in Council or by a Governor or Lieutenant-Governor in Council; and nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect, or in any way derogate from, the jurisdiction or authority of any Court of Wards, or to take away any power possessed by any High Court established under the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth of Victoria, chapter one hundred and four (an Act for establishing High Courts of Judicature in India).

Definitions.

4. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "minor" means a person who has not reached the age of majority according to the law to which he is subject: [cf. Act IX, 1872, s. 11.]

(2) "guardian" means a person having the care of the person of a minor or of his property, or of both his person and property:

(3) "ward" means a minor for whose person or property, or both, there is a guardian:

(4) "the Court" means the Court having jurisdiction to entertain an application under this Act for the appointment, or declaration of the title, of a guardian; and, where a guardian has been appointed or declared in pursuance of any such application, it means the Court which appointed or declared the guardian, or the High Court to which that Court is subordinate, or, in any matter relating to the person of the ward, the High Court having jurisdiction in the place where the ward for the time being resides:

(5) "Collector" means the chief officer in charge of the revenue-administration of a district, and includes any officer whom the Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, may, from time to time, by name or by virtue of his office, appoint to be a Collector in any local area, or with respect to any class of persons, for all or any of the purposes of this Act:

(6) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made by the High Court under this Act.

CHAPTER II.

APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS.

Power of parents to appoint in case of persons subject to Indian Succession Act.

5. Where a minor is a person to whom the Indian Succession Act, 1865, applies, a guardian of his person or property, or both, may be appointed by will or other instrument to take effect on the death of the person appointing— [Act XIII 1874, s. 3. cf Act X, 1865 s. 47.] X of 1865

(a) if the minor is legitimate, by the father, or by either parent if the other is dead or incapable of acting;

Saving of power to appoint in other cases.

6. Where a minor is a person to whom the Indian Succession Act, 1865, does not apply, nothing in this Act shall take away or derogate from any power to appoint a guardian of his person or property, or both, which is valid by the law to which he is subject. [New.] X of 1865.

Power of the Court to make order as to guardianship.

7. Where it appears to the Court that provision ought to be made— [Act XL, 1858, ss. 7 and 9: Act IX, 1861, s. 8: Act XX, 1864, ss. 6 and 8: Act XIII, 1874, ss. 4 and 7.]

(a) for appointing a guardian of the person or property, or both, of a minor, or the Court may make an order accordingly.

(b) for declaring the title of a person claiming to be such a guardian,

Persons entitled to apply for order.

8. An order may be made under the last foregoing section on the application of— [Act XL, 1858, ss. 3 and 4: Act IX, 1861, s. 1: Act XX 1864, ss. 2 and 3 Act XIII, 1874, s. 5.]

(a) the person desirous of being, or claiming to be, the guardian of the minor, or

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter II.—Appointment of Guardians.—Sections 9-14.)

(b) any relative or friend of the minor, or

(c) the Collector of the district or other local area within which the minor resides or has property, or

(d) the Collector having authority with respect to the class to which the minor belongs.

[Act XI, 1858, s. 29. Act IX, 1861, s. 1. Act XX, 1864, s. 34. Act XIII, 1874, s. 2. Act X, 1865, s. 264. Act V, 1881, s. 87.]

Court having jurisdiction to entertain the application.

9. (1) The application shall be made either to the High Court having jurisdiction in the place where the minor resides or has property, or to the District Court having jurisdiction in that place.

[Tagore Law Lectures, 1877, 156 and 157.]

(2) An application with respect to the guardianship of the person of a minor shall ordinarily be made to the Court having jurisdiction in the place where the minor resides.

[Act X, 1865, s. 241, and Act V, 1881, s. 57.]

(3) If an application with respect to the guardianship of the person or property, or both, of a minor is made to a Court other than that having jurisdiction in the place where the minor resides, the Court may refuse the application if in its opinion the application would be disposed of more justly or conveniently by any other Court having jurisdiction.

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 5.]

Form of application.

10. (1) The application shall be by petition setting forth the grounds of the application, and stating—

(a) the age and residence of the minor;

(b) the nature and value of his property (if any);

(c) where the person or property of the minor is not in the custody or possession of the petitioner, the person (if any) having the custody or possession of the person or property of the minor;

(d) what relations the minor has, and where they reside;

(e) whether an application has at any time been made to the Court or to any other Court with respect to the guardianship of the person or property, or both, of the minor, and, if so, when, to what Court and with what result;

(f) where the application is to appoint a guardian, the qualifications of the proposed guardian and his willingness to act;

(g) where the application is to declare the title of a guardian, the grounds on which that title rests; and

(h) such other particulars, if any, as may be prescribed or as the nature of the application renders it necessary to state.

(2) The petition shall be verified by the petitioner or some other competent person in manner required by law for the verification of plaints, and may be received as evidence of the facts stated therein.

Procedure on admission of application.

[Act XI, 1858, s. 6, and Act XX, 1864, s. 5.]

11. (1) If the Court is satisfied that there is ground for proceeding on the application, it shall fix a day for the hearing thereof, and cause notice of the application and of the date fixed for the hearing—

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 5] XIV of 1882

(a) to be served, in the manner directed in the Code of Civil Procedure, on the person (if any) named in the petition as having the custody or being in possession of the person or property of the minor, and on any other person to whom, in the opinion of the Court, special notice of the application should be given; and

(b) to be posted on some conspicuous part of the court-house, and otherwise published in such manner as the Court, subject to any rules made by the High Court under this Act, thinks fit.

[Circular Order No. 3 of 1880—High Court, North-Western Provinces.]

(2) When any part of the property described in the petition is of such nature that a Court of Wards could assume the superintendence thereof, the Court shall also cause a notice as aforesaid to be served on the Collector in whose district the minor resides, and on every Collector in whose district any portion of that part of the property is situate, and the Collector may cause the notice to be published in any manner he deems fit.

Power to make interlocutory order for production of minor and interim protection of his person and property.

[Act IX, 1861, s. 2, and Act XIII, 1874, s. 6.]

12. The Court may direct that the person (if any) having the custody of the minor shall produce him at such place and time as it appoints, and may make such order for the temporary custody and protection of the person or property of the minor as it thinks proper.

Hearing of evidence before making of order.

[Act IX, 1861, s. 3 and Act XIII, 1874, s. 7.]

13. On the day fixed for the hearing of the application, or as soon afterwards as may be, the Court shall hear such evidence as may be adduced in support of or in opposition to the application.

Appointment of several guardians.

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 21.]

14. (1) If the law to which the minor is subject admits of his having two or more joint guardians of his person or property, or both, the Court may, if it thinks fit, appoint or declare them.

(2) Separate guardians may be appointed or declared of the person and of the property of a minor.

[Act XIII 1874, s. 4.]

(3) If a minor has several properties, the Court may, if it thinks fit, appoint or declare a separate guardian for any one or more of the properties.

[Act XII 1874, s. 4.]

(4) If the Court appoints or declares a guardian for any property situate beyond the local limits of its jurisdiction, the Court having jurisdiction in the place where the property is situate shall accept the guardian as duly appointed or declared and give effect to the order appointing or declaring him.

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter II.—Appointment of Guardians.—Sections 15-17.)

(Chapter III.—Duties, Rights and Liabilities of Guardians.—Sections 18-22.)

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 10.]

Matters to be considered by the Court in appointing guardian.

15. (1) In appointing or declaring the guardian of a minor the Court shall be guided by the law to which the minor is subject and by what appears to be, consistently with that law, for the best interest of the minor with respect to his mental, moral and temporal welfare.

(2) In considering what will be for the best interest of the minor, the Court shall have regard to his age, his relationship to the proposed guardian, the wishes of a deceased parent (if any), and any existing or previous connection of the proposed guardian with the person or property of the minor.

(3) If the minor is old enough to form an intelligent preference, the Court may consider that preference.

X of 1865.

(4) In the case of persons to whom the Indian Succession Act, 1865, applies, as between parents adversely claiming the guardianship, neither parent is entitled to it as of right; but, other things being equal in such case, if the minor is of tender years, he should be given to the mother, and if he is of an age to require education and preparation for labour and business, then to the father.

[New.]

(5) Where the minor is a member of an undivided Hindu family, special weight is to be attached to any claim which the managing member of the family may make to be appointed or declared guardian, and to any objection which he may take to an appointment or declaration asked for in an application.

(6) The Court shall not appoint a person to be guardian against his will.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 27: Act XX, 1864, s. 31: Act XIII, 1874, s. 25: and Act XVII, 1885, s. 8.]

Guardian of the person not to be appointed by the Court in certain cases.

16. Nothing in this Chapter shall authorise the Court to appoint or declare a guardian of the person of a minor—

(a) who is a married female cohabiting with her husband, or

(b) whose father is living and is not a minor or, in the opinion of the Court, unfit to perform, or incapable of performing, the duties of a guardian of the person of the minor, or

(c) whose property is under the superintendence of a Court of Wards competent to appoint a guardian of his person.

[New]

Guardian of property to be appointed by the Court subject to restrictions in case of certain minors.

17. Where under this Chapter the Court appoints or declares a guardian of the property of a minor who is a member of an undivided Hindu family, it shall, except where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the interests of the minor have been actually imperilled, appoint or declare the guardian subject to such restrictions as will prevent him from interfering with the powers of the managing member of the family.

CHAPTER III.

DUTIES, RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF GUARDIANS.

General.

Fiduciary relation of guardian to ward.

[Seton's Decrees, 739, and Act XII 1874, s. 18.]

18. (1) A guardian must act for the benefit of his ward.

(2) He cannot make any profit out of his office.

(3) With respect to the property of the ward, he stands in the position of trustee for the ward, and is responsible for any loss occasioned to the property by his wilful default or gross negligence.

(4) This fiduciary relation extends to and affects purchases by a guardian of the property of his ward immediately or soon after the ward has ceased to be a minor, and generally all transactions between them while the influence of the guardian still lasts or is recent.

Minor incompetent to act.

19. A minor is incompetent to act as guardian. [Act XIII, 1874, s. 19.]

Guardian of the Person.

Duties of guardian of the person.

20. A guardian of the person of a ward is charged with the custody of the ward, and must look to his support, health and education, and such other matters as the law to which the ward is subject requires. [Act XIII, 1874, ss. 11 and 12.]

Title of guardian to custody of ward.

21. (1) If a ward leaves the custody of his guardian, he may be compelled by order of the Court to return to that custody. [Act XIII, 1874, s 13.]

(2) But the Court may refuse to make an order for his return to the custody of the guardian if it appears—

(a) that the ward has been ill-treated by the guardian; or

(b) that the conduct of the guardian in any other respect has rendered him unfit to have the custody of the ward; or

(c) that the ward is, on reasonable grounds not inconsistent with the law to which he is subject, unwilling to return, and, having attained to years of discretion, is capable of exercising a wise choice as to the custody in which he will remain.

(3) The residence of a ward against the will of his guardian with a person who is not his guardian does not of itself terminate the guardianship. [Eversley's Domestic Relations, 691-92.]

Removal of ward from jurisdiction.

22. (1) A guardian of the person appointed or declared by the Court shall not, without the leave of the Court by which he was appointed or declared, remove the ward from the limits of its jurisdiction, except for such temporary purposes as may be prescribed or for the purpose of placing him beyond those limits at an educational institution appointed by the Local Government administering the territories [Act XIII, 1874, s. 14.]

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter III.—Duties, Rights and Liabilities of Guardians.—Sections 23-27.)

within which the Court is established as an institution to which a guardian may send a ward without the leave of the Court.

(2) The leave granted by the Court under sub-section (1) may be special or general, and may be defined by the order granting it.

Guardian of Property.

[..ct XIII, ..74, s. 15.]

Duties of guardian of property.

23. (1) A guardian of the property of a ward must keep that property safely.

(2) In the case of immoveable property, he must not suffer any waste, but must maintain the buildings (if any) thereon and their appurtenances out of the rents and profits of the property.

[..ct XL, ..58, s. 18: ..t XX, ..64, s. 18: ..t Act XIII, ..74, s. 16.]

Limitation of powers of guardian of property appointed or declared by the Court.

24. Where a guardian of the property of a ward has been appointed or declared by the Court, he shall not, without the previous permission of the Court,—

(a) borrow for his ward; or

(b) mortgage, charge or transfer by sale, gift, exchange or otherwise any part of the immoveable property of his ward; or

(c) lease any part of that property for a term exceeding three years; or

(d) transfer any Government securities belonging to the ward, or the shares or other interest of the ward in any company; or

(e) dispose of any other part of the principal of the property of the ward:

[..t. Act V, ..81, s. 90.]

Provided that the Court may, subject to any rules made by the High Court under this Act, exempt a guardian from the necessity of obtaining the permission of the Court under this section, either generally or in special circumstances, and as to either the whole or any specified part of the property of the ward.

[..w.]

Practice with respect to limitation of powers of guardian of property.

25. (1) Permission to the guardian to do any of the acts mentioned in the last foregoing section shall not be granted by the Court except in case of necessity or for an evident advantage to the ward.

[..w.]

(2) The order granting the permission shall recite the necessity or advantage, as the case may be, describe the property with respect to which the act permitted is to be done, and specify such conditions, if any, as the Court may see fit to attach to the permission; and it shall be recorded, dated and signed by the Judge of the Court with his own hand, or, when from any cause he is prevented from recording the order with his own hand, shall be taken down in writing from his dictation and be dated and signed by him.

(3) The Court may in its discretion attach to the permission the following among other conditions, namely:— [New.]

(a) that a sale shall be made to the highest bidder by public auction, before the Court or some person specially appointed by the Court for that purpose, at a time and place to be specified by the Court, after such proclamation of the intended sale as the Court, subject to any rules made by the High Court under this Act, directs;

(b) that a lease shall not be made in consideration of a premium, or shall be made for such term of years and subject to such rents and covenants as the Court directs;

(c) that the whole or any part of the proceeds of the act permitted shall be paid into the Court by the guardian to be invested by the Court on prescribed securities or otherwise disposed of as the Court directs.

(4) Before granting permission to a guardian to do an act mentioned in the last foregoing section the Court may cause notice of the application for the permission to be given to any relative or friend of the ward who should, in its opinion, receive notice thereof, and shall hear, and record the statement of, any person who appears in opposition to the application. [New.]

General powers of guardian of property.

26. (1) Where a guardian of the property of a ward has been appointed or declared by the Court, the Court may from time to time, by order, define, restrict or extend his powers with respect to the property of the ward in such manner and to such extent as it may consider to be for the advantage of the ward and consistent with the law to which the ward is subject. [Act XL, 1858, s. 2: Act XX, 1864, s. 1: and Act XIII, 1874, s. 20.]

(2) Subject to any such order and subject also to sections 17 and 24, a guardian appointed by or under a will or other instrument shall, with respect to the property of his ward, have such powers and be subject to such restrictions as are conferred or imposed on him by that instrument.

(3) Subject to the foregoing provisions of this section, a guardian of the property of a ward may do all acts which are reasonable and proper for the realization, protection or benefit of the property of the ward and are allowed by the law to which the ward is subject. [Act II, 1882, s. 36.]

Right of guardian to apply to the Court for opinion in management of property of ward.

27. (1) A guardian may apply by petition to the Court for its opinion, advice or direction on any present questions respecting the management or administration of the property of his ward, other than questions not proper, in the opinion of the Court, for summary disposal. [Act II, 1882, s. 34.]

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter III.—Duties, Rights and Liabilities of Guardians.—Sections 28-33.)

(2) A copy of the petition shall be served upon, and the hearing thereof may be attended by, such of the persons interested in the application as the Court thinks fit.

(3) The guardian stating in good faith the facts in the petition and acting upon the opinion, advice or direction given by the Court shall be deemed, so far as regards his own responsibility, to have discharged his duty as guardian in the subject-matter of the application.

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 18.]

Obligations on, and privileges of, guardian of property.

28. Where a guardian of the property of a ward has been appointed or declared by the Court, he shall—

[Act X, 1865, s. 256, and Act V, 1881, s. 78.]

(a) if so required by the Court, give a bond, as nearly may be in the prescribed form, to the Judge of the Court to enure for the benefit of the Judge for the time being, with or without sureties, as may be prescribed, engaging duly to account for what he may receive in respect of the property of the ward;

[Act XL, 1858, s. 16, and Act XX, 1864, s. 16.]

(b) deliver to the Court, within six months from the date of his appointment or declaration by the Court, or within such shorter time as the Court directs, a statement of the immoveable property belonging to the ward, of the money and other moveable property which he has received on behalf of the ward up to the date of delivering the statement, and of the debts due on that date to or from the ward;

[Act XL, 1858, s. 16, and Act XX, 1864, s. 16.]

(c) exhibit his accounts in the Court at such times and in such form as the Court directs;

[Act XL, 1858, s. 17, and Act XX, 1864, s. 17.]

(d) if the Court so directs, pay into the Court the balance due from him on those accounts, or so much thereof as the Court directs, in the manner in which money is required by any rules for the time being in force to be paid into that Court;

[Act XL, 1858, s. 11: Act XX, 1864, s. 10: and Act XIII, 1874, s. 17.]

(e) apply for the maintenance, education and advancement of the ward such portion of the income of the property of the ward as the Court directs, and, if the Court so directs, the whole or any part of the principal of that property; and

[Act XL, 1858, s. 24, and Act XX, 1864, s. 24.]

(f) be entitled to such allowance, if any, as the Court thinks fit for his care and pains in the execution of his duties.

[Act X, 1865, s. 257, and Act V, 1881, s. 79. I. L. R. 6 All. 218.]

Suit against guardian where administration-bond was taken.

29. Where a guardian has given a bond duly to account for what he may receive in respect of the property of his ward, the Court may at any time, on being satisfied that the engagement of the bond has not been kept, and upon such terms as to security, or providing that the money received be paid into the Court, or otherwise as the Court thinks fit, assign the bond to some properperson, who shall thereupon be entitled to sue on the bond in his own name as if the bond had been originally given to him instead of to the Judge of the Court, and shall be entitled to recover thereon, as trustee for the ward, the full amount recoverable in respect of any breach thereof.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 19, and Act XX, 1864, s. 19.]

Suit against guardian where administration-bond was not taken.

30. Where a guardian has not given a bond as aforesaid, any person, with the leave of the Court, may, as next friend, at any time during the continuance of the minority of the ward, and upon such terms as aforesaid, institute a suit against the guardian, or, in case of his death, against his legal representative, for an account of what the guardian has received in respect of the property of the ward, and may recover in the suit, as trustee for the ward, the full amount found in the suit to have been received by the guardian and not to have been duly accounted for.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 19, and Act XX, 1864, s. 19.]

General liability of guardian as trustee.

31. Nothing in either of the last two foregoing sections shall be construed to deprive a ward or his legal representative of any remedy against his guardian, or the legal representative of the guardian, which, not being expressly provided in either of those sections, any other beneficiary or his legal representative would have against his trustee or the legal representative of the trustee.

Termination of Guardianship.

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 21.]

Right of survivorship among joint guardians.

32. On the death of one of two or more joint guardians, the guardianship continues to the survivor or survivors until a further appointment is made by the Court.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 21: Act XX, 1864, s. 21 and Act XIII, 1874, ss. 22 and 24.]

Removal of guardian.

33. (1) The Court may, on the application of any person interested, or of its own motion, remove a guardian for any of the following causes, namely:—

(b) for continued failure to perform its duties;

(c) for incapacity to perform its duties;

(d) for gross immorality;

(e) for having an interest adverse to the faithful performance of his duties;

(f) for removal from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court;

(g) by reason of the arrival within those limits of some person whose guardianship the Court may think likely to be more beneficial to the ward than that of his guardian; or

(h) in the case of a guardian of the property, for insolvency.

(2) When a guardian has been removed for any such cause, the Court may appoint a successor to him under the provisions of Chapter II.

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter III.—Duties, Rights and Liabilities of Guardians.—Secions 34-35.)

(Chapter IV.—Supplemental Provisions.—Sections 34-41.)

[Act XL, 1858, s. 23: Act XX, 1864, s. 23: and Act XIII, 1874, ss. 23 and 24.]

Discharge of guardian.

34. (1) If a guardian desires to resign his office, he may apply to the Court to be discharged.

(2) If the Court finds that there is some other proper person whom it may appoint to be guardian under the provisions of Chapter II, it shall discharge the applicant from the guardianship and appoint the other person in his place.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 27: Act XX, 1864, s. 31: and Act XIII, 1874, s. 25.]

Cessation of authority of guardian.

35. (1) The power of a guardian of the person ceases—

(a) by his removal or discharge;

(b) by the Court of Wards assuming superintendence of the person of the ward;

(c) by the ward ceasing to be a minor;

(d) in the case of a female ward, by her marriage followed by cohabitation with her husband; or

(e) in the case of a ward whose father was a minor, or deemed unfit to perform, or incapable of performing, the duties of a guardian of the person of the ward, by the father ceasing to be a minor or, as the case may be, to be deemed unfit or incapable as aforesaid.

(2) The power of a guardian of the property ceases—

(a) by his removal or discharge;

(b) by the Court of Wards assuming superintendence of the property of the ward; or

(c) by the ward ceasing to be a minor.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 21, and Act XX, 1864, s. 21.]

(3) When for any cause a person ceases to be a guardian, the Court may require him to deliver as it directs any property in his possession belonging to the ward.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 23, and Act XX, 1864, s. 23.]

(4) When he has delivered as the Court directs the property, if any, in his possession belonging to the ward, the Court may declare him to be discharged from his liabilities as guardian, save as regards any fraud which may subsequently be discovered.

CHAPTER IV.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 2: Act XX, 1864, s. 2: Act XIII, 1874, s. 20: and Act XIV, 1882, s. 493.]

Orders for regulating conduct or proceedings of guardians, and enforcement of those orders.

36. (1) The Court may, on the application of any person interested or of its own motion, make an order regulating the conduct or proceedings of any guardian who has not been appointed by a Court of Wards, whether the guardian has been appointed or declared by the Court under this Act or not.

(2) In case of disobedience to an order made under sub-section (1), the order may be enforced in the same manner as an injunction granted under section 492 or section 493 of the Code of Civil Procedure, as if the guardian were the defendant and the ward the plaintiff.

[XIV of 1882.]

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 14.]

Penalty for removal of ward from jurisdiction.

37. If, for the purpose or with the effect of preventing the Court from exercising its authority with respect to a ward, the guardian of the ward removes him from the limits of the jurisdiction of the Court in contravention of the prohibition contained in section 22, he shall be liable, by order of the Court, to fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or to both.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 22, and Act XX, 1864, s. 22.]

Penalty for failure to account.

38. If a guardian fails to deliver to the Court, within six months from the date of his appointment or declaration by the Court, or within such shorter time as the Court directs, the statement mentioned in clause (b) of section 28, or to exhibit his accounts in the Court, as required by clause (c) of that section, or to pay into the Court the balance due from him on those accounts, as required by clause (d) of that section, or if a person who has ceased to be a guardian fails, on the requisition of the Court, to deliver as the Court directs any property in his possession belonging to the ward, he shall be liable, by order of the Court, to fin e not exceeding one hundred rupees, and, in case of recusancy, to further fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each day after the first during which the default continues and to detention in the civil jail until he consents to deliver the statement, or exhibit the accounts, or pay the balance, or deliver the property, as the case may be.

[Act V, 1886, s. 14.]

Saving of prosecutions under other laws.

39. Nothing in this Act shall prevent a person from being prosecuted under any other law for an act or omission which constitutes an offence against this Act, or from being liable under that other law to any other or higher punishment or penalty than that provided by this Act:

Provided that a person shall not be punished twice for the same offence

[Act XL, 1858, ss. 6 and 8, and Act XX, 1864, ss. 6 and 7.]

Reports by Collectors and Subordinate Courts.

40. The Court may call upon the Collector, or upon any Court subordinate to the Court, for a report on any matter arising in any proceeding under this Act and treat the report as evidence.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 28: Act XX, 1864, s. 33: and Act IX, 1861, s. 5.]

Orders appealable.

41. An appeal shall lie to the High Court from an order made by a District Court—

(a) under section 7, appointing or declaring or refusing to appoint or declare a guardian; or

(b) under section 9, sub-section (3), refusing an application; or

(c) under section 21, making or refusing to make an order for the return of a ward to the custody of his guardian; or

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter IV.—Supplemental Provisions.—Sections 42-46.)

(The Schedule.—Enactments repealed.)

(d) under section 24, refusing to grant permission to the guardian to do an act mentioned in that section; or

(e) under section 26, sub-section (1), defining, restricting or extending the powers of a guardian; or

(f) under section 33, sub-section (1), removing a guardian; or

(g) under section 34, refusing to discharge a guardian; or

(h) under section 36, regulating the conduct or proceedings of a guardian, or enforcing the order; or

(i) under section 37 or section 38, imposing a penalty.

[Act IX, 1861, s. 6, and Act XIII, 1874, s. 9.] XIV of 1882.

Finality of other orders.

42. Save as provided by the last foregoing section and by section 622 of the Code of Civil Procedure, an order made under this Act shall be final, and shall not be liable to be contested by suit or otherwise.

[Act X, 1865, s. 241, and Act V, 1881, s. 57.]

Power of High Court to refuse applications capable of being dealt with by another Court.

43. The High Court may refuse an application made to it under this Act if in its opinion the application would be disposed of more justly or conveniently by any other Court having jurisdiction.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 13, and Act XX, 1864, s. 13.]

Costs.

44. The costs of any proceeding under this Act shall, subject to any rules made by the High Court under this Act, be in the discretion of the Court in which the proceeding is held.

[New cf. Act XIII, 1874, s. 8.]

Power of High Court to make rules.

45. In addition to any other power to make rules conferred expressly or impliedly by this Act, the High Court may from time to time make rules—

(a) as to the procedure to be followed with respect to applications of guardians for permission to do acts mentioned in section 24;

(b) as to the security to be required from guardians;

(c) as to the preservation of statements and accounts delivered and exhibited by guardians;

(d) as to the inspection of those statements and accounts by persons interested;

(e) as to the custody of money, and securities for money, belonging to wards;

(f) as to the securities on which money belonging to wards may be invested;

(g) as to allowances to be granted to guardians for their care and pains in the execution of their duties; and

[New.]

Applicability of Act to guardians already appointed by Court.

46. A guardian appointed by, or holding a certificate of administration from, a Civil Court under any enactment repealed by this Act shall, save as may be prescribed, be subject to the provisions of this Act, and of the rules made under it, as if he had been appointed under Chapter II.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Guardian and Ward is based on opinions elicited by a reference to Local Governments and High Courts on the subject of certain defects in the law relating to the guardianship of minors, and its object is to provide a law of Guardian and Ward applicable as far as possible to all classes of Her Majesty's subjects in British India.

2. Among the enactments which the Bill will supersede are Act XL of 1858 and portions of the Madras Code, relating to minors in the Presidencies of Bengal and Madras who are not European British subjects and are not under the superintendence of a Court of Wards; Act XX of 1864, relating to minors in the Presidency of Bombay who are not European British subjects; Act IX of 1861, relating to the custody and guardianship of minors who are not European British subjects; and Act XIII of 1874, relating to the guardianship of European British minors in territories beyond the jurisdiction of the chartered High Courts.

3. The Bill, which follows generally the frame of Act XIII of 1874, is drawn as applicable to all District Courts and High Courts (including the chartered High Courts) and to minors of all creeds and races. But it does not take away any of the powers at present possessed by the chartered High Courts, and it provides that, in the selection of guardians and other matters, regard shall be had to the personal law of the minor. The jurisdiction and authority of Courts of Wards are expressly saved and will not be in any way affected by the proposed law.

4. One effect of the assimilation of the law will be to do away with the rule, which obtains in the Presidencies of Bengal and Bombay, that no person shall be entitled to institute or defend any suit connected with a minor's estate of which he claims the charge until he has obtained a certificate of administration. It is proposed that suits by and against minors shall be regulated by Chapter XXXI of the Code of Civil Procedure, and that, in a Bill which is to be introduced to amend that Code, provision be inserted conferring, among other privileges, on a guardian who has been appointed, or whose title has been declared, under the Guardians and Wards law, a preferential right to be appointed next friend or guardian for the suit.

5. The several sections of the Bill which appear to call for remark will now be noticed in consecutive order.

6. Section 4, clause (1).—In connection with section 26, Act XL of 1858, section 30, Act XX of 1864, and section 2, Act XIII of 1874, the question arose whether the age of majority should be dealt with in the Bill. As there was no necessity to deal with it, it was considered expedient to avoid the difficulty of doing so by defining "minor," in the terms of section 11 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, as a person who has not reached the age of majority according to the law to which he is subject.

7. Section 4, clause (2).—"Guardian" has been so defined as to mean any person having the care of the person of a minor or of his property, or of both his person and property. The Bill, therefore, relates to guardians generally except where it is expressed to relate to particular classes of guardians.

8. Section 5.—This section follows Act XIII of 1874, which, in recognising in certain circumstances the right of a mother to appoint a guardian, was based on the New York Civil Code. The section goes beyond section 47 of the Indian Succession Act and beyond the English law. But under the English law an appointment by a mother is not now wholly ineffectual, and is likely at no distant date to be declared to be valid except in so far as it may interfere with an appointment by the father.

9. Sections 9 and 43.—The High Court and District Court will have concurrent jurisdiction, but the High Court may refuse an application with respect to the guardianship of a minor if in its opinion the application would be disposed of more justly or conveniently by a District Court. Where the application is with respect to the guardianship of the person of a minor, it is ordinarily to be made to the Court having jurisdiction in the place where the minor resides, that being the Court which can most effectively discharge the duties incident to the appointment of a guardian to the person of the minor.

10. Section 11, sub-section (2).—The sub-section follows an order made by the High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces with a view to facilitating the discharge by Collectors of their duty of ascertaining and reporting to the Court of Wards from time to time what proprietors may come within the description of disqualified landholders.

11. Section 14, sub-section (4).—The rule laid down in this sub-section is, as explained by Sir Arthur Hobhouse with respect to the corresponding section in Act XIII of 1874, based solely on grounds of convenience.

12. Section 15, sub-section (5), and section 17.—As regards a minor who is a member of an undivided Hindu family, it seems to be generally admitted that it is desirable, as a rule, to leave him to his natural guardians without interference. But such a minor has certain rights in respect of the family property, and those rights are capable of being protected by a guardian. The guardian could not assume the management of the common property, and possibly he would, owing to the constitution of the co-ownership, be debarred from taking directly even a share in the management, and be confined to a mere power of control from without and a right in the last resort to demand a partition. But even this limited authority might in some cases be of great importance.

As regards the view hitherto taken by the Courts on this subject, it has indeed been held by the High Courts at Fort William and Bombay that Acts XL of 1858 and XX of 1864 could not be applied where the minor had no rights except as a member of an undivided Hindu family (I. L. R. 5 Cal. 219 and 3 Bom. 431, and 12 Bo. H. C. Rep. 247). Some doubt has been thrown on this view by the case before the Privy Council reported in I. L. R. 8 Cal. 656 (I. L. R. 6 Bom. 595 and 8 Bom. 396); but in any case it is a view which seems to be based on the peculiar wording of those Acts, which have been construed as contemplating an actual and (perhaps) corporeal taking charge of and management of some tangible property. In other words, these cases merely decide that under the particular Acts a manager cannot be appointed for a minor member of a pure joint family, not that such a manager is a thing inconceivable or impossible (I. L. R. 7 Cal. 369).

As regards the provisions of certain enactments which allow the Court of Wards to take charge only of the estate of a minor who is a sole owner (Act IV, 1872, section 35, Act XVII, 1876, section 161, and Bengal Act IX, 1879, section 7), they are to be accounted for by the fact that these enactments were designed mainly to guard against the risk of loss of revenue from an estate being left without any competent person in charge of it. That it was not considered impossible to take charge of the interest of a minor shareholder is manifest from Madras Regulations V of 1804, section 20, and X of 1831, section 8, and from the circumstance that section 14 of Act XL of 1858 and other similar enactments provide for the Collector taking charge of the share of a co-owner who is still a minor on the estate escaping from the management of the Court of Wards owing to the other co-owners having come of age. The Courts of Wards in the North-Western Provinces (Act XIX of 1873) and Central Provinces (Act XVII of 1885) are not precluded from assuming superintendence of the interest of a disqualified person who is a co-owner in an estate with other persons who are not disqualified.

It may be gathered from the proceedings of the Legislative Council, 1854-55, pages 672 et seq., that it was the intention of the framers of Act XL of 1858 that the Civil Court should appoint guardians for minors owning shares in estates, and it would seem that it is only owing to the peculiar wording of the Act, coupled perhaps with a natural disinclination on the part of the Courts to interfere between joint-owners, that that intention has been defeated.

13. Section 18.—This section lays down certain general propositions based on the fact that guardianship is a trust, and that the relationship between guardian and ward is one uberrimæ fidei, not only while it lasts, but even after it has ceased to exist.

14. Sections 24 and 25.—These sections are based on section 18 of the Acts of 1858 and 1864 and the corresponding section of the Act of 1874, on certain provisions in the Code of Lower Canada, and on suggestions received for the amendment of the Acts of 1858 and 1864. They provide that a guardian who has been appointed, or whose title has been declared, by the Court, shall not borrow for his ward, or transfer any part of the principal of his property, without the permission of the Court, and that the Court, before granting its permission, shall satisfy itself that the transaction proposed is either necessary or for the evident advantage of the ward, and, when granting the permission, shall itself record an order setting forth the necessity or advantage and the conditions subject to which it permits the loan to be taken or the transfer to be effected (I. L. R. 5 Cal. 363 and 6 Cal. 161).

These sections will be supplemented by rules made by the High Court under section 44.

15. Section 28, clause (a), and section 29.—These provisions are suggested by the case reported at I. L. R. 5 All. 248.

16. Section 32.—The rule contained in this section follows from guardianship being a trust. Though the right of survivorship is not acknowledged in England in the case of guardians appointed by the Court of Chancery, yet in practice the survivor or survivors will be re-elected by the Court without a reference. In America there is the right of survivorship among guardians appointed by the Court of Chancery.

17. Section 39.—A testamentary guardian may be removed under this section.

18. Section 41.—The cases reported at 15 W. R. 492 and 22 W. R. 479 have suggested the specification of the orders from which an appeal shall lie.

19. Acts XL of 1858 and XX of 1864 provide, in sections 27 and 31, respectively, that nothing in those Acts shall authorise the appointment of any person other than a female as the guardian of the person of a female. The cases reported at I. L. R. 10 Cal. 15 and 11 Cal. 574, and the remarks at pages 213-14 of Sayyid Amir Ali's Personal Law of Muhammadans, seem to render the re-enactment of the provision inexpedient. Section 15 of the Bill specifies the matters by which the Court is to be guided in appointing a guardian, and one of those matters is the law to which the minor is subject.

20. The provision of Act XX of 1864, that the legal heir of a minor, or the person next in succession to his property, may not be appointed guardian of the person of the minor, has not been repeated. It is considered that the appointment of such persons should not be absolutely prohibited. This was the opinion of the Supreme Council when Act XL of 1858 was about to be enacted (Proceedings of Legislative Council, 1858, pages 576-77), and is the opinion of the Hon'ble Mr. M. Melvill.

21. If the Bill becomes law in its present form, article 10 of Schedule I of the Court-fees Act, 1870, which applies only to the Presidencies of Bengal and Bombay, will become obsolete. It has, therefore, been included in the schedule of enactments to be repealed.

22. A table is appended showing how the principal enactments scheduled for repeal have been reproduced in the Bill or otherwise dealt with.

Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

Saturday, the 13th March 1886.

Present:

HIS HONOR the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, K.C.S.I., President.
The HON. G. C. PAUL, C.I.E., Advocate-General.
The HON. H. J. REYNOLDS, C.S.I.
COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR, R.E.

The HON. D. CRUICKSHANK.
The HON. ANUNDO MOHUN BOSE.

AMENDMENT OF THE CALCUTTA POLICE ACT.

THE HON. MR. REYNOLDS moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and Act II (B.C.) of 1866 be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. He said that the Committee had made no change of any great importance in the Bill as it was introduced into Council. His hon. friend (Moulvie Abdul Jubbar) had brought to the notice of the Council at the last meeting, when this Bill was under consideration, that it might be necessary to extend its operation to the Suburban Police Act as well as to the Calcutta Act; and on enquiry it appeared, as regards section 2 of the Bill, that the hon. member was perfectly right, and that it would be necessary to make the alteration which he had proposed, and this had now been done.

The only other change which had been made in the Bill was the reduction of the term of imprisonment to eight days in section 2 and to three days in section 3, and MR. REYNOLDS thought that this change would commend itself to the approval of the Council.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The HON. MR. ANUNDO MOHUN BOSE moved that the following section be added to the Bill:—

"4. After section 72 of the said Calcutta Police Act, the following words shall be added—If the name and address of such person be unknown to such police officer, and cannot be ascertained by him."

He said the matter is a simple one, and I trust the Council will see its way to readily accept it. Act IV of 1866 and Act II of 1866, both passed by the Bengal Council, relate to the police, respectively, of Calcutta and the Suburbs. Both these Acts dealt with similar subjects and were drawn on much the same lines, and both of them gave to police officers, in case of their actually seeing offences against the Act being committed, the power to arrest the persons committing such offences. But there is a very important difference in the provision which gives this power to police officers in the two Acts. In the Calcutta Police Act, section 72 runs thus—"Any police officer may arrest without a warrant any person committing in his view any of the offences described or referred to in this Act." Section 43 of Act II of 1866, which is the corresponding provision in the Suburban Police Act, reads thus—"Any police officer may arrest without a warrant any person committing in his view any offence against this Act, if the name and address of such person be unknown to such police officer and cannot be ascertained by him." The Council will thus see that there is an important safeguard existing in the Suburban Police Act, limiting to some extent—and, I believe to a desirable extent—the power of arrest given to police officers, which does not exist in the Calcutta Police Act, and I am sure the Council will agree with me that it is desirable in a matter like this that there should not be one law on this side of Circular Road and a different law on the other side of it. This view has already been fully accepted, both by the Council and by the Select Committee, with regard to another provision in the Bill. The desire to secure uniformity in matters of this description was indeed so great that the Council, to some extent, went out of its way, inasmuch as this Bill as it was introduced simply related to the amendment of the Calcutta Police Act, yet the reference to the Select Committee was extended on the suggestion of my hon. friend opposite (Moulvie Abdul Jubbar) so as to embrace the amendment of the Suburban Police Act also, and make the law in the Suburbs similar to the law as it was proposed to be amended in Calcutta. I hope this will be sufficient to induce the Council to accept my amendment. But if it is necessary for me to go further, I venture to submit that, independently of reasons derived from a desire for uniformity, and independently of the weight to be attached to this amendment from the fact of these words being already in the Suburban Police Act, discussing the amendment purely on its merits, I think it will be considered desirable to safeguard, I won't say the arbitrary, but certainly the very extensive, powers of arrest possessed by a common police constable in the streets of Calcutta by some such provision as I have embodied in my amendment. I would ask the hon. members for a moment to consider what is the object of section 72 of the Act. I think they will have no hesitation in agreeing with me that the person who is rightly, or it may be wrongly, supposed in the streets of Calcutta to have committed an offence against the provisions of the Act, and they are all petty offences, punishable mostly with fines, should be needlessly subjected to the indignity of being arrested and taken to a police station, and there kept in the lock-up or discharged at the discretion of the officer in charge; but that the real object is to secure that the person who is supposed to have committed an offence should be found when proceedings are taken before the Magistrate. That being so, I submit that a safeguard such as I have proposed is open to no objection, but on the other hand very necessary and desirable. To give an illustration or two of my meaning. Suppose the Hon. Mover of the Bill were to return home after dark from a meeting of the Municipal Commissioners in the Town Hall, and his coachman had forgotten to provide himself with lamps under this Act as it has been drafted, the hon. member would be liable to be arrested and taken to a police station. I do not believe for a moment that this would happen in the case of the hon. member; but if a police officer were to exercise the power of arrest vested in him by the Act, he would be strictly within his legal right. I might easily suppose various offences of this kind in respect of which, if only a constable choose to do so, he would be acting within his legal power in subjecting respectable members of the community to the indignity of arrest. I fancy the reason why there has not been an outcry in respect of this matter is because the police have not availed themselves more largely than they have of this power. I am aware of a case in which a lady, whose husband is a well-known gentleman, was taken in her carriage to a police station simply because her coachman had not provided himself with a light. I may just mention that I am not responsible for the exact wording of the amendment. I am not sure that the words of the amendment are the very best in which the idea could be embodied, but I thought the safest and the most respectful course was to adopt the language which had already received the sanction of the Legislature in section 43 of the Suburban Police Act, rather than to accept the responsibility of expressing it in my own language. I mention this because it has been suggested to me by a very high authority on the subject, namely, the hon. member who is at the head of the police in Calcutta, that it would be better to leave out the words "and cannot be ascertained by him," as the retention of those words might imply that the police officer would be bound to go up and down the town in order to ascertain the name and address of the person whom he had arrested. But I do not understand the words of the Suburban Police Act in that sense, nor, so far as I am aware, have they ever been interpreted in that sense. I understand they mean "and cannot be ascertained by him" then and there, and that the result of such enquiry must be accepted. If the Council think any slight modification desirable, so as to prevent the words of the amendment being interpreted in any other way, I shall have no objection to adopt it, but it seems very necessary and very desirable that a clause of this kind should be inserted in order, legally and under the sanction of the Legislature, to prevent the possibility of the power of arrest being abused. I would suggest that perhaps the addition of the words "at the time" would obviate the possibility of an interpretation of the kind to which I have already referred. With these words, I would beg to recommend the acceptance of my amendment by the Council."

The HON. MOULVIE ABDUL JUBBAR said:—"I second the proposal of the hon. member. I don't think it is necessary to arrest gentlemen who are known to a police officer, or whose address may be ascertained. Besides, all anomalies between the Suburban and the Calcutta Acts ought to be removed, and this is one of the anomalies which at present exists."

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said:—"I think I must leave it to my hon. friend Mr. Harrison to say whether he, as head of the police in Calcutta, is prepared to accept the amendment proposed by the hon. member. It is an amendment which does not seem to me to be very desirable, and there is one consideration which I should like to put before the Hon. Mover of the amendment and the Council. The hon. member has justly remarked that the Calcutta and Suburban Police Acts deal with similar subjects, are drawn on similar lines, and were passed in the same session of the Council. But I have to observe that the Suburban Police Act was passed before the other Act, and I think that when we find that where in one Act one form of words was adopted, and that the Legislature very shortly afterwards, when dealing with a parallel subject, adopted a different form of words, we must suppose that they had some good reason for doing so. I have looked through the discussions of the Council, and I have found nothing to indicate why the change was made. But I think we are justified in assuming that the alteration was not made without some sufficient ground. I think that in a Bill of this kind, which is directed to the amendment of a particular section of an Act, which has been shown in practice to work imperfectly, and to require correction in dealing with such a section, it is undesirable to raise the abstract question of assimilating the procedure of the two Acts in respect of an entirely different matter in which the law, as it stands, has not been found in practice to be the subject of complaint, or the cause of any oppression."

The HON. MR. HARRISON said:—As far as I am concerned, I do not think there is any objection to the spirit of the amendment. For, as a matter of fact, departmental orders have been issued to the police in Calcutta to the effect that they are not to arrest for minor offences of this kind persons who are known to them. And the very fact that the amendment was moved, not on the ground of practical inconvenience which has drawn public attention to the hardship of the present section, but on the ground of verifying the two Acts is, I think, sufficient to show that, so far as practical experience goes, there is nothing to necessitate an amendment of the section, as possibly there would be if the police had abused their powers. My objection goes entirely to the last words of the amendment, "and cannot be ascertained by him" As the hon. member pointed out, these words may be so interpreted as greatly to embarrass the police in the execution of their duty. I would like to leave out those words altogether, because even with the proposed addition of the words "at the time" they are still vague and embarrassing. For what steps must a police officer be obliged to take at the time? Suppose a person said—"I live quarter of a mile off, and if you come with me you will find that the address which I have given you is a correct one. Is the police bound to leave his beat and go to the address named? I have been very careful to enquire, and I could not find one single instance where there had been complaint, though the hon. member mentioned one instance of a lady being taken to the thana. Still further, practically, there is no difference in procedure between the suburbs and the town. The same police force virtually exists in both Calcutta and the Suburbs, the same officers are at the head of the police, the Inspectors of the one force are frequently transferred to the other, as also the minor officers, although perhaps to a less extent. Can it be said that the words to which I have referred improve the section? On the contrary, they leave room for considerable misunderstanding; and evidently there is great difference between the moral effect of a section which exists in the Suburban Act, but has attracted no notice, and the same section when formally introduced into the town and attention to it thus drawn. Probably no long time would elapse before we should have complaints as to whether the police was justified in arresting a person on the spot. The police of the town are only a limited number, there being something like 170 beats in the whole town during the day-time, and if constables were taken off their beats to make enquiries regarding addresses, the beat will be left without any constable; therefore, for the efficiency of the force, it was extremely desirable that they should be in a position to act promptly, and not be required to make any enquiries. In the English Acts the general rule is that the offender is taken to the police station, unless he is known to the arresting officer.

In that country there is nothing which puts on the police the burden of ascertaining the name and address of the person arrested, if not known. So far as argument for uniformity goes, I would refer to the general Mofussil Police Act, V of 1861, section 34, which provides that any police officer may take into custody without a warrant any person who, within his view, commits certain offences. Consequently at present, in the Police Act of the mofussil that power is given. At the same time, I wish it to be understood that I do not raise any objection to the provision being inserted in the law, provided the wording is so safeguarded that the police cannot be held liable to institute particular enquiries before arresting persons committing offences of the kind under discussion, whose names and addresses are not known to them."

4. There is no evidence of strong drink having been made a source of revenue in early Hindoo times, but taxes on spirituous liquors were certainly collected under the Mogul Emperors, and it appears probable that the system then in force was one of unrestricted outstills. The question of excise was pressed on the attention of the Government at an early period of the British administration of these provinces. In 1790 the abkari sayer was resumed, and by the abkari regulations of the following year, a tax was levied on every license granted both to distillers and vendors of spirituous liquors. Additions were made to the law in 1793 and 1800, but no material alterations were introduced; and the arrangements made in 1791 continued in force until 1813. The system was one of outstills of a limited size, paying a daily tax, which was fixed according to the size of the town or village in which the still was situated. By Regulation X of 1813, sudder distilleries were for the first time established, and at the same time provision was made for farming outstills which supplied tracts not supplied by the sudder distilleries. The attempt to work these two systems in conjunction with each other proved unsuccessful, and in 1816 sudder distilleries were closed in all but five districts. Regulation VII of 1824 made it lawful for the Board of Revenue to extend the farming system, and in a short time the whole province was let in farm. The result was an increase of revenue for the first year, followed by a rapid decline, and this led to the appointment, in 1840, of a Commissioner of Abkari to supervise excise administration in the districts near Calcutta, and to consider the question of improving the management of the department. In a few years outstills had replaced farms in all the districts of the new abkari division. A second division was formed in 1844, and the outstill system was extended. The special appointments of Excise Commissioners were abolished in 1852 and 1854, and thenceforward the revenue was administered by Collectors under the supervision of Commissioners of Revenue Divisions. No change, however, was at first made in the system of administration, further than that the last vestiges of farms gradually disappeared. In 1863, however, it was decided that, in order to levy a uniform rate of duty on all spirit, outstills should be gradually abolished, and the sudder distillery system introduced throughout the province. As these orders were carried out, it was found that illicit distillation largely increased, especially in outlying and thickly populated tracts, and in 1871 the previous orders were so far modified that a few stills were allowed in such places. Thenceforth there was a constant tendency towards increase in the number of outstills and decrease in the number of sudder distilleries, the former rising from 288 in 1870-71 to 862 in 1877-78; the latter falling from 257 to 211 in the same period. In 1877 it was finally resolved to extend the outstill system to the outlying thanas of all districts, fixing sudder distilleries only at central and populous places. The immediate result of these orders was an increase in the number of outstills from 862 to 3,911, and a reduction of sudder distilleries from 211 to 91. It was subsequently found impossible to prevent the introduction of outstill liquor into the areas supplied by sudder distilleries, and by 1880-81 only 22 distilleries were left, in Hooghly, Calcutta, the Sonthal Pergunnahs, the Orissa districts and Hazaribagh, while the number of outstills had increased to 5,657. The evil of this rapid multiplication of the number of outstills was recognized, and measures were taken to confine the number to the real wants of each district, with the result that by 1884-85 the total was 3,747 or nearly 2,000 less than in 1880-81.

5. It will thus be seen that the Excise Commission, in commencing their enquiries in 1883, found an exclusive system of outstills in existence in all but a few districts where sudder distilleries were preserved. Under this system the license-holder pays a certain fee, the amount of which is commonly settled by auction, for the right to distil and sell liquor in a certain fixed place. He is allowed to work only one still, and is forbidden to distil at night, or to sell wholesale quantities; sales after 9 P.M., or in any other place but the shop for which the license is granted, are also prohibited; but no restrictions are placed either on the quantity to be distilled, or on the quality of the liquor. Under former rules, the capacity of the still was always defined; but in 1878 the rule prescribing a limit of capacity was abrogated under orders of the Board of Revenue, and since then the holder of an outstill license has been permitted to increase the size of his still at discretion.

6. Under this system the revenue has rapidly increased, rising from Rs. 28,90,460 in 1877-78 to Rs. 52,22,731 in 1883-84. Financially, therefore, the scheme must be pronounced a success; but the Commission's enquiries have led them to the belief that, even from this point of view, the system would not in the long run prove so lucrative as it at first sight appears, owing to the tendency observable in large towns and also in some districts towards the creation of monopolies by wealthy licensees, and the consequent development of farms such as had already proved fatal to the excise revenue.

7. The most important question, however, is that of increased consumption, and if it is proved that the present system has offered undue encouragement to the drinking of spirits, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that financial reasons cannot be allowed to stand in the way of the needed reforms. On this point the Commission accumulated a large mass of evidence, and made an attempt to estimate both the number of drinkers in various tracts at the present time, and the comparative outturn of country liquor under the sudder distillery system and the outstill system respectively. The materials for accurate estimates were not available under either of these heads, and the Commission themselves admit that the results arrived at by them have no approximation to perfect accuracy, and possess a relative value only. It would not be safe to make any general deductions from figures about which so much uncertainty exists; but the Lieutenant-Governor is able to accept in full the conclusion of the Commission, based on the facts ascertained by them in the course of their enquiry, and from the complaints which have reached him from various sources, that the consumption of country spirit has largely increased.

8. The special object of the appointment of the Commission was to ascertain the causes of this increase, and to suggest means by which they might be removed; and their enquiries were directed mainly to these points. In their opinion the primary cause of the growth of the habit of drinking among the people is the influence of social, moral, religious changes in relaxing the restrictions which had previously kept large classes from indulging in spirituous liquors; but there have been other minor causes without which consumption could not have developed as it is seen to have done. Increase in the purchasing power of the consuming classes is assigned as a reason for some portion of the increased consumption; but the greater part of it must be otherwise accounted for, and the Commission enumerate the following causes :—

(1) The suspension in 1878 of the long-established rule limiting the capacity of stills, thus enabling the distillers to produce from their large stills greatly increased quantities of liquor at greatly reduced prices.

(2) The excessive number of shops that have been licensed, total population and area having alone been considered, although the proportion of the consuming population to the total population varies greatly in different districts.

(3) Improper selection of sites for shops.

9. The recommendations which the Commissioners make for removing these causes of increased consumption, and for remedying minor evils incidental to the present system, may be summarised as follows :—

(1) Central distilleries should be re-established in all large towns at the head-quarters of districts in which there is a great demand for country spirit.

(2) In other towns the stills should be grouped within one enclosure outside the inhabited parts of the town, and care should be exercised in the selection of the retail shops within the town supplied by these stills.

(3) In each district a maximum aggregate capacity for all outstills should be fixed, and the number of outstills and size of each still should be determined with reference to the maximum aggregate. All stills holding more than 10 seers should be of metal, and should be registered and stamped by the Excise authorities. The upset price of each still should be proportionate to its capacity, and should be calculated on the basis of the duty (at a rate fixed by Government), which could be levied on its outturn at a given strength.

The HON. MR. ANUNDO MOHUN BOSE said.—"Practically, I understand there exists considerable agreement between the hon. member opposite (Mr. Harrison) and myself. But there are certain arguments which have been pressed by him against the adoption of the amendment. One argument was to this effect, that no practical inconvenience has been experienced owing to the difference of language at present existing in the corresponding sections of the Calcutta and Suburban Police Acts. I have already referred to one instance, and I may privately give the name of the gentleman, who is well-known to the hon member, whose wife was subjected to the indignity of being taken to the police station when the slightest enquiry would have satisfied the police officer that there was no necessity to take a step of that kind. I am aware that, under departmental rules, this large power given by law is attempted to be practically curtailed, but in spite of that abuses of this kind do occur; and in the second place, I would urge that the Legislature ought, by its own action and under its own authority, to remove any defective wording found in its Acts, instead of leaving the remedy to be provided by departmental orders. Then, reference has been made to the fact that the number of the police being limited, if we take the police officer from his beat to make such enquiries, the beat will be left without a constable. I submit that the words "and cannot be ascertained by him at the time" would be sufficient to prevent the inconvenience just referred to, because the constable would only have then and there to ascertain who the person is whom he had arrested. And we have the opinion of the highest legal authority to assure us that no other interpretation would attach to the words, and I have only to repeat that if these words are omitted, the police officer has simply to say "I don't know you," and the object of the amendment would be defeated, and there are many police officers to whom even your Honor is not perhaps personally known. Under these circumstances, I submit that the amendment, with the addition of the words "at the time" will be enough to meet the requirements of the case, and at the same time to prevent the possibility of any practical inconvenience in the working of the department. This Bill gives to the police extensive powers of arrest. As reference had been made to the mofussil, I may point out that, under the Penal Code, if a man were to forge a valuable security, an offence punishable with transportation for life, even in such a case a police officer cannot arrest the offender, but he would have to take out a warrant from the Magistrate for that purpose. The Legislature thought it necessary to protect the liberty of persons enjoyed by the subject in that way. Under these circumstances, I submit that the power of arrest ought to be safeguarded and restricted in the way I propose.

The section, with the addition of the words "then and there," was then agreed to.

The HON. MR. GARRETT presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Watchmen.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the "Bengal Vaccination Act, V of 1880," and gave notice that he would move that it be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill at the next Meeting of the Council.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS moved that the Hon. Messrs. Harrison and Cruickshank be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to amend Bengal Act III of 1879 (Steam-Boilers and Prime-Movers).

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 27th March 1886.

EXCISE COMMISSION.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—EXCISE.

Calcutta, the 10th March 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Commission appointed by the Government of Bengal to enquire into the excise of country spirit in Bengal.

For the last few years there have been clear indications of a serious increase in the consumption of spirituous liquors among the people of this province; and as there appeared to be reason to believe that this increase was to some extent due either to the outstill system of excise, or to the manner in which that system had been worked, the Lieutenant-Governor, in a Resolution dated 4th December 1883, appointed a Special Commission to consider and report upon the subject of the excise on country spirits in all its aspects, after careful local enquiry. The Commission was constituted as follows:—

Mr. J. Ware Edgar, C.S.I. ...	...	President.
Baboo Krishna Bihari Sen, M.A. ...	...	Members.
Mr. H. R. Reily	...
Baboo Obhoy Chunder Dass ...	...	Member and Secretary.

They were directed to visit every district in the Patna and Bhagulpore Divisions, and selected districts in the Chota Nagpore, Burdwan and Presidency Divisions, and to record as fully as possible all their proceedings, and all evidence given before them by persons experienced and interested in the subject of enquiry.

2. The Commission began their labours at Bankipore on the 10th December 1883, and were occupied continuously from that day until the 10th April 1884 in examining witnesses, inspecting outstills, and conducting experiments in distillation in different districts. The following districts were visited: Shahabad, Patna, Gya, Sarun, Mozufferpore, Chumparun, Durbhunga, Bhagulpore, Monghyr, Sonthal Pergunnahs, Purneah, Maldah, Hazaribagh, Lohardugga, Manbhoom, Beerbhoom, Bankoora, Burdwan, Hooghly with Howrah, the 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Jessore, Rajshahye, Dacca, Furreedpore, and Darjeeling. Two hundred and sixteen outstills and nine central distilleries were inspected, and three hundred and twenty witnesses examined, either orally or by written questions. Many practical experiments were also made by the members of the Commission in various methods of distillation, and these were supplemented by a valuable series of analyses undertaken by Dr. Warden, the Chemical Examiner to Government, and by experiments in manufacture conducted by the Collector of Calcutta at the Kidderpore distillery.

The Commission submitted their report on the 10th September 1884, and the Lieutenant-Governor, having since obtained the views of the Board of Revenue, Divisional and District Officers, and many local bodies and private persons on the suggestions made by the Commission, is now in a position to decide how far it is incumbent on the Government to introduce modifications in the present system of excise, with a view to the diminution of evils that have been ascertained to exist.

3. Before proceeding to a consideration of the conclusions to which the Commission were led by their enquiries, it may be useful to pass briefly in review the history of the excise of country spirit in Bengal, and to state clearly what that system is upon which the Commission were deputed to report. It is, the Lieutenant-Governor believes, an idea commonly accepted by many who have not studied the subject that the outstill system is a novelty; that it had never been tried before; and that, until the present form of the system was introduced, there had never been any change from the central distillery arrangements which had immediately preceded it. But the outstill system is in reality the older of the two, and its re-introduction is a return to the form in which country spirit was first taxed in this country.

(4) The aggregate capacity of the fermenting vats allowed to each still should also be fixed.

(5) A minimum price should be fixed for the cheapest sort of liquor according to the circumstances of each district, and the prices now prevailing. On this subject Mr. Reily dissented from his colleagues.

(6) Excise establishments should be reconstituted on a more liberal scale.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor has already accepted the first of these suggestions, and the conclusions on which it is based. The sudder distillery system failed because it was at first applied indiscriminately to all parts of the country, irrespective of means of supervision; and no better success was obtained when outstills were introduced into outlying parts of districts, because no precautions were taken to prevent outstill liquor from finding its way into the tracts that ought to have been supplied by the central distilleries. Sir Rivers Thompson agrees with the Commission that an outstill system, properly regulated, is the most suitable for the country in general; but where special means of close supervision exist, and a large drinking population is found in a small and well-defined area, central distilleries, in which alone a uniform tax can be levied on spirit according to its strength, should be established. It has therefore been decided to place such distilleries at Patna, Gya, Arrah, Chuprah, Bettiah, Mozufferpore Durbhunga, Monghyr with Jamalpore, Bhagulpore, Moorshedabad with Berhampore, Burdwan and Dacca; and some of these have already been opened and have been at work throughout the current year.

11. The second suggestion deals with a matter rather of Municipal than Excise administration; and the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider that any general rule need be laid down. But he entirely approves the principle that the views of Municipal Commissioners and other local bodies should be ascertained before sites for shops are selected in their towns, and wherever unobjectionable sites for outstills cannot be found within the town, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to see the adoption of the system of grouping outstills outside the boundaries for the supply of retail shops at carefully selected places in the town. The essence of the proposal is that outstills should not be placed where they are likely to be objected to as nuisances: and where no objections are preferred, no change need be made.

12. It will be useless, however, to re-establish central distilleries if proper safeguards are not provided against the competition of surrounding outstills; and this leads to the consideration of the third recommendation made by the Commission, that the capacity of each still should be limited to the existing demand for liquor in the area to be supplied by it, and that the upset price of each still should be proportionate to that capacity, and calculated on the basis of the duty which could be levied by Government on its outturn at a given strength. So long as outstills are allowed to continue to supply unlimited quantities of cheap liquor, it will be impossible for the sudder distilleries to compete with them, and the Lieutenant-Governor has little doubt that it was the absence of any limitation of capacity that frustrated the attempt made to combine the two systems in 1877-78. In this matter, however, the Lieutenant-Governor recognises the necessity of proceeding with caution. The old rule of limitation, abolished in 1878, was a failure, because it was a hard-and-fast rule, limiting all stills to one capacity, regardless of the demand for liquor in the tract supplied by them. The proper limit to be fixed in each district can only be ascertained by detailed local enquiry as to the extent of the demand for liquor and the daily average number of distillations. In fixing the upset price, too, considerable difficulty is anticipated by the Board of Revenue, and the Lieutenant-Governor is not prepared to accept in full the suggestions made by the Commission without further enquiry and consultation. The Board of Revenue have therefore been requested to make a full experimental trial of the system recommended by the Commission in the district of Patna, and in all other districts where central distilleries have been established, to fix a certain area in the neighbourhood of such distilleries within which no outstills will be allowed, and a somewhat larger area within which the capacity of outstills will be limited. The working of these changes will be carefully watched, and their results will show the practicability or otherwise of introducing any general rule of limitation throughout the province.

13. The proposal to restrict the capacity of fermenting vats is subsidiary to that for the limitation of stills, and the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Excise Commission and the Board of Revenue in thinking that no general rule on the subject can yet be laid down. Careful experiments and special enquiries are being undertaken by a very competent excise officer under the direction of the Board with a view to ascertaining the possibility of adopting and enforcing any rule on this point, and the Lieutenant-Governor will reserve further orders until the results of these investigations are known.

14. The question of fixing a minimum price for the cheapest kind of liquor has been discussed at some length, and the proposal of the majority of the Commission has undergone much hostile criticism. It may be admitted that no hope could be entertained of any such rule being absolutely and without exception adhered to, and any attempt to insist on a very rigid observance of it would only lead to undue harassment both of vendors and their customers. But, as the Lieutenant-Governor understands these suggestions, its object would be sufficiently attained by making any general and open infraction of the rule impossible, and this would probably be secured by the competition of retailers. It would be their common interest to keep up prices: any systematic attempt to under-sell on the part of one retailer would be jealously watched by the others, and in such a case the Revenue authorities would interfere. The two principal objects of the proposed rule appear to be—first, to break down the growing tendency towards the establishment of monopolies caused by wealthy capitalists being able to force down prices until they drive poorer rivals out of the trade; and secondly, by thus raising average prices and restricting consumption, to encourage the production of a more wholesome liquor. Both these objects are laudable in themselves, and the fact that the rule now proposed has been adopted in Assam, and has for a long time been in force in Madras, would seem to show that it is not altogether unworkable. The Lieutenant-Governor has therefore decided to combine a trial of this rule with the tentative limitation of still capacity in the district of Patna; and he thinks that the experiment might, with advantage, be extended to Chota Nagpore. The Board of Revenue have therefore been requested to take measures to carry these orders into effect.

15. The last of the main proposals made by the Commission is that Excise establishments shall be increased. The Lieutenant-Governor has already accepted their views on this point, and the excise staff has been strengthened in several of the most important districts. The question of any further increases in the event of wider reforms is still under the consideration of the Board of Revenue, and final orders on this point will for the present be deferred.

16. Of the Commission's recommendations in minor matters of detail, it will be sufficient to enumerate some of the more important. The number of shops should be reduced, and fixed with reference to the number of actual consumers; greater care should be exercised in the selection of sites for shops; all shops should be closed at night-fall; and the supply of liquor to children under 12 years of age should be prohibited under heavy penalties. These suggestions are all accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and will be at once enforced; but great care on the part of local officers will be necessary to make approximate estimates of the demand for liquor in each tract, and to avoid the risk of illicit distillation which a too hasty reduction in the present number of licenses would certainly encourage.

17. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his acknowledgment of the excellent work done by the Commission. From the time of their appointment until the date on which they brought their labours to a close, they were incessantly occupied in practical enquiries and experiments of a most valuable nature. Nothing was taken for granted; every point was investigated with the most scrupulous fidelity and impartiality, and no conclusion was adopted without thoroughly sifting the evidence on which it was based. The result has been embodied in an admirably clear report, which, whatever may be the future systems of excise in this Province, must take its place as a standard work of reference, to which every one will turn who may desire information on the history of our excise revenue, or on indigenous methods of distillation and the results they yield. To Mr. J. Ware Edgar, on whom, as President, the principal duties of organization of the method of inquiry and embodiment of its results in the report necessarily devolved, an especial meed of praise is due; but the services of the other members of the Commission—Mr. Reily and Baboos Krishna Behari Sen and Obhoy Chandra Das—are equally commendable in their degree. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his thanks to the Commission, individually and collectively, for the manner in which they have discharged the duties entrusted to them.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

R. H. WILSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE EMBANKMENT REPORTS FOR 1884-85.

No. 538*I.*

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

IRRIGATION.

Dated Calcutta, the 23rd March 1886.

READ—

The embankment reports for 1884-85.

THE list of embankments appended gives the length of embankments in each district and division in Bengal in which are embankments the property of Government, and included in the D schedule of Act II (B.C.) of 1882, and also embankments maintained by Government at the cost of zemindars, some of the latter being maintained at a contract rate under section 63 of the Act, the amount of which is shown in the statement. The cost of maintenance of the tuccavee embankments under contract only is shown, this being the amount chargeable against the budget grant: for the remainder the exact cost of maintenance is recovered from those interested, and does not appear in the accounts. It may be stated here that the Midnapur tuccavee embankments were placed under the contract system before the present Act came into force, and although the whole of the zemindars have not accepted the contract terms, the cost for maintenance is included in the lump sum shown as payable, and is a charge against the budget grant.

2. The total length of D schedule or Government embankments in the province is 1,208 miles, of which one-half is in the district of Midnapur, and by far the greater proportion of the whole is in the Burdwan Division. Of the embankments maintained by Government, or tuccavee embankments, the greater proportion are in the Patna Division, though the length in the Burdwan Division nearly approaches it, and almost all these are in the Midnapur district. Most of the above are under the contract system.

3. The total expenditure on all embankments during the year was Rs. 3,16,299, of which Rs. 2,24,917 was on account of Government embankments and Rs. 91,382 for tuccavee, giving an average rate per mile of Rs. 186 and Rs. 190, respectively, for maintenance, including portions remodelled, and retired lines. These figures do not, however, agree with the Examiner's accounts, as charges for establishment, tools and plant, &c., are in some cases omitted, and other items for improvement of Government estates are included in the Examiner's accounts. This is, however, the first occasion on which any attempt has been made to bring the facts concerning embankments into a yearly report, and instructions have been issued which will enable in future the correct expenditure to be given. At present it appears that Rs. 200 per mile is an approximation to the average cost for maintenance.

4. Reports for the year were received by districts, being forwarded through the Commissioners and the Board of Revenue, but in some cases were received late. In the case of the Gunduck embankments in the Sone Circle, the Executive Engineer's reports are very well got up, and will serve as a permanent record, all particulars, with maps and flood diagrams of the rivers, having been included.

5. The embankments in the Orissa Division, which are maintained by Government under Act XXXII of 1855, are not included in the report.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,

Joint-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal,
